Through My Window

BLIZZARD! BLIZZARD! BLIZZARD!

Wow, what a Thursday! All day long my head turned and twisted, looking through first the south window then the west then the north. It was almost as though we were working on a swivel.

There was so much going on so much to see—oh, it was a tremendous storm.

From a warm comfortable bed looking out through three lovely windows. I am admittedly prejudiced but I find winter storms wildly exciting.

Thursday's storm was no ordinary soft gentle snow-fall, it was a full scale blizzard. A strong wind whipped through the trees and drove the snow first this way and then that.

By night the back screened-in porch, which faces north and has east and west side openings, was covered with snow and the bottom half of our big picture window which looks to the south was heavily plastered with the white stuff.

It was interesting to watch the intensity of the storm build —in the morning, although the wind was blowing hard, the snow was the fine beady kind, uncomfortable to be out in and not especially fun to watch.

After lunch the storm became so furious, winds, almost gale-like and much, much more snow, that often we could not see the houses and trees across the street.

IN THE afternoon, during the brief let-up when we could see a little farther, we noticed an interesting situation in the creek. The continuing cold had brought about a sudden change.

The lacy skims of ice which ornamented the edges were rapidly widening and the fast free-flowing current was becoming sluggish. Great globs of not-quite-frozen-solid slush floated by and then, as the effects of the low temperature continued, the flow of slush stopped and little ice-bergs appeared.

As the miniature bergs bobbed and twisted their way down stream, the three ducks were in back of Gertrude's having a wonderful time splashing and playing, dodging in and out among the chunks of ice.

THE SQUIRRELS monopolized the feeders all morning, sitting hunched-over, backs to the wind, they were so intent upon eating that the snow piled high on their backs and heads unnoticed.

When saying squirrels I do not mean to imply that we had more than one per feeder at anytime. It just happened that one squirrel would stay on the feeder and eat until another drove him off and so it went all morning long.

The birds were almost beside themselves, they flitted in and out of the wren-tree but, of course, with the feeders already occupied they would not venture down.

Finally the storm became too much for the squirrels; the howling winds drove them off but the brave little birds were not so easily dissuaded.

Thursday afternoon, except during the very worst of the blizzard, we had birds, birds, birds.

☆

THE PERT tufted titmice ate as though they might never have another chance; the cocky black-capped chick-a-dees whistled and frolicked thoroughly enjoying themselves; and prettiest of all were the beautiful red cardinals —flyer hasty streaks of scarlet red streaking through the fast falling big white flakes of snow.

Inside the main point of interest was a large spring-type bouquet. It stood in sharp contrast to the extreme winter-type weather outside. Pussy-willows and a few branches of white lilacs.

The pussies were big and fat and the lilacs delicate aroma filled the room—somehow, such inspiring reminders of what is to come lent just that much more excitement to the raging outside.

(Imagine having a home grown bouquet of pussy-willows and lilacs this time of year, isn't it wonderful to have green-thumbed friends?)

I am wondering what the weather is as you are reading this. Thursdays seem to be our storm days lately. Last week's storm was quite severe but for exciting looking, it couldn't compare with the one two weeks ago.

That truly was quite a storm and for me quite a day.

What Harms Dyes

By ROYAL WELCH

Dyes are, of course, subject to fading influences and hazards from many sources.

One of the most inescapable circumstances of life is heating in the home. Essential to food preparation and comfort, heat often has, unfortunately for our apparel, a harmful effect on dyes.

Whatever the source of flame, the resulting oxides of nitrogen which may affect dyestuffs, cause bleaching, discoloration, fading and even fabric damage.

One of the most often affected is blue or any dye color which contains blue.

The point is this.

Fading may occur on an entire garment, or just on an exposed portion of it.

The purplish or violet discoloration which results cannot be remedied. Frankly we don't know what to suggest.

You can, however, delay this fading — sometimes up to the time the garment is close to wearing out — BY KEEPING CLOSET DOORS CLOSED AT ALL TIMES. And, when buying, you might ask for the "fade resistant" fabrics which are much more resistant to fading.

And — for good cleaning and sound advice.

Chorale Going South

Renewed interest of the State Department in cultivating the understanding and friendship of our Latin American neighbors is being brought into the news by President Eisenhower's tour of South America this week.

This same "shift of attention" from Europe and Asia to our own hemisphere is drastically changing the summer plans of Dennis Bryan, a Tecumseh high school junior.

Last fall, Dennis, a member of the high school chorus, tried out, and was accepted as a member of the 1960 Michigan Chorale.

More than 300 outstanding junior and senior high school singers from southern and central Michigan tried out for this select group of 32 boys and 36 girls or a total of 68 voices.

Upon receiving his OK and with the start of rehearsals, Dennis is fully expected to tour Europe, as the singers have done for the past two summers.

☆

SOME WEEKS later, however, the director, Lester McCoy notified his group that a request had been made by the State Department that the group tour South America instead of Europe.

This was in order to use their music to win friendship and understanding in South America for the United States.

This has now become the plan and the itinerary has just recently been confirmed with concert dates already set in eight capitol cities.

The trip will proceed as follows: Bocota, Colombia; Quito, Ecuador; Lima, Peru; Santiago, Chile; Buenos Aires, Argentina; Montevideo, Uruguay; San Paulo, Brazil; Rio De Janeiro, Brazil; back to Lima, Peru.

☆

THE GROUP is traveling the entire six weeks, July 1 to Aug. 15, by a 100-passenger Jet Liner.

One departure from Jet Liner transportation will be a trip to the rugged "interior" country in buses furnished by Kaiser Aluminum Corp.

Due to the unusually high altitude of many of the cities visited the group will always have a free day on arrival at the new city to become acclimated, before singing a concert.

This means that Dennis may go sight-seeing more than Jackie Rucker or Sharon Muhn, the two previous Chorale members from Tecumseh, had in their tour of Europe.

SINCE THE Chorale members will be staying approximately four to six days in the homes of residents of the cities they visit, they are presently studying two hours of Spanish weekly, in addition to their weekly 2½ hours of singing rehearsal.

While it is summer here, it will be winter in South America, so warm clothes are needed.

Even though these high school students are doing an impressive job of creating good will through music, they still pay for all expenses.

This tour will cost Dennis $800. Of this, he still needs to raise $500.

In order to help as much as possible, Dennis is ready to work for it by singing for local groups.

Groups or individuals desiring further information may contact Les Bennett, either at the high school or at home, or, the Fred Bryan residence in Britton, at Britton 3135.

GOING SOUTH — Dennis Bryan, who plays football and basketball for Tecumseh High School, is going to South America this summer with the Michigan Chorale.

SINCE 1896 S&H GREEN STAMPS

Green Stamps help keep

MICHIGAN PRICES DOWN!

Like the ads of local merchants that you see in this newspaper, S&H Green Stamps boost business. At the same time they help keep prices down.

Here is why: When a store sells more, it can sell for less, since bigger volume brings lower costs.

Stores that use S&H Green Stamps must sell competitively. Michigan housewives are expert shoppers. They read the ads. They check and compare prices. And they can't be fooled!

Trading stamps are being saved today by two out of three American families—about 35 million in all. And their use is still growing in this and other States.

"IT TAKES VISION AND COURAGE TO CREATE"
by Owen D. Young (born 1874)

The large pharmaceutical firms who supply the medicines we dispense in your prescriptions spend up to 100% of their income on research. No sooner do they perfect a new drug to treat a particular ailment, then they immediately start to find a still better one to replace it.

It takes courage to invest such vast sums in reaserch. If no important discovery develops profits can vanish. Medicines that originally cost millions of research dollars to create, finally when perfected, cost only a few dollars per treatment.

VOICE of THE HERALD

The Coupons Were Flying

There were coupons galore in downtown Tecumseh last week. This was the Chamber of Commerce retail division's first promotion and the reports were all encouraging.

Folks seemed to like the idea and they clipped merrily away, then visited store after store to deposit the slips.

One storeman found it necessary to empty his coupon container three times into a large box before drawing time Saturday night. Another started with a modest-size receptacle, but soon had to graduate into one much larger.

The Bonus Days effort was first in the series of probably half-a-dozen town-wide sales events that will be taking place in 1960.

Of course, in addition to these will be the grand openings of our town's new Woolworth's and Don Martin's bonanza over his re-located and greatly enlarged Gambles store.

Forget the Wiggle, Elvis

Originator of rock 'n roll with a wiggle, Elvis collected his separation pay as an army sergeant a few days ago and walked out of the life of a soldier.

Frankly, everything which Elvis stood for in his pre-army days revolted us. His introduction to the world of what laughingly was called "music" started one of this nation's strangest fads. It led us into, among other things, the era of payola. Of course, we can't blame Elvis for this.

What we want to talk about here, rather, is on the positive side—Presley's service to his nation.

From all that we can gather he was a model GI, doing his job, staying out of trouble.

Being such an idol of young people, both here and abroad, all eyes were on every minute of his army life, both on and off duty.

If Elvis had stepped out of line for one moment, we certainly would have heard about it—and quick. There was nothing but good reports and for that Elvis should be commented.

His time in uniform brings to mind the reaction of several prominent entertainers, who found themselves tapped for duty during World War II—and their antics made more than one American sick to his stomach.

They created such a fuss, one might gather they were too precious to have to pitch in with 16 million fellow Americans in time of dire need.

Our hope now is that Elvis will take a new lease on life—an adult one. Sing, act, be a comedian, but forget the wiggle, Elvis.

MRS. ROBERT BONNER

What's Cookin'

Apricot Salad

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Mrs. Robert Bonner, 800 Rogers Hwy., is willing to share with Herald readers her recipe for a delicious molded apricot salad. All her friends tell us that it really is luscious.

The Bonners moved to Tecumseh in August of 1950 after their business the Ace Drill Corporation, moved to Adrian from Detroit.

They purchased their farm home from the Ford Motor Company and have completely remodeled it.

Mrs. Bonner is a member of the Methodist Church, the WSCS and is secretary of Missionary Personnel of the Ann Arbor District.

She is a member and past president of the Monday Club, member of the Eastern Star and the Garden Club.

She has always been interested in youth, having taught school in Garden City for a number of years.

Though she does not consider it a hobby, Mrs. Bonner spends more time with church activities than with any other outside interest.

Her hobbies are gardening, keeping scrap books, reading and traveling.

She says, "We like best to travel by car and explore out-of-the-way places. We are also members of the Theater Guild and attend eight to 10 plays each season in Detroit."

Here is the recipe:

APRICOT SALAD

1-12 oz. can apricot nectar
1 small can frozen orange juice
1 pkg. orange jello
¾ pkg. (large) cream cheese, softened with milk
½ cup chopped pecans

Heat apricot nectar just enough to dissolve jello. Add frozen orange juice to jello. Stir until dissolved. Pour layer of juice and jello into lightly oiled ring mold.

When this is set, add the cream cheese to which nuts have been added.

Put the rest of the jello mixture on the layer of cream cheese. Allow to set until firm. Garnish with any greens or other color.

Long & Short

By THOMAS O'RIORDAN

☆

Latest report comes from Mrs. Bill Osburn on Pocklington Rd., who spotted a covey of 10 last week.

"They looked beautiful against the snow," she said over the phone.

☆

There were a number of responces to the photo-class idea and so we'll set a date for the first session in another week or so.

Let's get the town's new businesses all settled with their grand openings and re-openings and then shutter bugs look out.

☆

☆

Leveling fines against its own members has always brought some of the loudest laughs at Rotary Club meetings in Tecumseh.

There have been some choice fine masters and not the least of this rare tribe of humorists is Carlos Jones, owner of Jones Sealing Service. (That's a plug and this writer feels it is deserving of an assessment to Mr. J.)

At last week's gathering, Carlos tapped tiny Tim Neil for $1. Reason: Tim's wife had just presented him with a third son.

Yale Kerby, Tecumseh's Toots Shor, bounded to his feet. "If this newest boy eats hamburgers at my place like his brothers, I'll pay that fine."

"That will be OK, Yale," Carlos said, then added with a grin, "And you are hereby fined $1 for advertising."

☆

As of last week, more than 5,100 area residents had been given the physical examination at the hospital in conjunction with the Community Health Study.

That's more than half way home in this phase of the project with the original goal of 8,500 being closed upon.

Several hundred folks will be added to this figure, a reflection of increased population in the area since the study started nearly three years ago.

A complete rundown on the recent flu epidemic in Tecumseh will be released next week by the survey statisticians, reports John Napier of the U. of M. school of public health.

☆

Being a Catholic myself, I have made sort of a vow not to discuss what is rapidly becoming a white hot topic of current events:

Should a Catholic be elected president.

Simply stated, I feel a man's religion has little to do with his election to our nation's highest office.

In reading an article on the subject in the current NEWSWEEK magazine, I was attracted by a statement by a leading mid-western Protestant clergyman.

He is Bishop Richard S. Emrich of the Episcopal Diocese of Detroit, a man I admire for the extremely poignant column he writes in The Detroit Times.

Of the Catholic-president topic, Bishop Emerich said:

"The only question worthy of debate is: Who is the best nominee for the highest office in the greatest nation on earth; who has the wisdom, courage, maturity, and character to lead and unite his people? If any person favors Sen. John Kennedy simply because he is a Catholic, he is precisely as narrow as one who opposes him solely for that reason."

Fellowship Meeting Is on Saturday

The Church of God fellowship meeting will be held Saturday at 4 p.m. in the Knight of Pythias Hall.

The Rev. Leland Davis, pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist Church, of Battle Creek will be the guest speaker.

Instrumental music will be included in the program.

Warehouse Sales Closes Its Door This Wednesday

Manager Bob Woller told The Herald that it was determined by the owner in Marshall, over the weekend, that Wednesday would be the final day of operation.

Merchandise will be returned to Marshall, where there is a similar establishment.

On Jan. 2, it opened a six-day operation with Mr. Woller as manager.

Two Represent Local Auxiliary

Mrs. Richard Coak and Mrs. Robert Fuller represented the Herrick Memorial Hospital Tuesday when the seventh annual workshop was held at the Wayne County Medical Society.

Chairman for City Selected

Fred Dickinson, Jr. has been named Tecumseh chairman for the coming drive to raise funds for the newly-formed Irish Hills Girl Scout Council.

He was appointed by Richard Goodrich of Hudson, chairman for Lenawee County.

Opening April 1, the effort aims at a goal of $50,000 for the two-county portion of the Council, Lenawee and Hillsdale.

The third county, Jackson, receives funds from the Jackson Community Chest.

Robert Ries is chairman of Ridgeway.

200 More Jobs

CLINTON — A 15,000-square-foot addition to the Clinton Engine Corp. plant here will be started shortly.

Creating about 200 new jobs, the expansion program was announced last week by president Karl W. Mueller.

Complete building of two-cycle gasoline engines will soon be handled in Clinton, moving this phase from the firm's Maquoketo, Iowa plant. Maquoketa will continue to build all four-cycle units.

Die cast operations for the company are located in Clinton and the new plan eliminates transportation of two-cycle parts, made here, to Iowa for final assembly.

Clinton Engines has made more than eight million gasoline engines, for use in the United States and 77 countries around the globe, since 1946.

At one time completely located in Clinton, the company some years ago moved a portion of its operation to Iowa, where up to 2,000 are now employed in peak building seasons.

Mauoketa is a community of 5,000 and the work force is drawn from a wide area, some employees coming from as far away as 30 to 40 miles.

This has created problems, Mr. Mueller admits, such as absenteeism, tardiness due to poor weather and a general high labor turnover.

Accelerated growth of America in the next decade could dictate a much greater potential for sales of Clinton engines, which "Could well result in the creation of additional manufacturing facilities in the forseeable future," the president said.

Mr. Mueller, who became chief executive of the firm last fall, is presently directing his key management team in a thorough study of plant facilities, tools and possible technological advances which could be applied at Clinton Engines.

The products are also being minutely examined to determine if they can be up-dated or streamlined, with an eye to greater sales appeal or faster production.

"In this connection," he stated, "A substantial and aggressive research and development program is being carried out."

CLINTON ENGINES PRESIDENT KARL W. MUELLER AND TWO-CYCLE ENGINE

Tuesday Target: Chicken

A band of 55 hungry vocalists will invade Tecumseh Tuesday night.

First stop: St. Peter's Episcopal Church Hall, where they will devour 85 pounds of home fried chicken and the usual trimmings.

From there, the young men will hustle over to the Strand Theatre and change from sweaters and ivy league trousers into white tie and tails.

It's the third annual appearance of the University of Michigan Men's Glee Club in Tecumseh, sponsored by the Jaycees, starting at 8:30 p.m.

Hopes for a full house of 600 should be realized this year, predicts Dr. Bob Murray, chairman of the event.

☆

THE GLEE CLUB is one of the world's most outstanding collegiate singing groups and last summer made a concert tour of England, Wales, Scotland, Belgium, France, the Netherlands, Germany, Denmark, Norway and Sweden.

Crowning moment of the trip took place within the first 48 hours after landing in England.

After a bumpy ten-hour bus ride to the tiny Welsh village of Llangollen, Wales, and four hours of sleep, the tired singers went on stage.

Competing with 18 choirs from 10 countries, the Michigan Club scored 271 out of a possible 300 points to carry off the coveted International Trophy and a purse of 100 pounds ($280).

In presenting the award, Dr. Sydney Northcote, internationally known choral adjudicator, described the Men's Glee Club as "a thoroughly competent choir, young, engaging, and adventurous."

Opening Store Is Experiment

Opening a Woolworth's store in a community the size of Tecumseh is something new for the company, John Day, manager here, told Rotary Tuesday evening.

It's the first one for the Cleveland zone and if the Tecumseh outlet meets success, similar branches will be considered for other Tecumseh-size towns in this district.

Tecumseh was chosen, Mr. Day explained, because of the good location for a store, excellent parking and high rate of individual earning.

He told the Rotarians that Woolworth's here will carry items valued up to $50.

Mr. Day talked about the firm, which has stores in several nations besides America.

Rotarians Tom Corkery gave a report about the care and feeding of Rota, the pigeon, awarded him for a less-than-perfect attendance record. Tom displayed no remorse when the club passed the bird along to Steve Illeck, who had missed several recent sessions.

Ralph Helzerman, Jr. was a student guest.

Jim Osburn Opens Adrian Car Lot

Jim Osburn, automobile salesman at the Schneider Bros. Garage for the past eight years, will strike out on his own this weekend when he opens a used car lot in Adrian.

"Jim Osburn's Sales" will open Friday at 3000 S. Main St. In what is known as automobile row in the nearby city.

Cal Zorn, city assessor, has reported that the state may increase state equalized evaluation by approximately 13¼%. Action if any, by the state is not expected until next month.

☆

SUPT. JAMES McDOWELL said Tuesday that a large increase in equalized evaluations could drop the mills needed by the schools from three to two.

Mr. Zorn reported another change in equalization evaluations is only in the talking stages, and if it occurs, will be statewide.

At the February board meeting, the city assessor reported that state equalization evaluations had been decreased in the city, dropping from approximately $25 million to $20 million, and costing the schools about $76,000 in tax revenue.

THE UNITED Savings Bank of Tecumseh purchased $100,000 in bonds on the 1960-61 tax anticipation at the rate of three and three-eighths percent interest.

The board also discussed problems in taking gasoline bids, curriculum, elementary grading card and other routine matters.

Citizens Express Delight with Proposed New Theatre

Here are some statements:

Mrs. Carleton Cook—"A wonderful idea! It would take a lot of work and need a lot of interested people, but would mean nothing but good things for Tecumseh.

"It wouldn't be just something to make money, but something to be proud of. Of course, I understand Minnesota is in line for this opportunity."

Mrs. Robert Murray—"It's a wonderful opportunity and would be something to keep the town working together.

Mrs. Leslie Bennett—"We (Mr. Bennett) both think it's a fine idea both for adults and for youth, to grow up in such an atmosphere. I think the letter sent by the Little Theater Group offering our possibilities and assets was a fine one.

"However more interest will be necessary before such a project could be carried out."

Tom Corkery—"It would be wonderful for Tecumseh, but competition seems to be keen. I wonder if we have a chance.

"I don't see how we are going to do it when the city can't get the $100,000 necessary for a parking lot.

"When the state can't pay for the schools how are they going to help build theaters?"

Mrs. Donald Cobb—"It's quite something. I would like to see Tecumseh recognized as a cultural center, as well as the world's largest producer of refrigerator compressors."

Mrs. Robert Bonner—"It would be a wonderful asset to the community. In my understanding it would be backed by an outside organization and we might not have much to do with it.

"We would like very much to see it here, but are rather hazy about it yet."

The idea discussed is one which would require a $1½ million theatre, featuring stage production with all-professional casts.

It would be patterned after the one in Stratford, Ontario, where the annual Shakespearian Festival does $500,000 box office business each summer.

Several cities in the United States have bid for consideration as the theatre site, including Tecumseh.

A decision will be made by April 1.

Gray Ladies Class

Mrs. Ted Golat announced Tuesday that a new class of Gray Ladies is being organized.

The first meeting will be held March 29.

Those who wish to register are asked to call Mrs. Golat 260-W or 471 by March 26.

Candidates Will Appear at Session

A meet-the-candidates gathering for Tecumseh area voters is being held in Products Union Hall Tuesday, March 29.

Sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club, with Merle Hoag as chairman, the session is to start at 8 p.m.

Open to the public, there will be no charge.

In addition to talks by men running for city council, there will also be explanations of school problems by Supt. James McDowell and views on the Community Fund Foundation by Vern Manwaring.

All will be willing to answer any questions posed by the audience.

Avenue of Flags

Four service clubs, Rotary, Jaycees, Exchange and Kiwanis, have approved a plan to make this possible.

They have voted collectively to purchase flag display material at a cost of $600 to be given to the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce with the understanding that it will display and maintain the flags.

The uniform display of Old Glory in the downtown district will be flags on staffs attached to the parking meters.

The service clubs plan to obtain funds for the Avenue of Flags by selling new, 50-star flags to the citizens of Tecumseh, beginning the latter part of April.

It is hoped that the display will be ready for Michigan Week.

Those working on the committee are:

Rotary—Cliff Knudson and High Walters

Kiwanis—Gene Tuckey and James Hoffman

Exchange—James Nixon and Jack Metcalf

Jaycees—Harry Brown and Marvin Nelson.

How to Protect Drapes, Curtains

By ROYAL WELCH

Drapes and curtains are, nowadays, a pretty expensive item in the average home. In some instances they're a downright major investment. As such they deserve all the protection you can give them.

MAJOR CAUSES OF DAMAGE AND DETERIORATION IN DRAPES AND CURTAINS ARE:

1. Sunburn — actually, oxidation. Weakens the fabric.
2. Smoke, gasses, fumes, grime and stains. (A principal cause of permanent stains is brushing against a sweaty window.)
3. Lack of frequent cleaning speeds deterioration.

To lengthen their life and prolong their beauty, do these four things:

1. Clean or wash your drapes and curtains often. This alone will go a long way toward increasing their life span.
2. Protect them from the direct rays of the sun as much as possible.
3. Keep them from brushing against sweaty windows.
4. Restore sizing to keep them more impervious to soiling.

And remember that once the fabric in your curtains or drapes has begun to deteriorate, it's too late for mere cleaning or washing to restore it.

So let us repeat once again: CLEAN DRAPES & CURTAINS OFTEN.

AND whether it's drapes or clothes, they'll both be cleaned better when you take them to Welch Cleaners.

CHURCH NEWS

+ 'Community' Will Be Word Discussed for Methodists

Concluding sermon in a series on "Words We Ought to Recapture" by the pastor of the Methodist Church will be heard this Sunday.

The word will be "community".

"This word is used frequently by all of us, but its special meaning for Christians should be understood and remembered," Mr. Nixon will say.

"It can and ought to refer to more than just the place we live".

Other events Sunday at the Methodist Church include Church School sessions at 9 and 11:15 a.m.

The Intermediate Methodist Youth Fellowship meeting at 5:30 p.m. will feature a panel discussion by Church School leaders.

The Senior MYF will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Leclka at 6 p.m.

The Lenten Service this week on Thursday features a sermon on the theme "We Would See Jesus." The speaker is the Rev. P. Ray Norton, pastor of the Methodist Church in Clinton.

Mr. Norton held pastorates in the Michigan and Detroit Conferences from 1907 until his retirement in 1953. Last June he accepted an appointment to his present pastorate in Clinton.

The Thursday Lenten speaker on March 24 will be the Rev. Allen Wittrup, associate minister at Birmingham's First Methodist Church. His theme will be "To Thine Own Self Be True".

Wednesday, March 23, is the monthly meeting night for Official Board and the six Commissions of the church. Commissions meet at 8 p.m. and will report to the Official Board in session at 9 p.m.

Mr. Nixon will be speaking at Lenten services this Wednesday evening at Munith and Sunday evening at Napoleon.

+ Church Women Hold Institute in Three Rivers

The United Church Women of Michigan will hold an Institute at the Church of God in Three Rivers, on April 5.

Reservations for the luncheon should be sent no later than April 2, to:

Margaret Thompson
126 N. Main St.
Three Rivers, Mich.

All church women are invited to attend.

+ People Overlook Human Nature of Jesus Christ

This Sunday's sermon at the Presbyterian Church is the second in a series on the Apostles' Creed. It will be concerned with the humanity of Jesus.

Today people emphasize the divinity of Jesus and often overlook the fact of his human nature.

The early church placed strong emphasis upon the physical nature of Jesus as indicated by the number of words devoted to him in the Apostles' Creed.

This Sunday's sermon will explore why the early church gave special attention and Christians of every generation should give sufficient attention to the physical aspect of Jesus' life.

+ Power of Faith

The power of Faith, raised to spiritual understanding, will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

FLOWERS ON HIS GRAVE

"See that old woman at the cemetery? Every year at this time she comes to put flowers on old man Packard's grave," said Sue.

"Yes," Sue explained, "you see, when she was young, with a house full of children, her husband died, and she was about to lose her home. Mr Packard loaned her the money to save the place."

"But not everyone would show their thankfulness like that," said Sally.

How right you are, Sally. Some people don't even show their thanks when someone dies for them. How do we know? Take yourself, for instance.

Jesus Christ died for you. What do you do to show that you are thankful? Don't we all forget about His love?

To help us remember, our church observes Lent, with special sermons and songs about the suffering and death of Christ.

It's one way of saying our thanks, and it's also a way of keeping close to God.

Why not worship with us at our next Lenten service?

All-American Family To Receive New Home

The All-American family of Tecumseh, sought by the Monday Club, will have the opportunity of winning an all-electric fiberglas insulated home built on any site desired.

This is the grand national prize to be awarded to the most outstanding family in the nation by the Westinghouse Electric Corp., Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp and Lark by Studebaker.

The family winning the second prize will receive an all-expense paid vacation to Florida for two weeks.

Other valuable prizes, including a Lark auto, will be awarded.

Mrs. Paul Hadsell and Mrs. Clifford Knudson are taking nominations from organizations and individuals in the search for the winning family from the Tecumseh area.

Much processing will have to be completed before the March 31 deadline, so those with favorite families to nominate are asked to call these chairmen as soon as possible.

SHIRLEY PALMER

Gal Bowler Slams Pins for 620

High game of the lot was 223.

Any kegler, woman or man, would be extremely proud to have tossed this string.

Shirley, who has been bowling only three years, is developing into one of the area's best.

She averages 155 in three league, competing in the Clinton Women's and women's House circuits, in addition to Twin City.

Shirley's best single game to date was a 257.

Mr. Durham, who drives for White Star Trucking, Inc., of Lincoln Park, has driven over 2,000,000 miles without a single chargeable accident — and half of this congested city driving . . . . Married, the father of one son — who is also a truck driver — Mr. Durham has driven trucks for 30 years. He and eleven other truck drivers who competed for the number one honor have spent a combined total of 245 years driving 13,893,000 miles with only one very minor chargeable accident . . . Editor Gets Commendation While 'Enjoying Vacation'

By TOM RIORDAN

News from Britton is a little thin this week—not because things haven't been happening there, but because your editor is on "vacation".

Mrs. Paul Rowlands, who is doing a bang-up reporting job for her hometown, was admitted to Herrick Memorial Hospital nearly two weeks ago.

She was run through a long series of tests and the conclusion her doctor came to was that her appendix should be removed.

Mrs. Rowlands underwent surgery Friday and is well on the way to recovery now.

Probably as painful to Mrs. Rowlands as the operation, is the fact, she has missed writing for this edition.

Her daughter, Suzie, who is a freshman at Britton-Macon High, partially filled in for her mother, but after all she does have to attend classes and do some studying.

So that's the reason the Britton page isn't brimming over with interesting stories this week. But Mrs. Rowlands will be back at it for the next one.

Right here is a good time to add a commendation for our Britton editor.

In newspapering for only several months—since joining The Herald staff—she has done remarkably well.

Say You Saw It in The Herald

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Rowlands:

Just thought I would write to let you know that I enjoy your page in the Tecumseh paper so much.

I lived there in Britton and I know all the people so it is quite interesting to hear from them.

I am sending this note with the Ten Commandments. Thought it would fit in some place.

Sincerly Yours,
Mrs. Edgar Brandow,
Sanford, Mich.

TEN COMMANDMENTS PLUS ONE

FOR TEENAGERS.

1. Stop and think before you drink.
2. Don't let your parents down — they brought you up.
3. Be humble enough to obey — you will be giving orders yourself some day.
4. At the first moment turn away from unclean thinking.
5. Don't show off when driving — if you want to race go to Indianapolis.
6. Choose a date who would make a good mate.
7. Go to church faithfully — the creator gives us a week Give him back an hour.
8. Avoid "following the crowd" — be an engine, not a caboose.
9. Choose your companions carefully you are what they are.
10. Or even better, keep the original Ten Commandments.

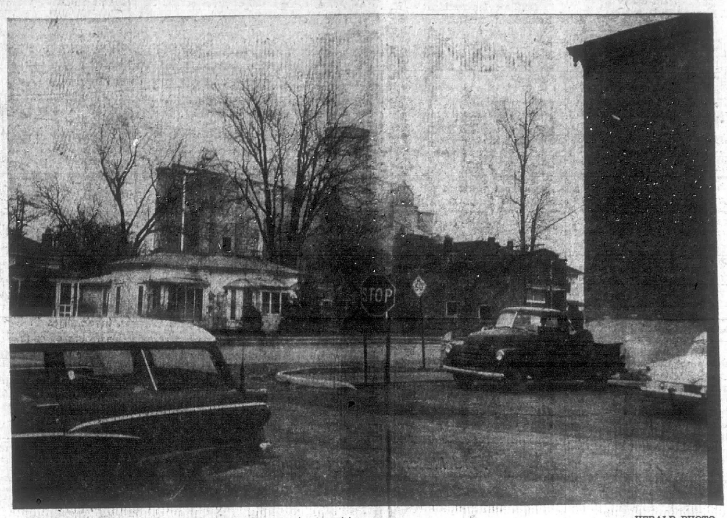
Fog Causes Bus Crackup

A school bus, driven by Doug Aylesworth of Tecumseh was struck by a car, driven by Janet Graham of Macon on Monday morning. The mishap took place at the unmarked intersection of Allen Rd. and Tecumseh-Macon Rd.

Due to the heavy fog, Miss Graham failed to see the school bus and swerved to the left. There was some damage to the auto. There were no injuries and no summons was issued.



ANCIENT FORTRESS—On a recent visit to Britton, the Herald photographer was driving towards the main street when he suddenly saw what seemed to him a unique picture. It was overcast and grey and in the background Walper's mill loomed like an ancient fortress through the mist.

Theme: She Cares, Do You?

BRITTON — The Golden Jubilee theme of the 50th birthday anniversary of the Camp Fire Organization is "She Cares-Do You?" for the week of March 20-26.

Britton Blue Birds, Camp Fire and Horizon girls are participating in various activities of the national projects such as tree census, tending the rock garden in the park for the past two years and the planting of various flowering trees.

A tulip tree dedicated to the late Superintendent Rudolph Koczman and his family was one of the number planted.

A Father-Daughter banquet on March 26 at 6:30 p.m. in the school is the big event of the year. The program will include colored slides of several events taken during the last 13 years.

On March 20 the girls will meet at the Britton-Methodist Church at 9:45 a.m. in uniform so that they may attend the worship service in a body.

Camp Fire was organized in Britton in 1916 with Mrs. Harry Downing as the first leader.

A ceremonial gown worn at that time by Gladys Swick, now Mrs. Earl Griffin, is being used in the window display in the downtown section of Britton. The gown is used at present by her granddaughter.

After three years the organization was dropped for a time and resumed in 1933 when the group grew to about 40 girls.

In 1947, Blue Bird activities were first introduced to the community and has grown until at present there are 42 blue birds, 41 Camp Fire, 16 Horizon girls, 18 leaders and 16 sponsors.

The business meeting will follow the program.

5 of 6 Races Won Monday by New Party

BRITTON — The newly-organized Progressive party swept six of seven races in this week's village election when more than 75% of the community's eligible voters cast ballots.

This marked the first time in five years that two parties submitted slates.

Only one Citizen's Party candidate, Mrs. Ronald Cheever, village treasurer, remained in office. She defeated Mrs. Helen Ousterhout, 62-56.

Pirl Robinson took assessor, defeating Carenna Becker, 85-51.

In voting for trustees:

All told, 143 voted Monday, nearly three-quarters of Britton's eligibles.

The officials will be sworn in at Monday's council session.

RICHARD NIXON by Earl Mazo. The author has covered hundreds of political campaigns, has traveled with Nixon in Africa, Europe and South America. He presents an inside view of the administration and of Nixon's relations with Eisenhower, Lyndon Johnson, Dulles, Christian Herber, John Kenendy, Nelson Rockefeller and many others. It shows his differences with the President; in an account of a unique political voyage. It attempts to indicate how Nixon would behave in the executive chair, and shows unrevealed aspects of Nixon's personality.

BELOVED INFIDEL by Sheilah Graham. From her intimate friendship with F. Scott Fitzgerald the author paints a portrait of him as creative artist, as teacher and confidant, and as an enormously charming but deeply tortured man. At the same time, Miss Graham traces her own fantastic career and tells an astonishing story of a beautiful woman in a world of men.

THE YEARS WITH ROSS by James Thurber. The chronicle in hilarious detail of the man who founded the New Yorker, was its editor from 1925 to 1951, and gave a whole new dimension to American art and letters. Here is Harold Ross as seen by his most intimate associates.

THE HAUNTED PALACE by Frances Winwar. In death as in his lifetime, Edgar Allan Poe has remained a figure of controversy, all but obscured by legend. The author unfolds the fascinating story of a man affiliated all his life by his own extreme sensitivity and the brutal shocks to which it was continually subject, and yet who poured forth a torrent of creativity in the midst of drunkenness and melancholia.

The dispensing of some medicines is limited to your Doctor's prescription — and for many reasons. Of these, your own safety is the most important.

Greater potency progressively makes medicines of greater value — and with some risk. Strength, dosage and use schedule must be carefully directed for your exacting need. Your Doctor must know the facts and prescribe the directions, as well as the medicine itself. The Wright Drug Store cares for every detail.

Debut of the Comet

Today, at your Mercury-Comet dealer's, first compact car with fine-car styling —priced with or below other compacts.

YOU'LL MARVEL AT THE ECONOMY. Comet's new simplified "six" engine delivers up to 28 miles per gallon of regular gas.

YOU'LL REVEL IN THE RIDE. No choppy steering, no bumpy traveling in Comet. The longer wheelbase (114" instead of 107" in average compacts) gives Comet a smoother ride, yet it turns on a dime.

COMPARE ALL THE COMPACT CARS—and you'll come away with a Comet. It's now at your Mercury-Comet dealer's.

FINEST COMPACT WAGONS ON THE MARKET. The new Comet wagons go far beyond what you might expect in a compact station wagon of this size. There is over 76 cubic feet for storage—as much room as in some wagons costing hundreds of dollars more; a retractable rear window takes the place of the old-fashioned liftgate. And, there is ample room for six adults with plenty of space left over for baggage. Along with the Comet two- and four-door sedans, there are two- and four-door-wagons as well.

Winter Oats Seeding Can Increase Yields

Early planting is a must to get top yields of oats or barley in Michigan, according to farm crops specialists at Michigan State University.

Seeding in March can double or even triple the yields obtained from May plantings, the specialists report. Planting either oats or barley after mid-April will probably mean lower yields in the average season.

The difficulty, crops men point out, is that thawing, spring rains and heavy soils may force one to wait until May before fitting the soil. By then, it's too late to expect good yields.

Where this is a problem, a late winter seeding may be justified. In tests at the Michigan State Experiment Station in 1957 and 1959, early barley seeding tripled the yields from May sowing.

Late February and March oat seedings yielded 20-40 bushels more than May plantings.

A late winter seeding works best where the field has been plowed. On a day when the ground has thawed about one inch, you can use a tractor and an ordinary grain drill.

Double seeding rates are usually necessary, so the farm crops men recommend three bushels of barley or four bushels of oats per acre. Regular amounts and analysis of fertilizer should be used.

Good seed coverage is the secret to a successful seeding, the specialists point out. Covering chains behind the drill are essential. In the MSU trials, an iron bar dragging behind the tractor smoothed over the wheel marks effectively and gave good coverage.

Close attention must be paid to the weather. There may be only a few days when the soil will thaw enough to provide a good seed bed while still holding up equipment on the surface.

The seeding can be made even with snow on the ground. However, the MSU specialists stress that seed must be covered with soil and not just snow.

Where planting of either grain has been a problem, farmers might try seeding some of their crop by this method. They might then compare results with those from conventional methods.

Through My Window

WE ARE SEEING RED THESE DAYS

This is not the article we intended to do, but quite frankly there has been so much cardinal excitement lately that it has been hard to concentrate on anything else. The red birds have been busy, busy, busy.

We waited a long time for them to come but certainly the wait was well worth-while. When the snows came—so did the cardinals.

Of course, cardinals are year round residents, they are with us 12 months of the year. When I said we waited for them to come, I referred to them coming close to the window, coming to the feeders to eat.

All winter we had seen them flitting through the trees—the distant view was not what we wanted however.

We wanted them close at hand. We knew that snow would bring them to the feeders on a regular basis.

Well the snow was late this year, and, as mentioned before, so were the cardinals.

☆

THE BIG red beauties are daily visitors now though and never I think have they been so wonderful. From early morning until late in the afternoon—and it's surprising just how late in the day they do feed—the cardinals chomp sunflower seeds just a short three feet from our window.

There are at least six birds, conveniently three pair, and what a delightful job they do of keeping my window picture streaked with red.

Did you know that the lovely lady cardinals have red eyebrows? Also that their wings and tail are streaked with scarlet too? One of our gals must, if the birds have nick-names among themselves, be called Red.

Her brows are much heavier and brighter than the others and she even had a suggestion of red on her top-not. Another female is recognizable because she lacks any such distinctive color marks.

BY HUMAN standards she would probably be the wall-flower type but, from yesterday's actions, cardinals think differently than we do. The whole bunch was busy; however, instead of going couple by couple, two males were paying particular attention to Miss Dull.

I think none of the birds have selected this year's mate but quite obviously, even though the temperatures are low and the ground is still covered with snow, they are beginning to think about Spring.

I may be wrong to attribute human characteristics to birds but often, either by appearance or action, they demand it. One of our male cardinals is the case in point. If ever the word vain is appropriate, it is he who deserves it.

Of course, he has every right to be proud of himself, he is a gorgeous thing. His breast is the brightest of brightest of reds imaginable. Knowing this where does he usually perch?

WELL, BELIEVE me, he always picks the most advantageous spot available. If the sun is shining and the sky blue, he will be sitting high in a tree, turned so that the sun falls full on him.

If a new snow has fallen, he will be on the ground looking oh-so-brilliant against the fresh whiteness. If there is neither blue sky or snow to show off against nor sunshine to bask in, little niches in evergreen trees do very well. Red against green, yes, it shows him off very nicely.

Needless to say we are keeping the feeders well stocked with sun-flower seeds these days. The cardinals love them and we in turn love the cardinals. Truly they are one of the great joys of winter bird-watching.

So it is that we are seeing red — and thoroughly enjoying every minute of it.

90 Students Participate in Exams

Ninety students at Tecumseh High School participated in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying test Tuesday according to John Pobuda, guidance counselor.

The test is a three-hour measure of educational development and college aptitude.

Emphasis is on board intellectual skills and on understanding and ability to use what can be learned, rather than on sheer knowledge of facts.

Results will be reported to the schools before the end of the spring semester for use by class advisors to help students to make decisions about college and the appropriate courses to major in.

Many students take the test to learn more about their individual strengths and weaknesses.

Merit scholarships of over a million dollars are awarded each year provided by some 100 corporations, foundations, societies and individuals in cooperation with the National Merit Scholarship Corporation itself.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Affects Emanate Throughtout Area

Clinton Engines, of our neighboring town to the north, has announced an expansion program, which will mean about 200 more folks being added to the work force there.

This is a happy report, not only for the community of Clinton, itself, but for the entire area.

Industrial growth and expansion of this nature has its latent affects upon a wide circle, emanating from the point of action.

Over and above the present plan, Clinton Engines officials are deep in a study of their operation, peering into the future and attempting to determine what the natural growth curve will be for their business in the Sixties.

So far, it would indicate a need for greater production capacities, more space and a bigger labor force.

Based merely on the greater population of our nation, it is indicated that most industries making consumer goods will enjoy steady growths.

The ones which will spurt ahead—as has been the case as long as there has been an American system of free enterprise—are the ones with the best product, top sales force and adequate production facilities.

New Problems, New Struggles, New Goals

In a community this size, when a new business opens up or an old one completely remodels that's big news.

You can imagine our excitement in being able to cover not one, not two, not three (as the barkers might ballyhoo it), but FOUR such events this month.

All four are bowing in with grand opening affairs next weekend. Listing them alphabetically, they are Auto Parts Co., Inc., Gambles, Osborne's Dept Store and Woolworth's.

The first and last are completely new to Tecumseh. The others are town veterans, which have just completed vast expansion and refurbishing job.

If ever a business barometer was sought to give us a peek into Tecumseh's future, this certainly is it. That doesn't mean we choose to look towards the Sixties through rose-colored glasses and blandly predict everything is going to a downhill ride.

Far from that. There will be new problems, new goals, new struggles—and hours of hard work with each.

Kiwanis Gets Credit on This One

Motto of Kiwanis International is "We Build."

The Tecumseh club is doing everything it can to follow this idea right down the line. The group's latest effort is an old-fashioned New England-type town hall gathering.

To be staged Tuesday, March 29, it will be in the Products Union Hall.

It will bring together, as featured guests, representatives of city government, schools and local community fund.

Primarily aimed at the coming local elections, the meeting will be highlighted by a series of questions from Mr. Average Citizen and answers by the political hopefuls.

The theme is, "Know your candidates, know the issues, know where they stand before you vote them into office."

School financial problems and board proposals will also come in for their share of attention and explanation.

It's going to be an interesting session and one well worth attending.

Kiwanis is to be congratulated for this effort.

Tipton Youth Booked Here

Gerald Karpo, 17 of Tipton, was arrested March 10, by the Tecumseh police and booked in the Tecumseh jail on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The Clinton state police post had obtained a warrant charging him with the theft of gasoline from a tank on the farm of Lamont Holmes of Tipton over the last month.

Karpo was arraigned before Justice Ernie Oliver and ordered to pay $25 fine and $4.90 court costs or spend 10 days in the county jail, on the delinquency charge. He is still awaiting arraingement on the gasoline theft.

This Week Could Open 'Golden Era' of Business

This is the BIG week for Tecumseh business.

There's more activities on the merchantile front than has been seen in many years here. It's the beginning of what could well become the Golden Era of Tecumseh as a standout, all-around shopping center.

Here's what makes the BIG week.

Holding grand openings in the completely refurbished and remodeled Martin Building are the Gambles store and the city's new Woolworth's. Between them, they have 15,200 square feet of first-floor area.

A few doors east is Osborne's Dept. Store, which has nearly doubled its sales area by taking over one-half of what was formerly Gambles.

Around the corner and north is another brand new business, a branch of Auto Parts Co., Inc. of Ann Arbor. Although primarily wholesale, it will also handle a certain amount of retail trade.

Auto-Parts purchased the former Seitz Plumbing building, gutted the interior and completely rebuilt it.

Another Chapter Officially Begins in Gambles Story

Another chapter in the history of Tecumseh's Gambles store officially begins Thursday with the grand opening of the business in its spacious new layout.

Moving into the remodeled Martin building, several doors west of the long-time Gambles location, the store now has 7,600-square-feet of space on its first floor.

In addition, there are 2,800-square-feet of storage in the basement.

This has enabled owners Mr. and Mrs. Don Martin to broaden every line, including houseware, sporting goods, plumbing supplies, appliances. There now is space for installing tires and batteries.

Accoustical tile on the ceiling helps to make Gambles a pleasant, quiet place to shop.

When the Martins first purchased the Gambles store in Tecumseh from Don Goddard in 1947, it was a single-front establishment, 70 feet long and 22 feet wide.

In 1952, the Martins built a 50-foot addition to the rear and in 1955 they rented the building adjacent to them, formerly offices and shop of The Tecumseh Herald.

☆

Mr. Martin attended the Business College of Tri-State University at Toledo and has been self-employed since he was 21.

The Martins are members of the Methodist Church.

They have two children, Don, Jr., who is stationed with the Marine Corps. at 29 Palms in California and is presently home on leave.

He has one more year to serve for Uncle Sam and then expects to return to Tecumseh and work with his parents in the store.

Daughter Janet is a senior at Eastern Michigan University majoring in elementary teaching. She helps in the store at holiday time and during summer vacation.

The Martins employ four-full time and two part-time salespeople.

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

There hasn't been a week like this one around The Herald since last fall when we published that 72-page edition honoring the Products' 25th birthday.

That task now seems tame by comparison, if memory serves me correctly.

At least we had much of the summer to run off the special sections and finished up with a mere 16 pages in the actual week it was issued.

But this one swooped down upon us like a praying eagle pouncing upon a hapless rabbit.

We knew it was coming, but there just wasn't any way of getting things together until seven days ago.

The task actually began last Wednesday, even as the final press run of the March 17 edition was humming through the press.

Toiling over his layout table, Jim Lincoln started fitting together some of the early ads.

From this point, everyone around the place seemed to be moving at a steady gallop.

My Thursday and Friday was spent mainly in photo-taking, as I snapped just under 100 shots in the new stores and of all employees.

After about six straight hours in the darkroom Friday, my eye balls seemed to twitch like a pair of dice in a GI crap game.

But it all seems to have come out OK (at least I'm hoping so as this is written Tuesday night).

☆

But honestly, it was fun being behind the scenes as four business places prepared for this weekend's festivities.

I could see they were having quite a time of it too, especially Woolworth's, which was moving in thousands of pieces of merchandise.

You'll find a wide variety of stories and pictures in this week's paper and some swell ads about the new businesses.

What impressed me a great deal was the way established merchants, in their paid space, wished well the newcomers and remodeled shop, even when they're in direct competition.

To me, this speaks volumes for the kind of folks Tecumseh has along its business row.

HIS DREAM CAME TRUE—Many months ago, Don Martin of Gambles dreamed of a much larger store for his own business here. The first step was a building and he obtained that from Charlie Butler, former Ford dealer here. Mr. Martin knew that he wouldn't need the entire floor space the structure offered, so working closely with realtor Glenn Kohler, he interested Woolworth's in coming to Tecumseh. He had the building renovated and refinished in the most modern and functional manner possible. This was a dream come true for one of Tecumseh's most aggressive merchants.

Clip Ribbon on Thursday at Woolworth's

Promptly at 9 a.m. Thursday, Mayor H. H. Hanna will take a long pair of shears and gingerly clip through a satiny, white ribbon adorned with a giant bow. The ribbon will be strung across the double front door at Tecumseh's new Woolworth's.

The newly-halved ends will gently dip to the sidewalk and the store will be officially opened.

From that point, the doors will swing wide and a large cluster of area folks will flood into the city's newest business. They'll be the vanguard of many thousands who will "shop Woolworth's" during its three-day grand opening — Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Assisting Mayor Hanna in the chore of ribbon cutting will be several top company executives, including S. W. Brogan of Cleveland, personnel director of the division. It's sort of a homecoming for Mr. Brogan, who was born a short distance from Tecumseh.

Opening of the store here marks a first for the giant international variety store chain. It's the initial outlet in a community the size of Tecumseh.

If the local store prospers, others may be opened in more than 100 other Tecumseh-size towns in the Cleveland district.

Related stories and pictures of all Woolworth employees here appear on inside pages of this week's edition.

Voters Grill Candidates

A giant, non-partisan political meeting is expected to attract about 500 area voters Tuesday evening at 8 in Products Union hall.

They'll pepper questions at candidates for the coming council election in Tecumseh and also Jim McDowell, superintendent of schools, regarding the proposed increase in school tax millage.

The affair, free and open to all, is democracy in action. It is patterned after the popular New England town meetings. Tecumseh's Kiwanis Club is the sponsor with Merle Hoag, manager of Country Markets, Inc. as chairman.

At the speakers table will be councilmen H. H. Hanna, Harold Easton and Arthur Schwartz, all seeking re-election. With them will be hopefuls Bill Frownfelder, Clayton Greenwald, Carl Lamb, Oscar Meads, Fred Nash and Royal Welch.

Of the nine, five will be awarded council chairs at the April 4 election.

Kiwanis says, "Know your candidates, know the issues before you elect them to office."

Sharing the billing on town affairs will be Ed Nelson, city manager and Cal Zorn, city engineer. They'll also stand ready to answer inquiries.

The school issue, which comes as the second part of the program, according to Mr. Hoag, will be given considerable attention, especially from rural voters of the Tecumseh District.

Mr. Hoag reports that many have already been in touch with him about the session and stated they'll be on hand.

Their interest stems from the fact that if a new levy is passed in the district, their taxes will be affected more than city residents, who saw state equalized valuations dropped nearly $5 million in Tecumseh, while the rural assessments have remained the same.

Auto Parts Branch Better Serves Area

In order to serve better area car dealers, garages and farm implement shops, Auto Parts Co., Inc. of Ann Arbor has established a branch in Tecumseh.

Located at 11 E. Logan St., directly across from the R. H. Moore & Son Lumber Co., it is holding a grand opening Friday.

Primarily a wholesale operation, Auto Parts will also do some retail selling, primarily in the power mower department and to do-it-yourself car repairmen.

With headquarters in Ann Arbor and a branch in Adrian, the firm has long provided parts for Tecumseh-area dealers, explains president Harlan Yeager.

Putting a store here will increase the ease of local customers and those in Clinton, Britton, Ridgeway and Tipton obtaining needs.

Mr. Yeager's firm purchased the former Seitz Plumbing building last fall and completely gutted the interior, rebuilding from the walls inward.

There are 7,000-square feet of floor space. Of this 1,500 has been leased to Forrest Abner, who is using it for his heating and air conditioning business.

The local branch is being managed by Floyd Lane of Adrian, assisted by Bill Sutherland of Ypsilanti.

All the names of leading automobile parts manufacturers appear in the shelves of Auto Parts, which stocks several thousand separate items.

Prizes and drawings will feature Friday's 8a.m. to 9 p.m. official opening day.

2 Tecumseh Musicians Are Chosen

Dorinda Winters, with her flute, and Joan Mumaw, clarinet, have been selected to play in the all-county band at the Festival held at the Ridge Auditorium in Adrian Monday, March 28 at 8 p.m.

They were selected by the high school band directors of the county.

The senior band of Tecumseh High School will play the "All-sport March" under the direction of Don Johnson and will join the mass band of over 600 students in playing, "You're a Grand Old Flag."

Each of 12 county bands will play a number alone, the all-county band will play two numbers and the mass band will play the concluding number.

An admission charge of 75c for adults and 25c for children will be made.

Penny-a-Pound March Nets Heap at Firends Church

Tecumseh Friends Sunday School received offerings of more than 4,000 coppers last Sunday at a penny-a-pound march.

In addition, silver donations brought the total to $76.

The march emphasized the theme being used this month at the church school, "March to Sunday School in March."

Mrs. Perry Hayden, superintendent, said that anyone who forgot to bring their penny offering last Sunday may do so this week, March 27. The money will be placed in the building fund.

Boy Pioneers See Newspaper

Ten members of the Grace Lutheran Boy Pioneers, toured The Tecumseh Herald Tuesday evening.

Those present were David Natterstad, Tom Kish, Dennis Ross, Allen Ross, Philip Jordan, Paul Jordan, Gordon Haviland, Robert Oswald, Fred Schwede and Chuck Frost.

Ray Herrick Speaking to Municipal League

More than 100 city officials from seven counties will be in Tecumseh March 31 for the annual Region Two meeting of the Michigan Municipal League.

Being staged at Tecumseh Country Club, one of the featured speakers will be Ray Herrick.

Mr. Herrick's talk will come during the discussion on industrial development. His theme: "What industry expects from a community."

This will be followed by a "stump the experts" round-table for representatives of smaller cities and presided over by Tecumseh mayor, H. H. Hanna, who is vice-president of Region Two.

At the evening banquet, J. Donald Phillip, Hillsdale College president, will speak.

Also on the program is John Huss, director of the Michigan Municipal League and a registered state legislature lobbyist.

Represented at the session will be mayors, councilmen, clerks and other city officials from Lenawee, Monroe, Hillsdale, Jackson, Ingham, Washtenaw and Livingston counties.

Osborne's Add 5,000 Square Feet

New addition to Osborne's Department Store will increase the floor to over 5,000 square feet of sales space and double the store's size.

Completely redecorated and with a new tile floor the addition will be used for the men's wear and the firm's shoe department.

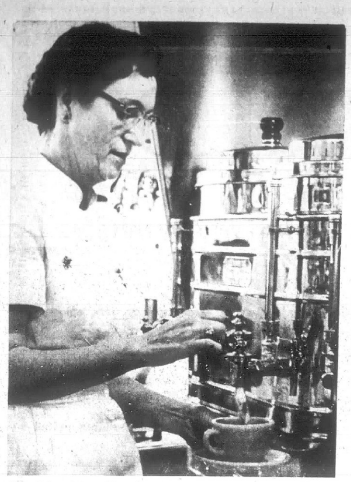
Mr. and Mrs. Osborne have lived in Tecumseh for the past 25 years.

He was first employed at the Tecumseh Products Co. and then operated a gasoline service station and the Tecumseh Pool Hall before opening his department store.



Mrs. Edward Roe 2205 W. Monroe Road is manager of the fountain. She and her husband have three children; Donna 18; Patricia, 17 and Edward Jr., 12. Mrs. Roe was formerly employed at Don's Grill.

HERALD PHOTOS

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

About 600-including the entire Tecumseh High School Chorus and the Glee Club from Boysville—filled the Strand Theatre Tuesday evening for the marvelous program presented by the University Men's Glee Club under the direction of the famed Philip Duey.

Mr. Duey and his singers carried the responsive audience from the sublime to the ridiculous.

The muted tones of the group making background for the tenor voice of Joonmin Kim singing "The Song of Green Mansions" was in direct contrast with the numerous lyrics of "Casey Jones" and the antics of two of the singers as they presented "Little Brown Jug."

Included in the program were two numbers sung by the club at the 13th annual International Musical Eisteddfod in Wales, where they were awarded first place for male choirs among 18 competing groups from 10 countries.

Tecumseh music lovers are extremely grateful to the Jaycees for bringing this fine group to this city.

What's Cookin'

Pink Cake

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Delightful, delicious cherry pink party cake is featured in the cooking column this week made by Mrs. Jenny Bird. Her recipe makes a large cake just right for birthday and other celebrations and, different from many party cakes, it really is yummy.

Mrs. Bird lives on Taylor Road. She came to Tecumseh from Toledo about 30 years ago and has raised her family of five children alone.

Her four daughters are Mrs. William Radar, Mrs. Raymond Smith of Tecumseh, Mrs. Norman Baker and Mrs. Larry Bradley of Adrian and one son, Robert, also lives in the city.

Mrs. Bird enjoys doing embroidery work, mostly for her daughters. She makes many pillowcases and doilies for use as gifts too.

She has been a member of the Baptist Church for 30 years.

The recipe printed below was found by Mrs. Bird in a farm magazine some time ago, but she has recently been asked for it a number of times by friends who have enjoyed eating the nutty goodie.

Cherry Pink Party Cake
1 bottle (8 oz.) marachino cherries
1 cup cherry juice and water
1½ tsp. vanilla
3 cups sifted cake flour
4½ tsps baking powder
1 tsp. salt
¾ cup shortening
1½ cup sugar
¾ cup chopped walnuts
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Drain cherries, chop finely. Add water to cherry juice to make one cup liquid. Add vanilla. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening and sugar until fluffy.

Add liquids and dry ingredients alternately to creamed mixture, blending well after each addition. Stir in nuts and cherries.

Fold in egg whites. Pour batter into three greased, floured 9 inch round pans and bake in 350 degree oven for 20-25 minutes.

Fluffy white or pink cherry icing may be used.

Price Supports for Soybeans To Remain the Same

Price supports for 1960 soybeans and dry beans will be the same as in 1959.

The national minimum average has been pegged at $5.35 per hundredweight on dry beans, $1.85 per bushel on soybeans.

"Support rates on navy beans and other dry-bean classes have not been announced yet," said John Ferris, agricultural economist at Michigan State University. "But they probably won't change much from 1959."

Ferris feels this year's dry beans will sell for at least as much as last year's crop.

Loans and purchase agreements will be available from harvest through January 31, 1961. Loans mature on February 28 for dry beans, May 31 for soybeans.

SATISFACTION EXPRESSED IN SMILES — Mrs. Don Martin and Don Martin, Jr., of the Gambles store show their complete satisfaction both with the development of the store and because Don is home on leave from his marine base in California.

Builder Is Denied Occupancy Permit

A plea for an occupancy permit by Brooks Baron, president of Town and Country Homes, Inc., Dearborn, was denied by council Monday night.

The permit concerns a house on Shady Lane, east of Adrian St., Council denied the permit since the home is not serviced by sewer or city water lines.

Councilmen asked Mr. Baron to install a sewer along his property there, or be willing to pay for part of it.

He termed this request unfair at this time due to other building obligations.

The sewer is not only needed for this house, but for nearly 10 residents just beyond.

City attorney J. C. Beardsley was asked to prepare legal papers for a special assessment for installing the sewer. Cost is estimated at $7,800.

+ Third Generation Minister Speaks to Methodists

The Rev. Allen Wittrup will speak to Methodists in their weekly Lenten service this Thursday at 8 p.m. His theme will be "To Thine Own Self Be True."

Mr. Wittrup is a nephew of George Wittrup, who lives next to the church on N. Pearl Street.

Presently, he is serving as associate minister of the First Methodist Church in Birmingham, congregation of 2,700 members. Over half of the present membership has joined since 1955 when Mr. Wittrup joined the staff.

Mr. Wittrup, who attended John Fletcher College and Dakota Wesleyan University, and Northwestern University, is a third-generation Methodist minister.

On the following Thursday, March 31, the Lenten preacher will be the Rev. Oliver J. Collins, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Adrian.

+ Seven Welcomed as Presbyterians at Sunday Service

The following persons were received into membership of the First Presbyterian Church of Tecumseh last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lenheiser
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller
Ogland Lay
Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hyatt

The schedule for the Lenten Prayer groups conducted by the women of the First Presbyterian Church of Tecumseh, Michigan is as follows:

Wednesday, March 30, 1960 — 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. C. L. Cook.

Wednesday, March 30, 1960— 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Al Helzerman

Thursday, March 31, 1960 — 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Iva Marsh

The Rev. and Mrs. Gresham will meet with the following Fellowship Groups during the coming week:

"The Offensive Cross" is the third sermon in a series on the Apostles' Creed at the Presbyterian Church."

"It is concerned with the meaning of the crucifixion and the place of the cross in the life of the early church," said the Rev. Gresham.

"Why was crucifixion the method of death chosen? Why was he not killed in some other manner? How did the contemporaries of the early disciples look upon the cross? What was the place of the cross in the minds of people at the time of the crucifixion."

"The answers to such questions help form a basis for a better understanding of the Death of Christ, why the cross was offensive in Jesus' Day, and how Christianity is still offensive in our own time", said the minister.

+ 'Unless You Become As a Little Child,' Speaker Will Say

On the fourth Sunday in Lent, Methodists will hear a sermon by a guest preacher.

The Rev. Walter Ryan of Detroit is Director of Adult Work of the Detroit Conference of the Methodist Church.

He will speak on the theme, "Ageing, An Outstanding Christian Achievement".

Mr. Ryan has had extensive training and experience in work with older adults.

Last November he directed the Older Adult Laboratory School in Manchester for Methodist Churches of the Detroit Conference, one of the few such ventures in the United States.

Mr. Ryan began his interest in Education and Religion in England. Coming to this country after World War II, he continued specialized studies in adult education.

Recently he was ordained a Methodist minister. He has served in his present position since 1957.

Mr. Ryan is active in national educational and social work societies. He is a talented musician and writer.

When he speaks here Sunday he will tell his listener, that "except you become as a little child, with the constant optimism of growing up, you cannot enter the happy kingdom of the aged."

Church School sessions are at 9 a.m. and 11:15 with Herbert Simpson as superintendent. A nursery is provided at the worship hour, 10 a.m.

+ Baptist Church Holds Its Lenten Services Sunday

Machine or Operator?

A method of figuring called the "break-even analysis" can help a farmer answer the question: Should I buy a machine or hire a custom operator?

"This question comes up most often with expensive machines that are in action only a few days or weeks each year," explains Robert White, agricultural engineer at Michigan State University. "That includes harvesters like field balers, combines, and corn pickers. It also takes in some planting and tillage machines."

"There's no standard answer," White emphasis. He's quick to point out that the break-even analysis is only a helpful tool.

"The analysis tells the acreage at which owning a machine is just as economical as hiring a custom operator," he says. "Ownership usually pays with acreages above the break-even point. Custom hiring saves money with smaller acreages."

Four factors are used in the break-even analysis. These include annual fixed cost of ownership, operating costs per acre, custom rate per acre, and a reasonable labor charge for operating the machine it is owned.

Custom rates are usually expressed as a fixed amount per acre, per hour on per bushel.

"Costs of ownership aren't so simple," White notes. "They fall in two categories—fixed and operating costs."

Fixed costs don't depend on the amount of use. They include such items as depreciation, interest on investment, taxes, insurance and housing. Annual fixed costs total about 15-17 per cent of the new cost on tractors and harvesting equipment, about 10 to 12 per cent on planting and tillage machines.

Operating costs do depend on the amount of use. They include such things as fuel, oil, lubrication, repairs, and operating supplies.

"The break-even analysis doesn't consider the timeliness angle," White indicates. "Owning your own machine may pay off when you're in a hurry to get the job done."

White recently wrote a detailed report on the break-even analysis. The county extension agent can help farmers apply it to their own situations.

Tecumseh Senior Scouts Entertain Tiny Students at Cerebral Palsy School

They went armed with materials to entertain the children as a project of the Irish Hills Council Senior Planning Board.

To their delight the little afflicted people were most receptive to the treats with a St. Patrick's Day flavor, the games the Scouts had planned and the rubber balls which they took along for each one.

Irish hats, long green candy sticks, ice cream and shamrocks provided just the proper amount of Irish spirit to relax the seven little guests.

The Scout assisted with a bean bag clown game and penny pitch.

The girls making the trip were Ann Cameron, Harriet Blanden, Alice Tidley, Judy Monihan, Janice Wilbar, Sally Vincze, Susan Harris, Jean Ann Hoag, Evelyn Beland and Goldie Zarnoch.

Just this week, Herald office personel have been told that operational funds at this school have been nearly depleted.

At the same time it was learned that the Adalco Club of Adrian is sponsoring a dance March 25 for the benefit of the ten Lenawee and Monroe County students of the school.

It appears that the present year will be completed, but enough money must be secured to insure the opening next fall.

The dance is to be held at the Eagle Club in Adrian from 9:30 until 1:30 a.m. Thursday with Hal Broderick and his orchestra donating music for the event.

Door prizes will be awarded and tickets may be purchased at the door for $2 per couple.

Flu Bug Now Being Studied

Research on influenza, as contracted by Tecumseh residents and again by the same people this winter, is being included in the Community Health Study.

Dr. Robert J. M. Horton, director of the study says:

"We Have unusually, fine, detailed information on the course of this out-break (1957) in a community.

"The recent recurrence (of flu) in Tecumseh offers an opportunity to obtain equally detailed information on a second wave passing through this same group of people.

"This would allow study of the two epidemics in relation to each other and to determine attack rates in those ill in 1957 and with those who were not."

A brief questionnaire on influenze is being sent to households in the area, about which the study has information from 1957.

These ask if the person has had influenza vaccine this year and if the flu struck them any time between January 1 and March 1.

Director Sought for Newly-Formed Counseling Service

This service is incorporated as non-sectarian and non-profit.

The Rev. Blair Bashore is the president of the board, Virgil Tucker is a member of the board and Mrs. Fred F. Dickinson is the treasurer.

Qualifications for the director are those recommended by the National Counsel of Family Service.

Contact has been made with the field director of that organization to meet with the group and explain in detail the aims and objectives of a properly-organized and operating service of this kind.

The Rev. Bashore says, "Family Counseling Services have been operating very effectively over the United States and we want to organize properly the local one so that it will have the basis to give the best possible service."

HE FURTHER said, "Financial assistance, in order to maintain this organization, will be needed from all interested friends and neighbors."

The need for such a service became apparent to members of the County Ministerial Association, who with members of the board of the Associated Charities organized the service with representatives from every area of the county on the board.

A referal system is being set up, whereby people may receive psycological and human need assistance, not just for adults, but for any member of a family.

It Is FINISHED

There are, in a sense, only two religions in the world—the "do" religion and the "done" religion.

The "do" religion tells a man that he must do this and that if he wants to get to heaven. The "done" religion tells a man that he need do nothing for everything is done.

When Christ shouted from the cross "It is finished!", the redemption of every man, woman, and child ever to be born was accomplished. The ransom price for every sinner had been paid.

All we need do now is believe it, accept it. The Christian message, in effect, is heaven's receipt, telling men "Paid in full!"

This is what the Bible says about those who have accepted God's receipt for cancelled sin through faith in Christ as Savior. "There is now therefore no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus." For them all is "done."

MARY SEAGER'S

With Tecumseh TEENS

Walls of the Riviera Theater in Detroit resounded with the happy sounds of "The Music Man" Friday night.

It's no wonder that this musical has been called the year's best. There isn't enough anyone can say about it to create the lively wonderful impression that it does in actuality.

It was obvious from the opening to the closing curtain that the whole cast was having a ball, even though they were well into their second year on the road.

The plot was uncomplicated, but the actions of all the actors, particularly Forrest Tucker, emphasized the story.

Besides the well-known "Seventy-Six Trombones", the show had many wonderful songs, including the poignant "Till There Was You" and the boisterous dance number "Shipoopi".

☆

Thursday during third and fourth hours students were entertained by the Ypsi-Lincoln Chorus and the Tecumseh Chorus, under the respective direction of Ruth Avery and Leslie Bennett.

The first number featured the combined chorus with Miss Avery directing, "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Him".

Mr. Bennett conducted the combined choruses in a Latin hymn, "Adoramus Te".

"Onward Ye Peoples" was sung by both choruses, conducted by Mr. Bennett.

The Ypsi-Lincoln chorus led by Miss Avery sung "Ave Maria", "O Brother Man", "The Rain and the River". The girls in the Ypsi chorus sang "Lift Thine Eyes" and were followed the boys who sang "Climbing Up the Mountain".

The Tecumseh Madrigal Singers presented "My Heart Bid You Not Enough". Carol Owen and Dan Harvey were the soloists in the spiritual "Sit Down, Servant".

The next number by the Tecumsehites was "Geronimo", a lively song about an Indian."

The program was ended with "Why Do I Love You?" by the Ypsi girls and "Brigadoon" by their whole chorus.

The program was enjoyed by everyone.

After the performance, the Ypsi-Lincoln chorus was treated to pizza and spaghetti in our cafeteria.

VFW Holds Information Session

Ex-GIs interested in learing about the VA, hospitalization, compensation claims, non-service connected pension claims and such will have an excellent opportunity to do just that this week.

It will be in the VFW Post there, 726 N. Main St.

City officials and the general public, along with all veterans, are invited, states Gaza Kish, commander of the Tecumseh V-FW.

Write Big In Sending Specials

"Conspicious special service endorsements such as Airmail, Special Delivery, and First Class are an important factor in receiving good mail service," says Postmaster Jack G. Metcalf.

Airmail, special delivery mail, and oversize first-class envelopes are sometimes delayed by becoming mixed with third-class mail if they lack an endorsement.

Although small handwritten or typewritten endorsements are helpful, they may be overlooked by postal employees and result in delay in delivery of mail having a special time value.

To help prevent delay and mishandling of such mail and to insure that the mailer will receive the type of service for which postage has been paid, it is recommended that priority mailings be endorsed with colorful gummed labels which are now furnished without charge by the post office.

Thanking you for sending us the newspapers so promptly after my call. It is a splendid collection of pictures.

We are very busy making all the plans for the California. Thanks again.

TO THE EDITORS:

Am writing this in defense of teenagers. Let us give credit to whom credit is due.

At the present time, it seems that whenever a misdemeanor, or a crime is committed by a member of that group, it is given much publicity.

Thus, many teenagers are being labeled as juvenile delinquents when in reality there are only a few.

To my knowledge, only two persons out of the 1,600 that I have had as pupils, have had prison terms.

These were cases where boys "borrowed" cars without the owners' consent.

I have attended a church meeting which was conducted entirely by young people. They had charge of the music, the scripture reading and the prayer.

Only last Saturday when a tire blew out, two teenage boys immediately came to the rescue by taking off the ruined tire and putting on the spare.

They quickly volunteered their services when they saw my predicament. This they did without accepting any compensation.

Seal Sale Aids County Handicapped

Crippled children and adults in Lenawee County benefit from services made through the Easter Seal Sales.

Mrs. William Davenport of the Jaycee Auxiliary will direct volunteer workers, who will conduct the Easter Seal sales here March 17 through Sunday, April 17.

Mrs. Louis Condon of Adrian is general chairman of the sales campaign and L. J. Stephens of Adrian is president of the Easter Seal Society in Lenawee County.

In 1959 services that aided the handicapped in the county:

Two wheel chairs purchased and some loaned.

Ten children sent to summer camp in Jackson County.

Two children sent to Rackham School in Ypsilanti.

Funds were also contributed for occupational therapy, clinics and research.

There are 1,655 Easter Seal affiliates in the 50 states, District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

Mrs. Terrance Wagner, 411 E. Chicago Blvd., is the department head buyer in the new expanded soft lines of Woolworth's. She and Mr. Wagner, Ford dealer in Morenci who also sells used cars in Adrian and Tecumseh, have three children Jean, 18; Donna, 14 and Shirley, 8. Add New Friends

Fay Nichols, county extension agent in home economics, was presented by Mrs. Benjamen Antrobus to 32 members of the Women's Society of the First Baptist Church last Monday evening.

She spoke on the topic, "Growing Toward a Greater Maturity."

"A mature person is one whose mental habits are such that he grows in knowledge and makes wise use of it," she said.

He is a person who has learned how to operate well in a human environment so that he continues both to add new people to those whom he cares about and to discover new bases of fellowship with those already familiar."

"Learning is one of the most important of life's processes. Learning must continue if we grow into mental, social and emotional maturity."

"No one is mature except to the extent that there is work he accepts as his own, that he performs with a fair degree of expertness and from which he draws satisfaction," the guest continued.

"By this standard a woman is immature if she wants all of the advantages of marriage and resents all she has to do to keep a home in running order and bring up a family," Miss Nichols went on.

"When He hung upon the cross, Christ is reported to have said one of the maturist statements ever uttered by a suffering human being:

"Father, forgive them for they know not what they do.' In this insight—that evil men do is the evil of their immaturity."

"No social institution is more fateful for the human race than the home. In a good home maturing gets quickly underway.

"It is women who must be made to realize that upon them rests a large measure of the responsibility for keeping alive in the world the values which most enrich our humanity."

"Women, far more effectively than men, can cultivate a love of things, a sense of inner peace rather than an aimless desire for activity and kindness and creatively rather than busy-ness," the speaker concluded.

☆

DURING THE business session Mrs. Claude Sebring presented a slate of officers which was unanimously adopted. They are:

President — Mrs. James Danforth.

First vice-president—Mrs. Robert Smith.

Tecumseh's store is part of the present F. W. Woolworth Co. expansion program. During 1959, the firm opened 130 new outlets, for a net gain of 69, after closing 61.

This brought the total of Woolworth's stores to 2,221, as compared with 2,152 at the end of 1958.

"The new store and refurbishing program is providing stores considerably larger than those opened a few years ago," states Tecumseh manager John Day.

"These new and improved stores are functionally designed to accomodate the ever-broadening assortment of merchandise being offered by Woolworth's.

"In order to give the customer the best possible values and continued improved and wider assortment of merchandise, the buying staff of the firm works closely with suppliers, who whole-heartedly cooperate to bring the market outstanding values," he continued.

"The Woolworth buying staff is alert to the needs of new and expanded lines to satisfy the demands of the buying public, particularly the self service stores such as ours," Mr. Day said.

TECUMSEH'S NEW WOOLWORTH'S OFFERS A "COMPLETE FAMILY SHOPPING CENTER" OPENS THURSDAY

Advance Report Forms for Census Going Out to Tecumseh Households

Advance report forms for the 1960 Census of Population and Housing will be distributed by post office employees March 23 to 26 to all households in this area.

The advance report form is a new census-taking device which is designed to speed up the field canvass and provide more accurate statistics.

Distribution of this form before the start of the house-to-house canvass gives the family a chance to assemble information about each member in advance of the census taker's visit.

The district supervisor urges all residents to fill out the form and have it ready for the census takers when they start their rounds on April 1.

The advance report form contains seven questions about every person in the household and six questions about the household's dwelling.

The household information asked for is name, address, sex, color or race, month and year of birth, whether married or single and relationship to head of the household.

The information required about the dwelling is the number of rooms, cooking facilities, plumbing and whether rented or owned.

AT EVERY fourth household, the census taker will leave a census household questionnaire which contains additional questions covering population and housing characteristics which are being asked of a 25% sample of the nation's population.

Householders are requested to fill out the household questionnaire and mail it within three days to the local census district office. A pre-addressed, postage free envelope is being provided for this purpose.

The "sample" population questions include inquiries on country of birth, mother tongues of foreign born, schooling, employment, income and related items.

The additional housing questions relate to rent or value of dwelling, heating equipment, water supply, and other facilities and equipment.

The district supervisor pointed out that information about individuals and their homes furnished to the Census Bureau is kept confidential under federal law. Only statistical totals and averages are published.

No individual person can be identified in published reports

"We're officially open," says John Day, manager of Woolworth's, which is staging kickoff festivities in Tecumseh Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Running such an enterprise calls for a man of many talents and Mr. Day, with the company since 1954, is well qualified. A manager must know merchandising, advertising display, how to handle personnel. Mr. Day started as a part-time employee with Woolworth's while a student at Redford High School. He served three years in Detroit stores, also worked in Lansing. Two years ago he became manager of the Ashland, O. Woolworth's. Married, he and his wife, June, reside at 311 S. Maiden Lane. Mr. Day, originally from Essex, England, became an American citizen three years ago.

Murdoch Is Named Delegate

LANSING—Douglas Murdoch of Tecumseh has been named special delegate to the annual representative assembly of the Michigan Education Association in Lansing, April 1-2.

Scheduled for the Lansing Civic Center, the two-day session of the MEA's governing body will attract more than 400 educators from throughout Michigan. Each of the association's 159 districts will send representatives to the meeting.

Delegates to the assembly will concentrate on such issues as: establishing a program of action for the MEA for 1960-61, formulating policies, adopting a budget, electing officers, and amending the constitution and bylaws.

BETTY McGLASSON cc

Mrs. Betty M. McGlasson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Day of rural Tecumseh, is completing one semester of classroom experience with students to meet one requirement for teacher certification in the state of Michigan.

She attended Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. Betty is teaching first, second, fourth, fifth and high school choir and band; seventh and eighth grade girls glee club; elementary strings and instrumental music at Portage school.

A graduate of Tecumseh High School, she is active in the Christian Science Organization.

Nurses Needed, Chief Points Out

This increase provides one of the basic reasons why the educating of additional professional nurses is urgently necessary, it was stated by Edna E. Sharritt, director of nursing at the Toledo Hospital.

Miss Sharritt also indicated that more nurses, in the future, will be needed outside of hospitals.

She pointed to the growth of public health nursing and occupational health programs and to the demands of the military services.

Snack Bar Here Is Only Second in This Division

Feeding folks in Woolworth's has come a long way since Mrs. C. B. Anderson joined the company 25 years ago.

Mrs. Anderson, a home economist, is the food expert who supervises many of the store lunch counters in this district and has established the routine for Tecumseh.

The newest wrinkle is the Snack Bar, which will be part of the Tecumseh Woolworth's and is only the second one in the Cleveland district.

Basic dishes are hamburger, fish, cheeseburger and breaded ham steak platters. These will include French fries and a salad.

Added to this are a variety of sandwiches.

Food has always played a prominent part with Woolworth's. During 1959, its diners consumed 7½ millions turkey dinners, 10 million cuts of apple pie, 450 carloads of potatoes, 300,000 cases of oranges, 6 millions pounds of beef.

They drank 110 million cups of coffee, spooned 3½ million gallons of ice cream, spread nearly 2 million pounds of butter.

"Only top quality food is merchandised," Mrs. Anderson states It is prepared and served according to strict recipe formula."

"New Products and recipes, always tested by the firm's experimental laboratory in New York, new equipment and systems are constantly being sought in this field to further improve the high standards of quality and operating efficiency," she said.

Mrs. Edward Roe of rural Tipton will serve as manager of the Tecumseh Snack Bar.

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid Will Sponsor Choi

The meeting of the Grace Lutheran Ladies Aide was brought to order Wednesday night by the president, Mrs. Gaza Kish, with 14 present.

The sunshine committee reported that it had visited many members who had been ill. Mrs. Wynn Matteson and Mrs. Ray Hinkle said they still are collecting items for the sunshine box.

Mrs. Al Schwede reported a good attendance at the sauerkraut supper.

Mrs. Harry Hans reported that plans were underway for the visit of the North Western Choir, April 15, at the church.

Mrs. Richard Whelan, Mrs. Arthur Maehem are still asking members to bring their favorite receipes for the recipe book that is being composed.

Mrs. Wynn Matteson and Mrs. Gaza Kish are chairmen for the pastors conference to be held at the church, April 24 and 25.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer, followed by refreshments served by Mrs. Oakley Baxter, Mrs. Sharon Hinkle and Mrs. Gaza Kish.

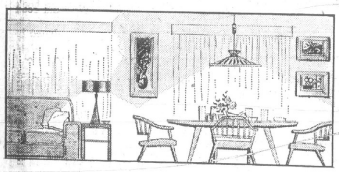
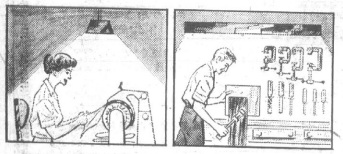
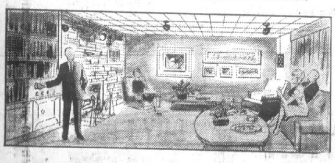
LIGHT for LIVING
serves many purposes



DESIGN The present, informal-living trend calls for multiple use of rooms so, "lighting for design" means light that skillfully separates one part of a room from another. Direct light is focused on one area of the room while another area is subdued.



FUNCTION Everyone should strive for work area lighting that prevents visual fatigue and increases efficiency. Shadows, glare and eyestrain can be eliminated by an overhead fixture, a concentrated surface light or a combination of both.



MOOD An unlimited variety of effects can be achieved by mood lighting. A room can be made dramatic, stimulating or restful; details can be accented or diminished. The appearance of a room, as well as the atmosphere, can be changed by the use of "light for living."

Getting the most from your lights and appliances requires HOUSEPOWER

To get the most out of Light for Living and your electric appliances, too, be sure your home has plenty of HOUSEPOWER. Four out of five homes, even many new ones, are not properly wired. Have your wiring checked and brought up to full HOUSEPOWER standards.

Two-by-Two Is Trick

"Two by two" is the guide to go by in placement of fertilizer in the corn row.

Translated, that's two inches to the side and two inches below the seed, according to James A. Porter, extension soils specialist at Michigan State University.

Planters that don't place the fertilizer in these bands ought to be changed over, recommends John Comstock, County Agriculture Agent.

Old splitboot type applicators, for instance, don't do this and if the planter is operated above about 1½ miles per hour, the fertilizer mixes with the seed and there is injury to germination.

Also, these type applicators often do not allow the use of more than 125 pounds of fertilizer per acre. Usually, much higher rates than this are needed. The fertilizer also is placed too shallow for good recovery by the roots.

Conversion kits are available for many types of planters and a side placement arrangement if a kit is not available.

Porter points out that a planter does its best job when operated at not over 3-3½ miles per hour.

There are at least two benefits from not going to fast — it insures enough plants per acre and makes even placement in the row by eliminating pile-ups and skips

THEY WERE THERE — Ann Cameron (left) and Grace Dennis were Tecumseh Senior Girl Scouts who attended last summer's International Round-Up in Colorado. They told Irish Hills Council Scouts about their experience at Saturday's Pow Wow in the Strand Theatre. Hanging behind Ann and Grace are the gaudy signs they had outside their tents.

Scouts See Film

They came from Lenawee and Hillsdale Counties, which have joined with Jackson County to make up the new Irish Hills Council.

An hour and a half program was presented, where many phases of Scouting were discussed.

Topping the morning was seeing the movie "A Mile High—A World Wide".

This special color film was taken last summer at the foot of Pike's Peak in Colorado, where more than 8,500 Girl Scouts attended the International Round-up.

Ann Cameron and Grace Dennis, who represented Tecumseh at the International Roundup, were on hand to talk about their experiences and show some of the souvenirs they brought back.

The new council's fund campaign drive, scheduled for Lenawee and Hillsdale counties April 1-9, is for $20,000.

The new council, when in operation by mid-summer, will give the former lone troop Girl Scouts of Lenawee and Hillsdale counties a new variety of facilities and opportunities.

Some of these are:

An expanded training program, which will start with a 52-week plan for adult leaders and Scouts during the first year.

Council-wire program experiences and opportunities starting at the regional level and encompassing the International level.

Camping experiences at nine-day-camping-sites at Camp O' the Hills near Wampler's Lake in the heart of the Irish Hills.

The amount of financial assistance given to lone troop scouting in the past through various organizations, such as Community Chests, United Funds, and others will continue, but more money is required than the combined total of past giving in order for this new council to be realized.

Mukenstrums High Winners at Grange Club

Mr. and Mrs. William Mukenstrum were the high winners at the Grange card party Saturday evening.

Mrs. Mukenstrum won ladies high score and high for the most lone hands. Mr. Mukenstrum won the men's traveling prize.

Eight tables were arranged for cards, followed by a social period of dancing.

Mrs. Dow Bilby and Jack Barrett won the boobie prizes.

Clarence Schroeder won high prize for the most lone hands in the men's playing. William Gobson won high score.

Mrs. Charles Allen won high traveling ladies prize.

The next card party will be held at the hall Saturday, April 2.

New Process Could Be Revolutionary

The "Marvels of Plastics" was exemplified to the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club at its meeting Thursday evening by Carlos Jones, owner of the Jones Sealing Company.

In one of a series of talks by heads of local industries, Mr. Jones pointed out the amazing qualities of plastics which have been adapted to industrial use, allowing processes and methods previously impossible. These save many operations previously necessary.

He further expanded on the operations by the Sealing Company he heads, stating that because of the unique nature of the work in sealing metal parts and units, work is being performed for many industries in the area.

His is the only organization of this type in the country doing most types of work that industry requires.

At the conclusion, Mr. Jones predicted a new metal process which may take industry by storm, called Sanfordizing.

It treats aluminum in such a way as to allow its light weight and versatility to prevail, yet have the strength of steel.

The meeting was the second straight week of 100% attendance, and as President John Pobuda complimented the Kiwanians, the Rabbit, which is given to the member absent the week previously, was taken home by President John himself.

The Spring Divisional Meeting of Kiwanis will be held in Adrian on March 30.

Through My Window

HURRAH. IT'S HERE AT LAST.

T'is Spring. Yes, officially it really is. Of course a look out the window tends to dispute this but another check of the calendar and truly, in spite of last week's snow-storm, it's Spring!

And Spring means that soon our window pictures will be green instead of white.

The sun will be warm and the breezes soft.

The yards will color up and the trees will first show red as the buds swell and then pale green as the new leaves burst forth.

Doctor's creek-bank wild flowers garden will begin to bloom.

The children I see on Democratic Street going to and from school will discard their heavy winter clothes in favor of bright sweaters and light jackets.

But before many of these things happen we will begin to welcome back the birds who last fall forsook us for warmer climes.

Weatherwise, it was certainly a topsy-turvy season. January had rain, fog, temperatures in the high 50's and even a thunder-storm whereas the March winds blew up blizzards, drifted snow deep and dropped temperatures to zero.

Bird-wise the winter was both rewarding and disappointing.

First on the credit side must certainly come the cardinals.

Patronizing our sun-flower seed buffets they have been wonderful.

Downy wood-peckers, tufted tit-mice, the upside-down nuthatches, mourning doves and juncos have been entertaining guests too.

It has been the best chick-a-dee season ever—instead of one or two as we have had in the past, there have been four or five of the happy little black-capped black-bibbed mites around.

☆

DISAPPOINTING was the fact that the gorgeous yellow, black and white evening grosbeaks, who so thrilled us last year, did not return.

A hold-over disappointment from two years ago was the non-appearance of the little red-breasted nut hatch.

He is apparently quite rare tho'—several years ago I noticed the Christmas Day bird count for the Detroit area recorded only one red breasted—so we really cannot expect to see him often.

We did however really hope to see the evening grosbeaks again—they were so lovely.

The big mystery of the season was provided by the bluejays.

What happened to them?

☆

WE WERE over-run last summer and fall but lately it is only on the rarest of occasions that we see one.

The winter had its new-comers too.

Large flocks of snow-buntings—they did not see fit to present themselves at the west end of Logan Street but I do understand they were most plentiful along the roadsides, especially the roads east of town.

Many friends told us about the birds but unfortunately we could not get out to see them.

Next Week
Come On, Stand Up And—

Blood Family History Being Put into Print

Roger D. Harris, PO Box 197, Sunbornville, N.H., is searching for the descendants of the family of "Blood", a clan once prominent in this vicinity.

Mr. Harris has traced some 10,000 of the relatively scarce name, mostly being descendants of Robert and Richard Blood who came to New England in the 1640's.

In the process of accumulating genealogical data Mr. Harris has uncovered enough historical and biographical items to form the basis for a book about the Bloods which will be privately published this Spring.

It is hoped that descendants will contact Mr. Harris, and contribute additional genealogical information on their individual lines as well as submit historical and biographical sketches, copies of obituaries, old letters, Bible records, legends and anecdotes about people named Blood and the people they married.

Paul Scott, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Scott, arrived home last Sunday evening from Fort Hood, Texas, where he has just completed his basic training. He will go to Military Police School at Fort Gordon, Georgia in about 10 days.

These Are Words We Love To Hear

A Herald subscriber dropped by the office to renew her subscription last week and stated she did not want to miss an issue.

She told us that her subscription had been given to her as an Easter gift by her daughter, rather than a plant.

Her reaction to this was "I don't want that old paper."

But she later retracted this statement saying, "I look forward to my paper each week. I find it so interesting, and enjoy the pictures so much."

Michigan Week To Be May 15-21

John C. Tooker, vice president of the White Motor Co. and general manager of the Reo division in Lansing, reports that plans for the 1960 Michigan Week, May 15-21, are moving forward rapidly in the South Central region of which he is chairman.

County chairmen are organizing for the seventh annual state celebration on a wide front in the six counties of the region including Eaton, Hillsdale, Ingham, Jackson, Lenawee and Livingston.

Mr. Toker called on all citizens to cooperate in every way possible with their local Michigan Week organizations so that this year's observance will reach a new peak in emphasizing the many advantages and opportunities of the state.

Promotional and advertising materials bearing the slogan "Michigan — Your Opportunity" and the emblem of the state bird, the proud and chesty robin, are now being distributed to all 83 counties to be sold at cost to widely publicize the week.

Theme of this year's celebration is "The People of Michigan."

A wide program has been formulated to publicize and promote the widely diversified products of Michigan's industries, farms, mills, mines and shops.

150 Attend Girl Scout Vespers

The Brownie and Girl Scout vesper service was held last Sunday at the St. Elizabeth's auditorium with 150 present.

To open the program the Brownies and Girl Scouts walked down the center aisle in pairs.

The presentation of the flags was made and the Pledge of Allegiance given, followed by the singing of America.

Ardis Drewyor whistled two solos, "You Will Never Walk Alone" and "Sweet Hour of Prayer." She was accompanied by Mrs. Paul Brantingham.

Mrs. Brantingham also played a piano solo, "Fairer Lord Jesus."

A short story was told about Dorcas, a woman full of good work, by Susan Harris.

All the Scouts sang "Girl Scouts Together."

The program closed with prayer and the retiring of the flag.

Provide Food for Wildlife

A true conservationist who owns or operates land will not overlook his responsibility to provide some of the food, shelter and water needed by useful forms of wildlife that live in his area, Clarence Ehlert, Lenawee Soil Conservation District chairman said yesterday.

Mr. Ehlert called attention to the fact that the nation this week is observing National Wildlife Week March 20-27 and that conservationists, schools, and other groups are focusing public attention on the problem of keeping wildlife numbers up as natural wildlife habitat goes down.

Wildlife is largely a farm crop but, game populations, song birds, and other wildlife flouish or decline from the effects of many factors and it is not always possible for the individual farmer to control all of them.

However, biologists generally agree that the one best way to assure lots of wildlife is to give them the kind of habitat they need.

Habitat involves just three things ordinarily—the right kind of food, proper shelter from natural enemies, and a wholesome water supply. These must be available, not just in the summer time, but throughout the year in most cases.

According to Woodrow H. Barclay, SCS Soil Conservation Service technician at Adrian, "Plans for good wildlife habitat can be included right in the same soil conservation plan that sets the stage for other farm management practices.

"If a farmer wishes to encourage certain kinds of birds or animals, we can help him make his farm attractive to them. And if it's fish he is interested in, we can look into the possibilities for proper stocking and care of his farm pond."

Farmers of Lenawee have already done a great deal to improve the outlook for wildlife, Mr. Ehlert said. In the last five years they have performed a number of soil and water conservation practices beneficial to wildlife.

They have planted 151 acres of trees, protected 609 acres of woods from livestock, planted 2395 rods (7.5 miles) of multiflora rose hedgerow, planted shrubs and otherwise improved 210 acres not suitable for cropping, constructed 9 farm ponds and stocked them with fish.

In addition, cooperators without special wildlife practices have improved the food and shelter situation with the diversification of crops that goes with conservation farming.

The way we fall down most often is in failing to provide food and cover through the winter months, he added.

Persons who own or operate land and are interested in doing more to provide for needs of wildlife are urged to seek advice and assistance from the Lenawee Soil Conservation District.

While Spraying Gardens Follow These Five Rules

Home gardeners and farmers have shown increasing concern over which sprays will be safe to use in their gardens and fields this year.

Spray contamination and its harmful effects on food plants aroused nation-wide interest during the cranberry incident last November.

Dr. Ray L. James, associate professor of entomology at Michigan State University, says gardeners and farmers will have no problems if they learn to use sprays correctly and know their limitations.

James' five keys to pesticide safety in '60 include:

1. Keep up-to-date on the most recent recommendations from county extension agents or the MSU extension bulletins.

2. Read the label—you can't heed directions and warnings unless you read them. Make sure the label is not outdated.

3. Follow the label—it is important to know which plants can be sprayed with a particular spray, at what times it should be used, and the right amounts.

4. Store properly — keep all pesticides in labeled containers, away from children, adults or animals.

5. Destroy the containers—this is to remove the danger to humans, animals and valuable plants.

Don't Risk Your Blankets

By ROYAL WELCH

Cleaning blankets is a real problem to most housewives. Whether they're the ordinary old reliable wool variety, new synthetics or one of the ultra-modern electric blankets, they are expensive and valuable, and to risk damage to them is just plain foolish.

First of all, a good blanket of high grade wool automatically precludes many cleaning procedures.

If you insist on washing blankets at home, use lukewarm water. Use only the mildest of soaps or detergents. Be sure the rinse water is the same temperature as the wash water. Do not agitate. Change of temperature or agitation will felt the wool and shrink the blanket. Squeeze out the moisture gently and allow to dry slowly in the shade.

Shucks! That's a lot of work and worry, isn't it?

Why not, instead, bring your blankets to us? We have the experience, the equipment, and the manpower to do the job right.

Also, blankets are now more of a problem to handle at home because of the synthetics and combinations of fibers. Usually they have instructions with them when they are purchased and it's a good idea to keep them for reference. That way you can be sure.

But you can be surest if we clean them for you . . . so why take a chance?

NYC Would Offer Toll-Free Phone Service in Plan

As a part of its new centralized agency service in Tecumseh and surrounding areas, witnesses for the New York Central Railroad testified before the Michigan Public Service Commission that:

Free pickup and delivery of less than carload freight, together with toll-free telephone service, would be offered to shippers.

Under this new arrangement, freight shipments from here and the communities of Manchester, Clinton, Blissfield, Morenci, Jasper, Ida, Deerfield, Riga, Ogden, Weston and Petersburg would come under the jurisdiction of the freight service center at Adrian.

For telephone toll-free service, shippers can dial their local telephone operators and ask for Enterprise 7785, the direct line to the Adrian freight service center.

In addition, traveling railroad representatives will operate out of this center, calling upon shippers and rendering necessary clerical tasks at the plant site.

Are You 'Card Carrier?' Asks Mrs. Murray Day

"You may be surprised at the advantages there are in having a library card at the Tecumseh Public Library," says Mrs. Murray Day, assistant librarian.

"Books in many fields, including "best sellers", are available," she said. Also magazines on gardening, flying, hunting, photography and other hobbies; women's magazines, current events types, and the ever-popular National Geographic, plus many others.

Your library card also entitles you to take out famous paintings, already framed, and any of our collection of over one hundred recordings.

We answer reference questions by telephone, have a growing collection of telephone books for your use, offer story hour to the young people during summer vacation, and have Moody's Index readily available to business men and other interested persons.

You are all invited to open house at the library on April 3 from 3 to 6 o'clock to see these things for yourselves and have a little light refreshment.

This affair will open National Library Week here. There will also be a meeting on April 5 at 8 o'clock in the library for all those interested in starting a lively Discussion Group.

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

When a fire started in a Tecumseh High School shop class Monday, seniors in another room allowed as how they'd ought to take advantage of the mishap.

Namely, they agreed, they'd like to toss a current text, "Crime and Punishment" into the blaze.

Reminded me of a flyleaf inscription in a used text I once purchased. It read: "In case of fire, throw this in."

Details on the fire appear elsewhere.

Rubbing shoulders with a bunch of newspaper photographers from all over the state last weekend was some experience.

Displays of blown-up photos surrounded one room at Kellogg Center on the Michigan State campus where the annual Press Photographers Workshop was held.

It was all-absorbing, the best works of lensmen, weekly and daily, from across the state. Seeing this exquisite work made a fellow almost feel like ditching his camera and going in for gardening.

But a little voice inside says keep trying, someday you might be able to match the top level.

And speaking of photography, the class this writer is planning will get going next week, probably on Thursday night. Time and place will be announced in the coming Herald.

"What happened to our story?" a number of folks will probably be asking us this weekend.

Jeep Burned in Shop Class at High School

Its two rear tires were ruined, the gas tank badly injured and the body burned. The heat was so intense plastic on the steering wheel melted.

Instructor Charley Gross pulled the youth to safety, then started fighting the blaze with the shop extinguisher.

He had it under control by the time firemen arrived minutes later.

As Mr. Gross fought the fire, Paul Burns, vocational agriculture instructor, dragged the can of gasoline, already siphoned, out into the yard.

9 Vie for 5 Council Seats

Nine candidates, including three incumbents, will seek five seats on the city council at next Tuesday's election.

Present councilmen running for re-election are mayor H. H. Hanna, Harold Easton and Arthur Schwartz.

Schwartz, and Ray Schlegel, were appointed during the past term to fill vacancies created by resignations. Schlegel is not running.

Four of the remaining candidates are Tecumseh businessmen:

Carl Lamb, pharmacist at Hodges Drug Store.

Royal Welch, owner of Welch's Dry Cleaners.

Clayton Greenwald, owner of Greenwald's Laundry.

Candidate William Frownfelder, who also is a member of the Planning Commission, is cost analyst at Tecumseh Products.

April 5 election marks the first time in many years that several businessmen will be seeking city government positions.

The list of businessmen also includes Easton, who owns and operates Easton's Friendly Service station. Schwartz is an electrical engineer at Tecumseh Products.

FIRST CUSTOMER—Mrs. Vera Driscoll, 107 W. Brown St., was the first customer at Woolworth's to check out a purchase opening day. Mrs. Byron Vealey was the cashier ringing up the sale. Mrs. Driscoll mused, with a grin, "I don't know why you didn't open yesterday, it was my birthday?"

Arthur Collingsworth, a Tecumseh High School sophomore, is currently in Brazil as a guest of that government. Arthur serves in this area as a trade delegate for the South American nation.

New Stores Jammed

Tecumseh and area residents mobbed the new Woolworth's and Gambles stores last Thursday, Friday and Saturday with both businesses having crowds topping expectations.

Woolworth's reported 15,000 visitors Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Jim Osborne said his opening for the Osborne Dept. Store expansion was a big success. Auto Parts, another Tecumseh newcomer, reported a big reception.

Crowds gathered early for the Gambles and Woolworth celebrations last Thursday and continued throughout the day. Friday and Saturday were just as busy.

Don Martin of Gambles was pleased with the three-day event but glad it's over. Gambles held drawings, giving away several hundred dollars in merchandise.

Town Hall Gathering Draws 200

School taxes, the city dump, the dog ordinance, Adams Park and other subjects got their share of attention at Tuesday night's town hall meeting.

More than 200 area citizens were on hand for the affair, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

The proposed 3-mill school tax increases, to be asked by the board of education in July, got a lion's share of attention.

It becomes necessary mainly because of the recent state tax commission action, which sliced off $5 million in equalized valuation within the city limits.

This would indicate, explained Supt. James McDowell, that the state group made an error five years ago when it assessed the city personal property at $25 million.

A three-mill increase would have a leveling effect within the eight taxation units, which comprise the Tecumseh school district.

Within the city, where there are approximately two-thirds of the district's pupils and assessed evaluation, if the three-mill increase goes into effect, about 66% of the school tax burden would rest in Tecumseh.

In the seven townships, from which the other one-third of the pupils and assessed valuations are, property owners have been contributing about 27% of the funds. With a three-mill increase, this will rise to about 33%.

Dollar-wise, this means a tax jump in rural areas of between $4.86 and $7.70 per thousand.

Mr. McDowell emphasized that in no case have school officials claimed that rural folks have not been paying their share. Rather, he went on, Tecumseh residents have been forced to pay more in proportion because of incorrect state equalized evaluation.

In dollars, the school system would lose $45,000 in tax revenue if the three mills are not added and at the same time it needs another $45,000 on top of this for new teachers. Thus, the three-mills would bring approximately the needed $90,000.

☆

THE CITY DUMP situation was brought up and Mayor H. H. Hanna explained it was costing the city $100 a week to operate it. That was why council awarded Herb Dillon the franchise to run the dump.

The cost now is borne by individuals who take Dillon's service or those who pay to enter the dump.

Several citizens expressed a hope that Adams Park, across from the city hall, would not become a site for the new post office. City attorney Jim Beardsley stated that the deal was not complete.

A member of the planning commisison, Mrs. Gale Fisher, stated that the city master plan will include 100 more acres of park areas in the community, bringing the total to 176.

Several folks complained about the present dog ordinance, which permits animals to be loose within 1,000 feet of their master's property. One visitor stated it should be changed to "on leash".

☆

TECUMSEH High School senior Paul Surratt opened the evening with a short talk, "What Democracy Means to Me."

The nine candidates for council were on hand and each expressed his qualifications, then helped answer questions.

The session started at 8 and lasted until 11, punctuated about 9:30 with coffee and cookies served by Kiwanians.

As one guest stated later, "This was democracy in action."

Signal Is Introduced This Year

Arrangements have been made by the committee for the Easter Sunrise service for a signal to warn those attending of a change of plans, if the weather is inclement.

All lights will be on at the Presbyterian Church if the service is to be held there rather than in the Hidden Lake Gardens.

In past years this has been a question at times and certainly the young people are to be congratulated on this step forward in the planning of the inspirational worship prepared by the youth of the various churches.

Bus transportation will be furnished leaving from N. Maiden Lane on the west side of the Presbyterian Church at 6 a.m.

Dr. Laszlo Gero will be the speaker for the early morning worship beginning at 6:30 a.m.

wee and Hillsdale Counties have selected volunteers and are prepared to raise their goal of $20,000.

This amount is needed for the Lenawee and Hillsdale Counties share of the budget for the new council, which will also include Jackson County.

Jackson's share of the total operating budget will be supported by Jackson County Community Chest.

The long awaited new council will provide Girl Scouting for 3,849 girls now registered and for 1,000 potential Scouts the first year.

Card Party Is Added to Show by Altar Society

A card party will be held in conjunction with the St. Elizabeth's Altar Society's fashion show April 27 at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Elmer Spreeman, chairman, reports that her committees are making progress toward the final plans for that evening.

Between each store's fashion showing will be entertaining skits recalling the eras of yesteryear.

This promises to be an evening of entertainment planned for the entire family.

Library Open House

"The public is cordially invited to attend Open House at the Tecumseh Public Library on Sunday, April 3, as the kick off of National Library Week," announced Mrs. Conrad Fosbender, librarian.

"The Library will be open from 3 to 6 p.m. to give people a chance to browse, borrow and ask questions about their library and to acquaint themselves with the services available."

Light refreshments will be served.

Other activities for the week include the first meeting of the discussion group on Tuesday evening, April 5, at 7:30 p.m. A fine-free day on Wednesday will give patrons a chance to return those overdue books.

Special displays will be featured downtown in the windows of Rushia's, Osborne's Department Store and Bea Ring's Gift Shop.

"During this National Library Week, take time to visit your Public Library," says Mrs. Fosbender.

70 Students, Teachers Hear Group Leader

About 70 students and teachers of the primary department of the First Baptist Church were in attendance Sunday when the superintendent, Mrs. Robert Grigg, spoke and displayed a chalk drawing of the head of Christ.

Plans have been made for flannelgraph presentations by Mrs. Francis Packard for the devotions preceding the class meetings for Palm and Easter Sundays. She will use the garden theme.

Twenty-seven children, 6, 7 and 8 year-olds, of the classes taught by Phyllis Honeycutt, Mrs. Harold Davidson, Barry and Mrs. Francis Packard enjoyed a party Saturday at the Youth House.

Richard Williams Wins State Farmer Degree

Richard started his farming career with two baby lambs when he was five years old.

He worked up to a flock of 35 breeding ewes, using culling practices every year.

Due to lack of pasture, he sold the sheep and bought three steers and three heifers.

This venture proved successful as he won first place with his heifer and was second in his class with his steer at the Lenawee County Fair in 1959.

He also increased the acreage of his crops of corn, oats and wheat every year.

Richard has held the office of sentinel and this year is the president of the Tecumseh chapter of the FFA.

He attended the state convention as a delegate, worked on demonstration teams and helped on other projects for the chapter.

Many that appear were vastly shortened. In addition, we ended up with a slug of pictures, which we'll hope to get in next week.

It's a milkman's life.

Art Teske, veteran Meadowridge Dairy deliveryman, always carries plenty of loose cash —not necessarily for making change when folks pay bills.

No, it's because Art has learned people seem forever in need of change in the early morning hours.

It seems the youngsters "just remembered" they needed 15c for some school project.

All dad has is a five-dollar bill (the capitalist) and then he spies the milk wagon. Art always comes through.

How Fleet Gets Precious Cargo

How the navy's Pacific fleet gets its mail each day was the theme of a movie shown by postmaster Jack Metcalf at last week's Rotary Club meeting.

Letters are flown or trained to the west coast, then taken by plane to Pacific bases. From there, the precious cargos are broken down by ships and usually helicoptered to them.

Mr. Metcalf was introduced by Joe Rice.

Dues Schedule OKed by Board of City Chamber

A graduated dues schedule for members of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce was approved by the board of directors Sunday evening.

The meeting, called by president Richard Eggleston, was specifically for the new dues schedule, which will go into effect for the Chambers' next fiscal year beginning July 1, 1960.

The ground-work and committee report was presented to the board by Dr. Robert Murray's committee, and included only the present membership of the Chamber.

A membership campaign is scheduled for late May according to Harvey Carpenter, membership chairman, who states that a campaign will be carried on which includes present and potential membership, and in all divisions of the chamber.

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce, now in its second year of operation, presently consists of a professional, retail and industrial division and committees.

Nominating Committee Named

About 75 were in attendance Wednesday evening for the family night at the First Baptist Church.

Following the dinner a business session was conducted by the minister, the Rev. Blair Bashore, and a nominating committee was elected.

year was raised from $2,500 to $3,000.

More than 40 attended the Lenten study meeting Sunday evening to conclude the book, "Members One of Another."

Next Sunday evening the meeting at 7:30 p.m. will be especially for the large class of people who are planning to become members of the church.

The Rev. Blair Bashore asked that all members and friends avail themselves of the opportunity to attend these meetings so that they may be informed as to the privileges and obligations of being a church member.

If you're going to buy a low price car...be sure you get the better one!

Many people figure that since the car they are considering has historically had a "low-price" name it must be, in fact, a low-price car.

This, at one time, was true. But today the names of cars, as you may know, have very little to do with their prices. Many cars with traditional low-price names cost more than Mercury—a name you have always associated with higher price cars. Our point is this:

A Mercury Monterey, with de luxe appointments, is now priced $31 to $66 less* than any of the best selling Fords, Chevrolets, and Plymouths (the V-8 powered Galaxies, Impalas, and Furys). Yet Mercury offers you far more of everything you want in a car.

Some new-car buyers are skeptical when we tell them this price story. Here are some of the questions they ask—and our answers:

Q. "Do you mean Mercury is now a low-price car? Did you reduce prices?"

A. "Yes. Monterey prices are now $174 lower, and include many extras that are now standard equipment."

Q. "But in your price comparison, aren't you talking about a 'stripped' Mercury—with rubber mats, plain interiors, no equipment, no glamour?"

A. "No, we're talking about a de luxe-appointed Monterey with beautiful nylon interior and deep, thick carpeting. The comparison is fair."

Q. "Do all Monterey models have as good a price story?"

A. "Yes, within a few dollars. It's the most amazing value story ever offered. Just read below."

MERCURY ADDS UP TO A BETTER LOW-PRICE CAR—Mercury has a 7 to 8 inch longer wheelbase than Galaxie, Impala, and Fury + 289 to 494 pounds more weight + up to 23% more insulation + more spacious passenger compartment + self-adjusting brakes + up to 28% more visibility + more luxurious interior + finer quality (every Mercury is road-tested before it is shipped, not just spot-checked as all other low-price cars) = Smoother ride, extra satisfaction.

Bake Sale Helps To Support Youth

Mrs. Sharon Henkel entertained 14 members of the Tri-Town Extension Club Monday evening.

Two guests, Mrs. LaRue Hart and Mrs. Ritchie Davis, were also present.

Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Duane Billmeyer gave a cosmetic demonstration and members made Easter favors for the hospital trays.

A bake sale was held by the group recently to pay for the support of the child of Kentung, Burma, which they have adopted.

The suport is $5 a month.

This little eight-year-old girl called Constantina has been adopted by the Tri-Town Extension Club through the Foster Parents Mission Club. She is living in an orphanage in Kentung, Burma after her father, an opium addict, died of starvation in the jungle. Her mother died only a few days after she and her three children were taken to the Catholic Mission. Constantina's two brothers are living in a male orphanage.

+ What Would We Say of The Third Person in Trinity ?

One of the fundamental beliefs of the Christian Faith is the Trinity: God The Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

Is asked to explain this aspect of our faith, "a person would quite readily describe the Father as Creator, Sustainer, and Lord of all of life.

He would speak of the Son as a person who was born, lived and died and who is Redeemer and Saviour. But what would we say of the Holy Spirit?

Perhaps, here we would pause and scratch our heads. This Sunday's sermon at the Presbyterian Church will be concerned with the Holy Spirit, and will be entitled, "A Gift of God."

It will consider the place of the Holy Spirit in our life and in our church, and will be the fourth in a series of sermons on the Apostles' Creed.

Communion will be served during the regular Sunday morning worship service.

A nursery-kindergarten training meeting for all superintendents and teachers on April 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the office.

The Rev. and Mrs. Gresham will meet with a Fellowship Group on Thursday, March 31 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gartee.

There will be a special Maundy Thursday Communion Service in the Fellowship Center April 14 at 8 p.m.

Presbyterian Church Circle meetings:

+ 'Miscreant Honors' Is Sermon Theme for Methodists

"The Chase of the Miscreant Honors" is the theme of the sermon which the Rev. James D. Nixon will preach at the Methodist Church this Sunday.

The Passion Sunday theme will be evident through the service in hymns, prayers and scripture.

Two Membership Classes under the direction of the pastor begin this Sunday. The high school membership class meets at 9 a.m. in the Pastor's Study. The Adult Class meets at 11:15 in the Sanctuary.

Both of these series will continue for the four Sundays in April," said Mr. Nixon. "Membership Sunday will be April 24, one week after Easter."

Church School is at 9 and 11:15 a.m. A nursery is provided during worship. Two Methodist Youth Fellowships meet at 5:30 and 6 p.m. on Sunday.

+ Adrian Minister Will Speak Here

Methodists will gather at 8 p.m. this Thursday with another guest speaker for their weekly Lenten Service.

The Rev. Dr. Oliver J. Collins will preach the sermon. Dr. Collins became the pastor of First Methodist Church in Adrian last June after a previous Michigan pastorate in Highland Park.

This will be his first appearance in Tecumseh.

Members of sister churches in the community are invited to be present for this 45-minute Lenten evening service.

+ Weariness

Overcoming of fatigue and weariness through entirely spiritual means will be a theme dealt with at Christian Science services this Sunday.

MARY SEAGER'S

With Tecumseh TEENS

Sponge Week was climaxed by the "Sponge Week Squeeze" held in the high school gymnasium Saturday night from nine to twelve.

The gym was beautifully decorated under the guidance of seniors Jane Crawford and Bob Dick, who were also responsible for the decorations at the Christmas Dance.

Four false ceilings were used — the top one was midnight blue, the next were pink and white and the fourth was yellow.

The tables were arranged on one side of the dance floor and covered in pink and white. Separating them from the floor was a curtain of sponges.

The throne for the King of Sponge Week was placed at the east end of the gymnasium. It was draped with shimmering white satin to lend a regal air to the proceedings.

Refreshments were served from tables near the entrance to the boys' locker room. The cookies and punch were extremely welcome.

☆

The second annual student council sponsored Variety Show was held Friday from eleven until twelve in the gymnasium.

Jon Aho again acted as master of ceremonies. Seven acts were presented by him to the massed student body.

The madrigal singers of the chorus were followed by a GAA skit. Janet Murphy danced next. John Perry followed with a reading. A group of seven girls performed as the next act.

☆

The Tecumseh High School Chorus did wonderfully at the District Chorus Competition in Jackson against twenty-three other schools from this area.

Congratulations to the chorus and Mr. Bennett.

☆

Mid-term exams will be held next week Monday and Tuesday. It's going to be hard to concentrate on studying now that the weather has turned warm.

☆

Graduation is approaching nearer and nearer for the seniors. Everyone has been measured for caps and gowns. Orders for announcements and name cards have been made and all of the money for the senior trip to Washington is due this week.

☆

All of our training with fire drills has paid off. Monday's fire in the shop produced absolutely no panic or fear among the students.

As a matter of fact, everyone thought everyone else was kidding when they said there was a fire until they saw the thick black smoke rolling out of the windows.

At last, the student body was sent back into the building because, as interested spectators, they were hindering the firefighting.

A/2c Lawrence E. Armstrong, stationed at Goose Air Force Base in Labrador is spending a 15 day leave with his wife Karen. At the end of his leave he will return to Labrador to complete his training.

McCoy & Powell Bowlers Score Tremendous 3,449

The pins were really flying at Airport Bowl in Tecumseh last Thursday evening as the powerful McCoy & Powell team racked up a tremendous 3,449 series.

This ranks as second highest team score in Michigan this season.

Then came Earl Cook, who punched out 256, 237 and 223 for 716.

Lloyd Esterline's 199, 247 and 199 totaled 645. Robert Calvin chipped in a 631 with games of 229, 206 and 196.

The McCoy & Powell output paced the evening's action which saw an even dozen 600s rolled.

Paul Snyder had a 658, which included a 266.

Bill Brown's 631 featured a 233.

Bill Koster's 617 was highlighted by a 227.

Eldson Walker turned in a 609 that included a 231.

Ed Goller and Dennis Goller both had 602s.

Two weeks ago, Ed Goleir shot a 748, the highest series of the year in the Adrian Bowling Association, which alternates its action between Tecumseh and Adrian.

His efforts included a 269, 242 and 237. This total topped Dutch Creger's previous high of 737.

The McCoy & Powell quintet will bowl in the ABC at Toledo on May 11 at 9 p.m. and then go for doubles and singles the next day at 3:30 p.m. Wendall Reum will bowl as the team's sixth man.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BRITTON — Notes to the editor:

Hi,

We stopped in Jacksonville, Saturday to see Dave Linn for a few days.

We had to write this to tell you that we read Dave's Tecumseh Herald today.

The local news means a lot to anyone like him away from home.

So keep up the good work.

See You

Dick Linn and Lowell Smith

√

Dear Frieda and Ali,

Think The Tecumseh Herald really paid you and Susie a fine tribute.

Archie and Helen were of course pleased by the election news. They left this morning after spending 18 days in St. Pete.

Here are a couple items that should be of interest to people of the community.

Mrs. Jerry Coffee of Tecumseh flew to St. Petersburg, Florida last week and joined her parents Mr. and Mrs. Archie Spohr.

The Spors and Mrs. Coffee were guests of the Fred M. Fischers formally of Britton Sunday.

Nancy, Cindy and Bobby Coffee spent the week with their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller of Britton while their mother was in the Sunny South.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McClarron of St. Henry, Ohio spent the weekend in St. Petersburg, visiting with the Fischers.

The many friends of the McClarnons of this area will remember "Mac" as Sales Manager of the New Idea Farm Equipment Co. of Coldwater, Ohio.

COMPANY WITH REAL PERSONAL INTEREST IN TECUMSEH

The Michigan Mutual Liability Company of Detroit, represented by the Elmer Eberhardt agency, has a more personal tie to this community than is usually associated with large and successful companies. Mr. H. John Lowry, president of the company, was born in Tecumseh and was graduated from Tecumseh High School. After attending the University of Michigan and serving in the Navy during World War I he began his business career in the Lilley State Bank which occupied the offices where the Eberhardt Agency is now located. It was while employed by the Lilley State Bank that P.W.A. Fitzsimmons, director of the bank and president of the Michigan Mutual Liability Company, became interested in Mr. Lowry and took him into his company. Mr. Lowry advanced in position as the company grew and became president in 1958.

H. JOHN LOWRY

A recent issue of the Michigan Manufacturer and Financial Record gave special recognition to Mr. Lowry, his Company, his prominence in the casualty insurance field and activities in civic and charitable organizations. The Eberhardt Agency is proud to represent the Michigan Mutual Liability Company.

More Wear From Prints

By ROYAL WELCH

Another springtime phenomenon—prints.

The most important thing to consider here is whether or not the print is color fast. If it isn't you're in for trouble.

THE BEST PRECAUTION — AND ONE THAT "WORKS" 100% OF THE TIME—IS TO ASK FOR FABRICS WHICH ARE GUARANTEED COLOR FAST.

And that ends your trouble. You then buy a print which is color fast, use reasonable precaution with it, and everybody is happy.

Printed jersey was, and may still at times be, fugitive. While many printed jerseys are fine, now and then you run into one which is not. So you'd be wise to be cautious.

Nylon print is sometimes found which may not be serviceable. Here again perhaps the best recommendation we can make is that you check to be sure when you buy that the fabric is color fast.

Uncured prints. In general, the whole subject of prints could be summarized under this one heading. Almost any printed fabric can stand ordinary cleaning procedures, if the dyes have been properly "fixed". Again, the best recommendation is: ASK QUESTIONS — LOOK AT THE LABELS. Prints that are color fast will be so described; those that are not won't be guaranteed fast.

Through My Window

COME ON, STAND UP AND—

Oh, of course I wasn't asking for a fight. I only wanted him to hop to the center of the feeder, stand up and pose.

Who was the reluctant model? A cute little song sparrow.

It happened quite a few weeks ago. It was a lovely morning, crisp and clear; the sun was bright and it looked warm but the thermometer contradicted this — the night before a light dusting of snow had fallen.

A gorgeous morning, it just had to be a good bird day.

The feeder was piled high, corn, scratch feed and, as a special treat, a full sun-flower head.

By mid-morning we had enjoyed much bird business—the feeders had been every bit as busy as we had expected.

Cardinals, chic-a-dees and tufted titmice had breakfasted on the sun-flower seeds; squirrels had divided their time between the seeds and the corn, juncos and the great nuisances of the feeders, English sparrows, satisfied their appetites at the piles of scratch feed.

Oh yes, suet was available too —wood-peckers and the up-side down nuthatches had been busy at this.

☆

WITH SO much going on it, had been a most exciting morning.

My camera, aimed at the big feeder, had been bang, bang, banging away.

All of a sudden I realized that the morning was only half over, quite conceivably there would be much more going on out there and I had only two exposures left on the film.

I quickly decided to save those for something special—from sad experience I know how frustrating it is to use the last picture on a film for something that will probably be back tomorrow and then have a once-in-a-season visitor come in range.

After about an hour my will power was worn to practically nothing.

As the old faithfuls keps coming back for more they seemed to just beg to have their pictures taken; always good models, this morning they seemed to out-do themselves.

Never had the squirrels been so cute nor the birds so pretty.

I was about to give in, after all why save film for something which probably wouldn't happen, when it did.

☆

A SONG sparrow flew up to the feeder. What a thrill. The song sparrow is a great favorite, unfortunately he prefers the ground to the tray so most of our looks at him are not as close as we would like.

He is a wonderful little bird, totally unlike the common sparrows.

He is dapper looking, heavily stripped with a very noticeable black dot at the base of his throat. Very pretty, he is most desirable.

How fortunate that I had not used all the films—we had not often had a chance to take the little song sparrow's picture.

Now, however, came the really nerve-racking time.

The bird was on the feeder and apparently enjoying it very much, but he was on the edge and right in back of the ear of corn.

In a picture he wouldn't have shown up at all.

For 20, agonizingly, long minutes we waited.

If only he would hop to the center of the feeder—perfect; if, however, he finished his breakfast and flew away—nothing.

At last he made his move, the suspense was over.

Like the most obliging model we have ever had right to the center of the feeder he went—he could not have hopped into better position had he been rehearsed.

One, two—the pictures were taken, the rolls of film finished; it had been quite a morning.

P. S. The pictures turned out well.

Attorney Tells Need for Wills

Tecumseh Attorney James McKenna discussed the importance of making a will at the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club's meeting Thursday night.

Two of the common misconceptions the public holds in regards to wills were discussed, and it was pointed out by Mr. McKenna that probation of the will and the minimal costs involved are necessary and required in each case.

The costs of such procedure is usually only a small percentage of the gross of the will, such a small amount that the advantages of having a will markedly overbalance this.

"Every person should have a will and keep it up to date" Mr. McKenna went on, explaining the laws governing disposition and distribution of personal properties.

He also mentioned the often involved family problems ensuing after death of any person if a will has not been executed directing the desires of the person after his death.

Dr. Richard Coak, in a bid for the "Rabbit Get the Habit" program, carried home the Kiwanis Bunny, having lost in a vie for last week's absenteeism with Jim Hoffman.

President John Pobuda announced plans of several members to participate in the divisional meeting to be held at Adrian March 30.

Lao-Tse (604-518 B.C.) said:

"OF ALL DANGERS THE GREATEST IS TO THINK LIGHTLY OF THE FOE"

Constantly about us are countless numbers of germs and virus awaiting the opportunity to attack our body. Some unknown blind instinct urges them to multiply. If this increase is not stopped life is endangered.

Fortunately we now have potent antibotics and sulfa compounds. If taken before these germs and virus have had sufficient time to weaken the body's resistance, a cure usually results. Therefore, it is extremely important that, at the very first symptoms of any ailment, a physician be consulted. It is dangerous to treat any sickness carelessly.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Express Our Confidence

Growing up is a hard thing to do. Always has been. Sometimes, while reading reports about youngsters in deep trouble, we've thought the process must be getting harder than ever.

Surely the pressures are greater, the pace faster but have basic values really changed so much since we graduated from the bubble-gum set? We think most adults and at least 90% of our youngsters still care about old-fashioned virtues like honesty, fairness and self-reliance.

This week we all have a chance to prove our ideas are as modern as launching pads, as contemporary as rocket fuel.

This is the week the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council, to which Tecumseh belongs, begins its fund-raising campaign. By contributing to this campaign we can express our confidence and belief in the future of our community, our country, our world.

Every day the Girl Scouts re-affirm enduring ideals by helping more and more of our girls to grow into the happy, healthy, responsible women.

They Want the Facts

Seven persons have been working for several months with deep concentration for all of us in the Tecumseh area.

They are members of FACT — Foundation Advisory Committee of Tecumseh — which is attempting to bring into sharp focus the needs of our community. The group reports directly to trustees of the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation.

A canvas of the entire area is next on the agenda and when this is complete, FACT will be ready to make a full report.

Their main effort is to learn what the majority of more than 10,000 folks want and in what order. This is a momentous undertaking and is going to require long hours getting the information and more time in tabulating the results.

There seems to be absolutely no reason why each of us should not be most willing —even eager—to cooperate.

So, it's full speed ahead for FACT.

The engagement of Mary Lou Perry to Aviation Cadet Darrell A Lowery is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Perry of 714 River Acres Drice. Cadet Lowery is the son of Mrs. Sarah Lowery and the late Virgil Lowery of Holloway. He is stationed at Spence Air Force Base in Moultrie, Ga. No date has been set for the wedding.

TO THE EDITORS:

Upon my return from a short vacation in Florida, I noted your article on "Cover Guy" which appeared in your issue of Thursday, March 3.

I have received many comments on the article appearing in the Michigan Manufacturer and Financial Record, but perhaps none that pleased me more than your article appearing in the home town newspaper.

Tecumseh was only a small town when I lived there, but it always had a lot of steam, in fact, it was referred to as the "biggest little town on earth," and now it has become a city, and I might add, with well edited newspaper coverage.

Unfortunately the many demands on my time are such that I cannot visit my old friends except occasionally to call upon my sister, Margaret, but there will always be a warm spot in my heart and affection for my old home town.

Thanks for your comments, they were much appreciated.

Sincerely yours,
H. John Lowry
President

Now we will be going home to Macon next week so beginning with the copy for March 10, please send it to Route 1, Clinton, Michigan.

Yours Truly,
Mrs. Herman Schanz,

CHEVROLET

Out near Wathena, Kansas, farmer Milt Roundy tends 800 acres with only one helper—his 1960 Chevrolet pickup. The truck almost never runs on Kansas's fine state highways—instead it averages about 2,500 miles a month on unimproved back-country trails or on hauls into the fields, off the road. "In my book, these are the worst roads in the world," Mr. Roundy says, "but this new Chevy takes all the roughness out. It doesn't fishtail or whip around like other trucks — I can steer it with one finger!"

They're speaking right up, these owners of '60 Chevrolets. Everywhere you go, they're giving out glowing reports on a revolutionary new truck ride that leads to a bigger day's work at less expense; praising truck power that knows the most about saving money.

It's Chevy's total newness they're talking about. And you'll be talking, too, once you turn a new Chevrolet loose on your money runs. Your dealer can get you started, right away!

LENAWEE COUNTY'S LARGEST WEEKLY

VOL. 109 — ONE HUNDRED TENTH YEAR — NUMBER 25 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, APRIL 7, 1960 16 PAGES — TEN CENTS A COPY

Long & Short

By TOM RIORDAN

All right, you amateur photographers, it's spring so gather up your camera gear and be in the basement of the Tecumseh library Thursday evening at 7:30.

All shutter bugs are welcome.

The initial session will be to determine what is going to be covered in following weeks.

Mainly, we'll probably talk about composition, keeping backgrounds uncluttered, high and low angles — in other words, getting the most fun out of the family camera.

☆

This is the story of a Tecumseh school band clarinet.

In order, its users are:

Each student has his own mouth piece and reed.

Seems like a pretty swell arrangement, eh? Getting the maximum use out of this clarinet?

Actually, this is far from satisfactory. First of all, there is the home practice angle. Obviously not all three can take the horn home any evening he chooses or over the weekend.

Then when the eighth and seventh grade bands play in combination, the low man on the priority totem pole has to stand and watch.

That's why the band is interested in buying used instruments. If you have one you'd like to sell, please contact Mr. Johnson by calling 800 or 344-M.

☆

Adams Park has popped into the news lately.

This has prompted Tecumseh historian Clara Waldron to do a piece about the local plot. It appears on the last page, second section, accompanied by a picture.

"May I please tell your readers a short, personal story? One Sunday afternoon in summer, I was to meet friends in an eastern state.

"From the map we chose a charming name, one we were sure would have a park where I could wait in comfort.

"It proved to be a pleasant enough town, but the only place open to strangers was a lunch counter in a cigar store.

"I walked the streets until curious stares became suspicious, then spent the remaining time sitting on a granite slab in the cemetery.

"During that hot afternoon I assessed my home town. Could Tecumseh offer anything better? Yes, at least there was Adams Park.

"It was not as attractive as it could be, of course, but it was a shady place to rest. It is now the one and only place where the town offers a welcome to the traveler.

"The statement that "it is not used" is simply not true. There are many motorists who are not rushing on to the next Duncan Hines and many residents of Tecumseh who do not have access to the Country Club."

A flock of about 75 Canadian geese stopped over in Tecumseh's Red Mill Pond last week for three days on their way north.

The big fellows, which weigh almost 20 pounds each and have a wing span of nearly five feet, spent the time resting up, fishing and lolling around.

On Wednesday, the flock moved out.

Mrs. Walter did some researching on the birds and tells us they migrate all the way from the Prarie States to the Yukon. Many don't go that entire route, some spend the winter in Indiana and Illinois.

This is the first time that geese have made Tecumseh a stopping-over point. Last fall the Pond played host to some Whistling Swans for the first time. Maybe our town is becoming known on the bird circuit as a good place to rest and fish.

☆

Five were elms, victims of Dutch Elm.

Bert Sanders of Owosso, who bosses the crew from Shade Tree Service that is contracted by General Telephone to trim and top trees which interfere with phone lines, tells about Dutch Elm, which is a virus.

It first came to America in lumber brought here from Holland for furniture building. Beetles serve as the carriers.

The disease comes and goes, Mr. Sanders states, and there doesn't seem to be any definite pattern.

Our hope is that it just doesn't come to Tecumseh too often.

Even the venerable old Detroit News can make a mistake — we're almost pleased to announce (after having to put out that extra last week).

In The News writing contest, Mary Vincent Seager won a key award for an original television script.

However, through a mixup someone got credit for her work and when the winners were announced, Mary wasn't among them.

The error was caught and Mary so notified. This, incidentally, washer third key award in News competition.

A sale of 50-star flags will be held in Tecumseh April 18 and 19.

Every home in the community will be visited by members of the city's four service clubs — Rotary, Kiwanis, Exchange and Jaycees.

The flags they'll sell will come in a kit, including bracket, staff and ball for head of the staff.

Price is $4.50 with half down. The bunting will be delivered in the later part of May.

This sale follows the theme of making Tecumseh the "City of Flags." Already ordered are special flags and brackets which will turn Chicago Blvd., along business row, into an "Avenue of Flags."

Husky Thief Lifts $500 in Silver

A thief in Tecumseh Thursday night displayed two talents:

1. Split-second timing.
2. Strength.

The yegg hoisted nearly $500 from a cigarette vendor's truck as it was parked in front of the Eagles Hall.

Nick Defiore of Monroe, who operates the cigarette route, was in the Eagles reloading its machine.

His truck was locked, but the window apparently partially rolled down. Sitting in the front seat was a bucket of silver change, containing nearly $500.

The luckless vendorman told Tecumseh police it must have weighed nearly 100 pounds, so the thief needed to put on a muscle act as well as split-second timing during the brief minutes the truck was left unattended.

State police dusted the truck for fingerprints.

Softball Managers Will hold Session

A meeting of all team managers interested in playing in the Tecumseh City League are asked to attend an organizational meeting Wednesday, April 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school coaches office.

Duncan Lectka, who will again serve as summer recreation director, says that several Adrian units and one from Manchester have evidenced an interest in playing in the Tecumseh loop.

Action last season was on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and the same days will probably again be used.

Voters Return Trio, Bring In 2 Newcomers

Voters returned three incumbent candidates for new terms on city council and added two new faces.

Harold Easton, H. H. Hanna and Art Schwartz all won re-election.

Carl Lamb and Royal Welch, both businessmen, were chosen for their first terms.

The other newcomer, Welch, operates a dry cleaning establishment. He edged Bill Frownfelder by only two votes.

Last winter, with more issues at stake, the election attracted 1,107 and the 1958 strictly council race drew only 537.

Besides Frownfelder, others finishing out of the money were Fred Nash, Oscar Meads and Clayton Greenwald.

Complete Tabulation

	Pct. 1	2 & 3	Total
Easton	201	481	682
Lamb	177	424	601
Schwartz	180	411	591
Hanna	167	378	545
Frownfelder	143	387	530
Greenwald	131	269	400
Nash	97	206	303
Meads	91	201	292

The newly-elected councilmen will be sworn in Monday. An organizational meeting will follow, during which time they and fellow members, John Hamilton and George McCombs, will select the city's mayor.

Senior High School Band Presenting Concert Friday

The senior high school band with their director, Don Johnson, have arranged a concert to be presented Friday evening at 8 p.m. in the gym.

Featured among the musical numbers will be a trio "Trombrero" played by three high school teachers, Carl Beattie, James Hoffman and Ray Sommers.

A guest conductor will also be included on the program. His name was not available as the paper went to press.

Several familiar numbers including "Waltz King" by Strauss, "Desert Song" by Romberg, "Estrellita" and the "All Sports March", played by the band at the county festival, will be heard on the program.

Interspersing the numbers, Valicia Antrobus and Janet Murphy, will present tap dances and, Charles Baird will go into his "Charlie Weaver" stunt for the pleasure of those attending.

An effort is being made by the band to raise funds for some much needed instruments through the concert.

Volunteers Closing $20,000 Scout Drive

A team of volunteers is currently winding up the drive to raise $20,000 in Lenawee and Hillsdals Counties for the new Irish Hills Girl Scount Council.

Under the guidance of general chairman Joe Fortunato, of the Tecumseh Products Co. personnel department, the campaign opened last Friday and will be concluded this weekend.

In Tecumseh, chairman Fred Dickinson's workers have canvased business and industry and are now busy with door-to-door solicitations.

Total yearly budget for the new Council will be $43,000. Gifts made in the current $20,000-drive will help account for Lenawee and Hillsdale Counties' share.

Jackson County, the third segment of the Council, already has its portion in the form of a grant from the Jackson Community Chest.

Beginning next year, both Lenawee and Hillsdale will follow a similar procedure, falling under community chest and united fund drives.

Up until now, Girl Scouting in Tecumseh has been on a "lone troop" basis. Leaders working more or less on their own. There were no camping facilities.

Under the Irish Hills Council plan, the scope of the program for Tecumseh area girls will be greatly broadened, including full use of Camp of the Hills at Wamplers Lake.

There will also be full-time regional and national guidance programs.

If you are not contacted for a donation, please call Mr. Dickinson, 217-J.

FACT Getting Ideas

Ideas are rolling into the FACT committee.

This is the group, which was appointed by the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation to determine the needs of the area in the way of public buildings.

FACT, through advertisements, has asked area citizens what they feel should be done first with surplus funds which have and will build up from annual charity drives.

At present, the Foundation has a bank balance of about $85,000, which is earmarked for public facilities.

As FACT pointed out in its advertising, there have already been suggestions made in recent months.

Included are:

Auditorium and civic center.
Club meeting rooms.
Artificial ice skating rink.
Improved library facilities.
New parks.
Professional theatre.
Recreation rooms.
Improved swimming facilities.
Youth center.

FACT has opened the door for other ideas, which can be made simply by sending them to Box FACT, Tecumseh. The one who submits a suggestion may or maynot sign his or her name.

In addition to this method, FACT will also conduct a canvas of the city with members of the Hospital Auxiliary doing the door-to-door checking.

"It shall be the purpose of the Foundation Advisory Committee of Tecumseh to use whatever means that seem advisable to discover the majority desire of the community as to what project should be undertaken by the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation and to report to its board of trustees."

Facilities, Not Promises, Is What Industry Wants, Municipal League Told

Facilities, not promises, is what an industry needs when it considers moving to a new location.

That's what Bill Bott, manager of the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce, told 124 city officials in Tecumseh last week.

They were guests at the annual Region II, Michigan Municipal League meeting held at the Country Club.

Mr. Bott stated that attracting new industry to a community is not solely a matter for a city's Chamber or local government, but for everyone within the town.

He was one of several guest speakers.

1. A good business climate.
2. Progressive community.
3. Honest and efficient government.
4. Good services and facilities.
5. Good working relationship between community and industry.
6. Social and cultural atmosphere.

He added that on the other side of the coin, industry should cooperate with the city in its activities.

Mr. Coates filled in for R. W. Herrick, who was unable to appear because of illness.

☆

IN THE AREA of municipal financing a Detroit attorney, Stratton S. Brown explained the use of special assessments to improve downtown areas.

He explained that in Kalamazoo, where the mall was installed; Ypsilanti and Royal Oak, which added off-street parking; property owners and merchants were assessed to help handle costs.

Among new officers for Region II, which covers seven counties, Dr. Lawrence Frost, Monroe mayor, was named chairman and Robert Oweller, mayor of Hudson, vice-chairman.

It was urged that parents use discretion about their children's use of TV as well as their own.

Announcement was made of a workshop to be held in Coldwater April 30 and the spring banquet to be held at Rock Inn May 16. Punch will be served at 6 p.m. and dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Husbands and friends will be guests and reservations are to be made with Mrs. William C. Gilkey of Adrian.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editors:

At a recent meeting of the American Association of University Women in Adrian there was a most revealing discussion on Mass Media.

Report of the meeting next day in a county daily paper did not mention actual points brought out during the discussion. I believe these should have taken precedence over "table setting, flower arrangments and who poured, etc."

With this in mind I'd like to jot down some of the salient points.

Based on the discussion, it was evident that educated and discriminating people watch TV less than the average.

When they do watch it, they view it primarily for entertainment and recreation, rather than for education.

The discussion brought out a number of points which "T-Viewers" should consider seriously.

One result of youngsters being allowed to watch TV too much, is that their developing imaginations are thwarted in constructive ways and at the same time stimulated frequently in unwholesome ways.

Children get to depend on visual aid, which causes them to lose interest in book reading — where imagination plays an important role in interpreting what is read.

Of course, time spent watching TV excludes healthful outdoor exercise and prevents children from creative activities — both so vital to development into healthy mature adulthood.

The fact of the crookedness throughout TV, including deceptive and often false advertising, can not help but be bad influence on growing minds.

It is time for parents to use discretion about their children's, as well as their own use of TV, because the increasing dependence on TV may well lead our civilization into decadence.

Strong words! But probably not nearly effective enough to control TV "addiction".

Union Good Friday Service

Members of eight Tecumseh churches will join for the traditional Union Good Friday Service again this year.

As always, it is arranged by the Ministerial Association, the place changing from year to year.

The Tre Ore Service, based on the Seven Last Words, will cover the hours from noon to three o'clock, the period our Lord spent upon the cross.

Meditations on the word of Jesus from the cross will be given by The Reverends Laszlo Gero, Julian Gresham, James D. Nixon, Blair O. Bashore, Don L. MacPherson and Paul Brantingham.

The choir of the Friends Church will sing an anthem and a vocal number will be offered by members of a Methodist choir.

The offering will be used in the Lenawee County Migrant Ministry, which offers religious services among migrant workers during the summer.

All across the country majors will be issuing proclamations calling upon citizens to mark these three hours with solemnity and worship. Employers are urged to excuse persons from work to attend Tre Ore services.

"It is requested by the Ministerial Association that stores remain closed from noon to three o'clock on Good Friday," said the Rev. James D. Nixon, president.

"For those who cannot remain throughout the service, there will be brief interludes during the service for those who would leave or enter," said the Rev. Mr. Brantingham, host pastor.

Another "union" service will be the Easter Sunrise Service at 6:30 a.m. at Hiddens Lake Gardens, planned by the youth of our churches.

The High School chorus will sing and the Rev. Dr. Laszlo Gero will give a brief sermon. Buses will leave the corner of W. Chicago Blvd. and Maiden Lane. In case of bad weather, the sunrise will be held in the Presbyterian Church.

Jehovah's Witness Observe Sunday as Sacred Day

The anniversary of the death of Christ will be observed Sunday, by Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world, announced Kenneth Ball, presiding minister of the Tecumseh congregation.

The local observance will be held at Kingdom Hall, 2750 E. Monroe Road, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

"This date", explained Mr. Ball, "corresponds to the 14th day of the first month of the Bible's sacred calendar known as Nisan. On that night Jesus commanded his followers to hold the sacred evening meal or supper that he then set up, to remind them each year of his laying down his earthly body and shedding his blood for us.

"In response to that command Jehovah's Witnesses, once each year, hold a fitting celebration using symbolic bread and wine," he said.

The public is invited.

No other day in the year is held sacred by Jehovah's Witnesses. It is the only day to which they attach religious significance.

Because of this important event the usual Sunday Watchtower Bible study will be conducted one day earlier, Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Baby Dedication Will Be Sunday in Friends Church

Worshippers at the Tecumseh Friends Church 10 a.m. Palm Sunday service will witness the baby dedication.

There will be special music by the Adult Choir entitled "Ride On in Majesty". Rev. Paul Brantingham will speak on "King Jesus".

The 6:30 p.m. junior and senior Friends Youth Fellowship groups meet under the leadership of Walter Weimer,, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Kilbourn, Mrs. Clifford McClure and Dick Richardson.

In the 7:30 p.m. service, Mrs. Clarence Randolph will lead in the singspiration. Mrs. William Leyrer of Canton, O. the former Sharron Muhn, will sing.

Dan Austin, a chalk artist, will bring an illustrated message. Dick Richardson will speak relative to God's leading in his life.

Methodist Church Holding Morning Services at 7

Three different forms of worship will be shared by Methodists during Holy Week, beginning next Monday.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings there will be a service from 7:00 to 7:30 a.m.

"We will follow John Wesley's Order for Morning Prayer, without the use of music," said the Rev. James D. Nixon, pastor.

"The time of service will allow those on their way to school to begin these special days with worship, along with many others."

On Maundy Thursday, April 14, there will be a service of Holy Communion at 8 p.m. The Asbury Choir will sing an anthem and the pastor's sermon will be on the theme "The Grace of the Misused Bread."

On Good Friday, Methodists will join others in the Union Good Friday Service at the Friends Church, from noon to three o'clock.

On Holy Saturday the Methodist Church will be open, as it is daily, for private prayer in the sanctuary.

Ridgeway Pastor Selects Theme

The Rev. Fred Belleville of the Ridgeway Church of the Nazarene announced that the subject of his sermon Palm Sunday would be "The Triumphal Entry."

The choir will sing the anthem, "Crown Him."

The morning worship will begin at 11 a.m. and the Sunday School hour at 10 a.m.

Ruth Matchett, missionary on furlough from Eastern Transval, Africa, will be the guest speaker for the evangelist hour at 7:45 in the evening.

The choir special will be "Blessed Redeemer."

Sermon Series Continues Sunday for Methodists

The service of worship at the Methodist Church on Palm Sunday at 10 a.m. will be marked by the appearance of three choirs, the sacrament of Christian Baptism and Confirmation.

The pastor's sermon will be the second in a series from the Lord's Prayer.

The Rev. James D. Nixon announced that his theme will be "The Case of the Misspelled Pronoun."

Those being confirmed and joining the church are Pamela Dade, Marilyn Dick, Jerry Hale, Diann Hoch, Steven Hunt, James Lawson, Kirk Lucas, Nancy Mead, Mac Meyer, and Charles Trickey.

In addition to protracted training, this group has visited the Methodist Children's Village in Detroit and the headquarters of the Michigan Christian Advocate, the state weekly denominational paper in Adrian.

The Youth Membership Class meets Sundays at 9 a.m. in the Pastor's Study, and the Adult Class is at 11:15 in the sanctuary. Church School is at 9 a.m. and 11:15. A nursery is provided during worship.

Blissfield Guest To Speak Thursday

When Methodists join for the weekly Lenten service this Thursday at 8 p.m., they will hear their fifth and final guest Lenten preacher.

He will be the Rev. Charles Cookingham, pastor of the Methodist Church in Blissfield.

"A unique feature has been our use of a spoken Canticle of Praise in place of a second hymn," said the Rev. James D. Nixon, pastor.

Mr. Cookingham, ordained in 1938, was appointed to the Blissfield Church last June. He had previously served in Highland Park, Calumet, Stambaugh, Forest and associate at First Methodist Church in Fort Wayne, Ind.

The Asbury Choir will sing an anthem in this service. The Irene Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service will provide the ushering and welcomers at the door.

"Members of our sister churches are cordially invited to share in this service," said the pastor.

Coffee Hour Will Follow Worship for Presbyterians

There will be a coffee hour in the Fellowship Center of the First Presbyterian Church this Sunday, immediately following the morning worship service. All members and friends are invited to attend.

Schedule for Lenten Prayer Groups:

Wednesday, April 13 — 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Lynn Cook.

Wednesday, April 13 — 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Al Helzerman.

Thursday, April 14 — 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Iva Marsh.

The Rev. and Mrs. Gresham will meet with the following Fellowship Groups this coming week:

Monday, April 11 — at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Dustin.

Wednesday, April 13 — at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williamson.

There will be a Maundy Thursday Communion Service in the Fellowship Center of the First Presbyterian Church at 8 p.m. on Thursday, April 14. A nursery will be provided for the youngsters.

Since the Maundy Thursday Communion Service comes on the same night as the regular Session meeting, the Session meeting will be held at 9:30 p.m., or immediately following the Communion Service.

Presbyterians Hear 5th in Series

The sermon this Sunday at the Presbyterian Church will be the fifth in a series on the Apostles' Creed.

Entitled "A Return from Exile," it will be concerned with the meaning of forgiveness and will be based on a story from the Old Testament, II Samuel 14:1-21, from the life of David and Absalom.

Universal Harmony

How God's goodness and allness establishes the basis for universal harmony will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science services.

Realtors Seek Government Economy

The Lenawee County Board of Realtors has announced that it will launch a local campaign for governmental efficiency and economy.

"We are joining with our National Association of Real Estate Boards in a crusade for fiscal responsibility in government," explained Noel Francoeur, board president.

The nationwide campaign sponsored by NAREB seeks a reduction of 5% per capita in expenditures at all levels.

"Through our local drive realtors will cooperate with public officials in a search for ways to save taxpayers' money without curtailing essential services," Mr. Francoeur declared.

"We want to sit down with local officials and lawmakers in a dedicated effort to help achieve necessary economies. We believe our campaign will demonstrate the growing grass roots demand for limitations on government spendings," the Realtor leader added.

Mr. Francoeur said he will appoint a local governmental efficiency and economy committee of realtors to meet with budget and other officials interested in curtailing expenditures.

"For years now we have seen taxes rise enormously. We know that these taxes cannot be cut back without corersponding reductions in spending. Our efficiency and economy drive is an effort to do something in our area about this serious local, state and national problem," he said.

+ Blessing of Palms at St. Peter's

The solemn events of Holy Week will be inaugurated with the Palm Sunday services at 8 and 11 a.m. at St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

The service of "Blessings of the Palms" and the traditional procession will preceed the service of Holy Communion.

The choir and the church school children will carry palm branches as the people did when Christ entered Jerusalem.

At the knocking on the door of the church by the crucifer the choir and the congregation will begin the singing of "All Glory, Laud and Honor."

A daily celebration of the Holy Eucharist will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with Maundy Thursday as a parish-wide day of prayer.

The Institution of the Eucharist will be commemorated on Maundy Thursday evening, the night of the Last Supper, with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Good Friday services at St. Peter's will be held from noon to 3 p.m. with the Way of the Cross being held in the evening.

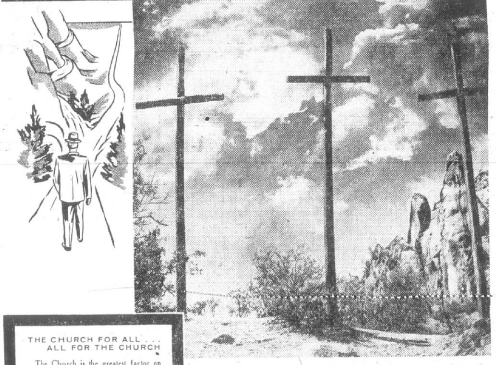
FOR ALL WE HOLD SACRED
. . . ATTEND CHURCH!
ON A DESOLATE HILL



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	John	10	22-42
Monday	John	20	1-23
Tuesday	Psalms	102	1-12
Wednesday	Matthew	11	22-33
Thursday	Psalms	119	169-176
Friday	John	13	31-38
Saturday	Luke	24	13-53

It is not strange that someone chose this lonely spot to erect a reverent memorial. It was on a desolate hill that three crosses stood many centuries ago . . . the Cross of the Saviour . . . and of the penitent . . . and of the scoffer.

Always these crosses have seemed to belong to the desolate hills of life. When a man feels the crushing burden of worldly care upon him, when he trudges the steep trail lost and alone — then, either he will claim the Love and Strength of Christ as did the penitent, or like the scoffer he will let his unbelief destroy his soul.

But no man should wait for a time of desolation to make life's most joyous decision. It can be made today . . . and sealed with years of happy service in the church of one's choice.

Cotton For Springtime

By ROYAL WELCH

Spring is hers. That means cottons.

Cotton is found in more garments than is generally supposed. Many "wool" garments contain varying percentages of cotton admixtures. And then oordurors, piques, moires, and gabardines, as well as many other types of fabrics are often all or part cotton.

While these fabrics do lend themselves to dry cleaning, they must at some time during the life of the garment be "wet cleaned". (Cleaned with enough moisture to remove the soil). Naturally, if the "combination" fabric is one which is liable to shrinkage or some other harmful effect as a result of moisture, the utmost precautions must be observed.

And then so many cotton garments are dyed — both as prints and solid colors — and a lot of care must be exercised not to loosen dyes during the cleaning process.

On launderable garments most women have sufficient experience not to have trouble. They know that it's always a good practice to test a printed or dyed fabric—whether cotton or something else—for color fastness by wetting a small piece of a seam and pressing it against white blotter or cloth. If the garment is not color fast, better let us do it for you.

But on the dry cleanable items, why not let us recommend to you when it should be "wet cleaned". The combination of frequent dry cleaning, with an occasional "wet cleaning" can keep it beautiful much longer.

Finally, it's spring time . . . it's cotton time . . . it's time to bring them to Welch Cleaners.

St. Elizabeth NEWSETTES

By DONNA WAGNER

The annual Science Fair will be held in the last week of April. Pupils will exhibit experiments and nature collections they have completed.

√

For a group of children, Holy Thursday will be a memorable day.

These children will receive Holy Communion for the first time.

The practice of receiving First Holy Communion on Holy Thursday is considerably new in St. Elizabeth's.

The reason that the youngsters will receive their first Communion Holy Thursday is that day is the anniversary of the Last Supper.

On that day the 12 apostles received Communion for the first time.

St. Elizabeth's School sent a total of 14 pounds of stamps to the Resurrectionist Seminarians in St. Louis Missouri.

A stamp drive started at the beginning of the school year and ended the first of April.

√

The second graders have started to make an Easter egg tree.

√

Classes will be dismissed for the Easter holidays on April 13, resuming one week later, April 20.

Census Officials Ask Householders To Mail in Forms

Census officials urge area residents who have received "sample" questionnaires to fill out the forms and mail them promptly to the district office at 109 Francis St. in Jackson.

The sample questionnaires, printed on blue paper, were left at every fourth household during the first stage of the census, which is now in progress.

These questionnaires contained the detailed population and housing questions which are asked of a 25% of the population.

By using only a sample of the population, the Census Bureau is able to collect important information about the nation's people at a fraction of the cost of a complete canvass.

The success of the Census depends upon the cooperation of local residents in filling out these forms and mailing them promptly.

All information furnished to the Census Bureau is kept in strict confidence under Federal Law and cannot be used for taxation, regulation, or investigation.

Here's Why It Would Seem Folks See Double In School

By FREIDA ROWLANDS

BRITTON — Is it any wonder the teachers and pupils of Britton-Macon School sometimes think they are seeing double?

There's good reason, what with seven sets of twins currently attending classes. In a school of this size, that's some sort of record — especially with two sets in one family.

Here's a rundown (following the way they stand in the picture) of Britton's twosomes:

Linda Lee and Laura Jean Bush are the 10-year-old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bush, 176 Osborne St.

Laura has worn glasses for some time and when their 5th grade teacher, Thomas Whitehead, was informed that Linda also would be wearing them he said "Oh no, how am I going to tell them apart now?"

Rodney Dean and Roger Dale Belt are in Mrs. Mildred Casteel's first grade. They are six-years of age and the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Belt, 139 Britton Rd., who also are parents of a second set of twins, Sandra Kaye and Sharon Raye, eight-years-old. Sandra and Sharon are in Mrs. Ethel Miller second grade.

Rosalee Anne and Natalee Ruth Fairbanks are the 11-year-old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fairbanks, 408 N. Main St. They're in the sixth grade and Mrs. Bruce Twiest is their teacher.

Kirk LaVon and Keith LaVern Crutchfield are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield, 240 N. Main St. They also are in Mr. Whitehead's fifth grade. Kirk and Keith will celebrate their 11th birthday April 26th.

Marcyanna Marie and Edward Carl Tiede are 14-years-old and are the children of Walter Tiede and the late Mrs. Tiede or rural Britton.

They are in the seventh grade and have the honor of being the only brother sister combination in the group.

Janet and Jean are 17 and the eldest of the group.

Fund Foundation Meeting Is Open

BRITTON — Next quarterly meeting of the Britton-Macon Community Fund Foundation will be held Tuesday, April 12 at 8 p.m. in the Britton council rooms.

The citizens of this area are invited to attend and discuss the future plans and projects of this Foundation.

His message was stirring and informative.

Surround Youngsters with Books

BRITTON — National Library Week is highlighted here with a book display in a window of the Britton Variety store.

Hazel Sechler of the remedial reading clinic at New Mexico Western College has this to say to parents of small children: "School work is a breeze to the good reader. That's why it's tremendously important that your child learn to read well—and better yet, learn to LIKE reading.

"You can do a whole lot to help him like reading, even though most parents are too emotionally involved with their children to make good reading teachers.

"Make reading fun for your child. Leave work reading for the teacher. You concentrate on play reading. Why? Because by the time you've discovered that Bobby is poor at reading he's known it a long time. "He's had the fact impressed on him simply by watching others in the class. His failure destroys his self confidence. It frustrates him. So he hates reading.

"Confidence is what he needs. So tell yourself he'll never again see that his backwardness in reading is disturbing you, and praise him for every improvement he makes. Surround him with books; from the school library, the public library. Take him to the library—let him help choose.

"Surround him with easy ones, much easier than those he now resents—short books with lots of pictures, even if you have to go way back to the pre-primer. Surround him with books about his hobbies and interests."

Mrs. Milburn Preston, librarian, urges Britton citizens to make use of their library. Hours are from 11:30 to 5 Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and 1 to 4 Saturdays.

It is located above the fire station.

A WEEK BY WEEK COUNT DOWN

The parade has begun and I must admit that it caught me slightly off balance. Winter hung on so long that I just didn't realize how far into spring we were. We seem to go from one season into another all in the space of one day.

It was several Sundays ago and, if you remember, there was snow on the ground in the morning, but by late afternoon the snow and ice had all gone and the temperature was quite spring-like.

The return of the migrating birds is always one of the big excitements of Spring and sure enough, on the day that our seasons changed, we became conscious that the spring-time parade of birds had started.

Oh, for some weeks the crows had been back, but they were merely loud cawings across the creek or large black birds flying over Marsh's house.

It was the sight of six grackles, strutting in our yard, that really brought the matter home. Truly the birds had started to come back—thrilling days were here.

Checking with the Audubon list which gives arrival dates provided another surprise. Two years ago the grackles had returned on March 5, the list had them returning on March 7, but this year we didn't see our first ones until March 27. Such topsy-turvey doings.

☆

READING FURTHER we could not help, but wonder how far off the rest of the schedule would be. It should be fun to keep track and so the information given below is taken from this list.

Please remember that the dates are averages of past records and goodness knows, this year has been far from average. Let's hope however that the birds aren't too late.

Usually March sees the first of the migrating birds back. Except for the crows and grackles and the few flickers, which I understand have been seen around Macon, we have seen or heard few.

Canada goose, bluebird, belted kingfisher, red-wing, black duck, mallard, killdeer, blackbird, cowbird, phoebe, towhee, fox sparrow, wood duck, blue heron — all these are March birds, but where were they this year?

The first week of April returnees: winter wren, field sparrow, yellow-bellied sapsucker, chipping sparrow, green-winged teal, tree swallow, red-breasted merganser, hermit thrush, loon.

Fourth week: myrtle warbler, chimney swift, yellow warbler, green heron, turkey vulture, catbird, gnatcatcher, bobolink, black and white warbler, baltimore oriole, wood thrush, pine warbler, white-crowned sparrow.

And there you have a brief and sketchy list of average arrival dates. I have not separated the yard birds from the field or marsh ones nor the birds who will be with us all summer from the ones who are merely passing through.

I merely wanted to give a little idea of what we can expect to see and when. Happy looking.

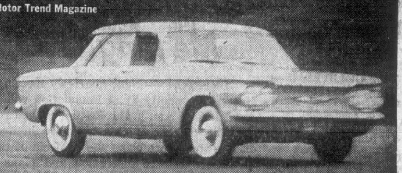
"...the most significant engineering advance" of 1960

...Motor Trend Magazine



Corvair named "CAR OF THE YEAR"

"Four-wheel independent suspension totally unlike any other U.S.-built car" . . . "air-cooled aluminum engine . . . not dependent on the properties of a liquid coolant" . . . a rear-mounted transaxle "allowing a flatter floor and a lower roofline. . . ." These are some of the praises heaped upon Corvair by the editors of Motor Trend—the world's largest general automotive magazine—in announcing their coveted Car-of-the-Year award. Other cars didn't even come close. The Motor Trend experts, who evaluated every make in the country, were unanimous in their decision, published in the April issue. But, unless you have personally driven a Corvair, you can't appreciate what this engineering achievement really means in combining compact car economy and agility with big car ride, room and sure-footedness. Drop down to your dealer's, take a trial drive and then judge the Car of the Year for yourself!

Home for Aged Officially Opens

Several Tecumseh physicians were among the hundreds of people who attended the dedication ceremonies and attended the open house of the Charlotte P. Stephenson Home for the Aged Sunday in Adrian.

Dr. Bernard Patmos, representing the Lenawee County Medical Society, in a brief speech, told of Dr. Stephenson and his interest in this field, as well as the great need for such a home in this area.

Among others, the Lenawee County Medical Society contributed furnishings for one of the modern appearing rooms in the new home for the aged.

BLISTER RESISTANT
HOUSE PAINT
the first really new house paint in 50 years

Men of Science in paint laboratories the world over have been searching many decades for such a paint as BLIX—a house paint that remains bonded no matter what condition might occur in the immediate environment— moisture, heat, cold, fumes from factories, or any other atmospheric changes. Today this paint is a reality as surely as other scientific achievements of our age. Now homeowners, industrialists, institutional managements have available to them an exterior finish that will remain in good condition for years AND YEARS.

Tests for exposure to sun, wind, rain, frigid cold, withering heat in all sections and varying climates of the country proved that BLIX showed film and color retention never before witnessed.

has up to twice life expectancy
Beats all standard paint formulas. BLIX produces a paint film which retains vigor and life . . . not subject to common "diseases" of ordinary paint. It stays and stays and stays.

applies easily, is a primer, too!
No special primers are needed for BLIX over wood, metal or composition surfaces. Use BLIX as a primer and finish coat—its soft, low sheen hides imperfections in the wood or uneveness in previous coats of paint.

Poppies Tell Story

Poppies were used by Mrs. Sharon Henkel and her committee to decorate the Legion Home for the 41st birthday anniversary of the Underwood-Orr Post.

The numerals "41" were used enhanced by the poppies, which were a surplus from last year's sale.

Past Commander Clyde Drewyor and Past President Mrs. Fred Marsh cut the first piece of cake. Mrs. Sue Brown finished the serving.

The past commanders were introduced by Commander Dennis Gollar and the past presidents were introduced by Past President Mrs. Louis S. Schneider.

Both the officers and of the post and the auxiliary were introduced.

Members attending from away who were introduced by the Auxiliary President Mrs. Richard Beasley were Roberta Lupton of the Charleston Air Force Base, S. Carolina and Hilda Willfrom Cleveland.

If you're going to buy a low price car ...be sure you get the better one!

Many people figure that since the car they are considering has historically had a "low-price" name it must be, in fact, a low-price car.

This, at one time, was true. But today the names of cars, as you may know, have very little to do with their prices. Many cars with traditional low-price names cost more than Mercury—a name you have always associated with higher price cars.

Our point is this:

A Mercury Monterey, with de luxe appointments, is now priced $31 to $66 less* than any of the best selling Fords, Chevrolets, and Plymouths (the V-8 powered Galaxies, Impalas, and Furys). Yet Mercury offers you far more of everything you want in a car.

Some new-car buyers are skeptical when we tell them this price story. Here are some of the questions they ask—and our answers:

Q. "Do you mean to say that Mercury is now a low-price car? How come? Did you reduce prices?"

A. "Yes, Mercury now is a low-price car. We reduced prices on every Mercury model for 1960. Monterey prices are now $174 lower, including extras that are now standard equipment."

Q. "But in your price comparison, aren't you talking about a 'stripped' Mercury—with rubber mats, plain interiors, no glamour?"

A. "No, we're talking about a de luxe-appointed Monterey with beautiful nylon interior and deep, thick carpeting. Instead of cutting corners to meet a price, we actually added $150 worth of extra value to this year's car. Our price comparison is absolutely fair."

Q. "Okay, I'll concede the point. But do dealers actually have this car in stock, or is it just a special model for advertising purposes?"

A. "No. It is a standard Mercury model—a 2-door Mercury Monterey. Dealers either have it in stock or can get it fast."

Q. "Do all Mercury Monterey models have as good a price story?"

A. "Yes, model for model they are now priced below—or within a few dollars of—the Galaxie, Impala, and Fury."

Q. "All right. Now just what does Mercury offer me that I can't get in other low-price cars?"

A. "The most amazing value ever offered. Just read below!"

MERCURY ADDS UP TO A BETTER LOW-PRICE CAR

7 to 8 inches longer wheelbase than Galaxie, Impala, and Fury + 289 to 494 pounds heavier + larger tires + bigger rear springs + unique 3-phase shock absorbers + up to 23% more insulation = A smoother, quieter ride.

More spacious passenger compartment, particularly in the front seat + more shoulder room and front leg room + more center passenger room (up to 692 cubic inches more foot room for center-seat passengers) = Greater comfort.

Self-adjusting brakes that require no periodic adjustment + new center-spot defrosters that clear eye-level areas first + overlapping 2-speed windshield wiper blades that clear even the center + front doors that are up to 5 inches wider for easier entrance = Greater convenience.

Larger brakes (up to 26% larger, with as much as 49 square inches more brake lining) + greater visibility (up to 28% more glass) + front-hinged hood + heavier frame = Greater safety.

Superior testing (every single Mercury is road-tested by a certified test driver before it is approved for shipment—not just spot-checked as all other low-price and medium-price cars) + stronger, heavier bumpers + stronger, die-cast grille = Finer quality.

Why settle for less? See your Mercury dealer today.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Whole Tone Was Lively

One of the most interesting heritages coming out of the New England states is the town hall meeting. This is the place where a wide variety of community problems are brought up, argued and usually settled.

Tecumseh gave the town meeting idea a twirl last week, thanks to the efforts of the city's Kiwanis Club.

About 200 area folks attended and it's this paper's opinion that they liked the idea. A wide variety of questions were asked of a wide variety of school and town officials and hopefuls for positions on the council.

The whole tone was lively. When things dragged a little or the person answering strayed from the point, moderator Don Murphy would rap on the table and get the session back on the track.

As we reported last week, the proposed school tax boost of three mills got much of the attention. After all, why not? This was going to touch many citizens where it hurts most—the pocketbooks.

A plot of ground, namely Adams Park, also received a good share of the spotlight. Several lovely ladies spoke quite pointedly about not placing the new post office on this long-time park.

Adams park has a fascinating history and in adjoining columns, its past is presented. We're strictly neutral in the situation, at this point, but we are sure our readers would like to learn more about this park. Thus the article.

But back to the meeting.

We enjoyed it immensely, even when one man, in talking about the city dump, stated "the paper said it was going to print a survey made of dumps in other towns and never has."

We hastened to our feet and allowed as how we had promised, then said that the results had been shown to city council and for no apparent reason, shoved back into the files. We promised they will indeed appear in The Herald.

New England, we surmise, should have no monopoly on the town hall idea and we'd like to see more. Our congratulations to Kiwanis for getting the ball rolling.

Michigan Week is May 15 to 21

Annual Michigan Week runs from May 15 to 21.

This is just a reminder to folks in the area who might want to plan some festivities for the week.

There will be the usual mayor exchange day that week. From this point there are limitless possibilities in observing the week.

Competition Sharpens Talents

When The Detroit News released its list of writing contest winners recently, 14 young people from Tecumseh High School had taken prizes, including a much-coveted Key by Marilou Layton.

This again points out the outstanding job our schools are doing. Both the faculty and winning students are to be congratulated.

Competition such as the News contest helps sharpen the talents of the scholars. This and other types of "outside testing" should always figure into school activities.

Bertha LaPointe Helps in Program of County Group

Two dens from the Blissfield Pack presented a skit "Know Your State" in which they told of the many things to be found in Michigan from salt, transportation, farming to bathing beauties.

They closed with an original song about the state.

Another interesting feature of the program was a paper "From Cowhide to Mink, Lenawee County to World Center" by Mrs. L. C. Hoagland of Blissfield, whose paper was an interesting history of Richland Furs, Inc. of Blissfield.

The company started as the Blissfield Robe and Tanning Company and through the changing times as come the making of coats from the first ones of pony skins to the mink coats and small furs of today.

Bertha LaPointe of Tecumseh read "The Purpose of the Society".

Phyllis Robertson of Blissfield, chairman of the Historical Map project, reported briefly on the progress made and asked for history from Adrian and the township of Adrian, Madison and Rome.

Mrs. Ruth Sherwood of Adrian told about the book of the history of the county for grade school children, which is being compiled by the University Women of Adrian.

Mrs. Truman Rentschler of Tecumseh reported 17 new members.

After the meeting refreshments were served to 65 members and guests.

Raisin Cane 4-H Summer Projects Selected by Girls

Nineteen members of the Raisin Cane 4-H Club enrolled for summer projects at a meeting recently in the home of Billy Osburn.

These will include foods, outdoor cooking, junior leadership, vegetable and flower gardening, junior safety, crops, first aid, handicraft, enthomology and dairy.

Treasurer, Cindy Calhoun.

Reporter, Sharon Dove.

Leaders of the club are Leonard Lewin, Leslie Calhoun, Mr. and Mrs. William Osburn.

Games and group singing were enjoyed. Cake and jello were served to 27 members and parents.

ADAMS PARK IS A SEA OF MUD NOW AND ITS FOUNTA IN NEEDS REPAIR. DIRECTLY NORTH IS THE CITY HALL.

A History of Adams Park

(Editor's note: With the recent decision of Tecumseh's council to grant authority to the government to locate a new post office on ground across Chicago Blvd. from city hall, Adams Park has come into the spotlight. This article covers the long and colorful history of this plat of land.)

By CLARA WALDRON

ADAMS PARK — WHENCE AND WITHER

It was the 26th day of June, 1824 when Musgrove Evans, surveyor, registered the village plat of the new town of Tecumseh, Michigan Territory at Monroe, the county seat. It was such a very new town that its streets existed only on paper and as blazes on the forest trees.

That original plat included a 12-block area with its "four corners" at Chicago and Maumee streets, an area purchased by the Tecumseh Company; Musgrove Evans, General Joseph Brown and Austin E. Wing.

Most of it was still their property, but already four pieces of land had been set aside, given as a free gift by those three men, as public land, "for the public welfare" and given for the use of the people for future time.

These plots of land had been defined by a three man commission sent by Governor Cass, to pass on Tecumseh's qualifications to become the county seat of the County of Lenawee.

They were:

1. A Military Square where the militia would drill.
2. A Burying Ground.
3. A Public Promenade or pleasure park and a Court House Square, the official location of the county seat of justice.

In the order named those four pieces of public land are now:

1. The Central school playground.
2. Elliott park, where the Scout cabin is located.
3. The site of the present city hall and the little, three-shaded picnic spot across the street, known as Adams Park.

★

JUST FOUR YEARS after the plat was registered a Court House was built on the designated square by public subscription. Settlers gave what money they could and those who had no money gave work, timber, use of their oxen or grain to feed others.

The inn keeper even gave what he had — board for the workers. The resulting building, which was described at the time as "very imposing", had two stories and a bell tower. It housed the county offices and courts for the next 10 years.

Then, because Adrian had a new railroad (and better politicians) the seat of government was moved there. The empty court house was then occupied for four years by the Tecumseh Branch of the University of Michigan and later by a private school, the Tecumseh Literary Institute.

By 1870, when the old building had been removed to an ignominious end as a factory for axe-handles, the Public Promenade, across the street had been taken over by the Board of Education for the East Branch School, so the court house square became the "Pleasure Park" instead.

It was then that it received the name "Adams Park", owing to the efforts of Peter R. Adams to have it improved. It was enclosed by the customary wooden fence, with stiles for entrance, the ground was leveled and seeded and many new trees were planted.

Since that time, nearly a century ago, Adams Park has had many uses. All sorts of village gathering, Fourth of July celebrations, class and club picnics as well as family reunions have been held there. Situated as it is beside the main highway, it offers a welcome to the traveler looking for a place to rest. It is the town's one remaining shady, green oasis in a growing desert of parking lots.

Church Is 132 Years Old

Wednesday, April 6, 1960 will be the 132nd anniversary of the First Presbyterian Church of Tecumseh.

History of the Church goes back to 1825 when the Rev. Noah M. Wells, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Detroit, began conducting religious meetings in Tecumseh.

These meetings were held in Brown's Tavern and were open to all members of the community.

The Presbyterian Church was officially organized on April 6, 1828 with the Rev. Alanson Darwin as the fist pastor.

James Huyck, Mary Huyck, William T. Finch, Rachael Finch, Mella Ann Ketcham, Euphemia Hillock, Amelia Holbrook, Maria Hixon, Mary Darwin and Mary Metcalf were the 10 charter members.

George Atwood Metcalf became the first child to receive the ordinance of Baptism in this church on that day. By the end of 25 years the membership had grown to 398, a tribute to the zeal and enthusiasm of those ten charter members.

On March 31, 1869, the present church building was completed at a total cost of $32,836.75 and was dedicated free of all indebtedness.

No special services are planned this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Fay Dowling and Mr. and Mrs. Dow Bilby of Tecumseh attended the all county Grange Banquet held at the Sand Creek High School Wednesday evening.

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

When a fellow writes about wild life he better not get too wild about his statements.

Last week, this column told of the geese which stopped over at the Red Mill Pond recently for three days.

Friday's mail brought two observations.

Don was so kind in his comments, that I'll reprint his entire note.

Dear Tom:

Noticed in your column today that you had a piece on some geese using the Red Mill Pond. You write a better column than I do, and I mean it, but I must disagree on the weight of those honkers. A 12 or 13 pound Canada goose is a "monster".

Over 90% of the 1,500 geese shot there last fall were Canadas. All were weighed.

Ray P. Holland, nationally known wildfowl hunter and author, describes in his book, "Shotgunning In the Lowlands," how he weighed every goose he shot over a number of years.

The largest Canada was only 11 pounds. A domestic goose might weigh 20 pounds, but a wild Canada that large would be like a nine-foot man — very rare.

Swans and geese have used the east pond on Occidental Highway the last few years. Try getting pictures of them. It can be frustrating.

Congratulations on your triumph in the MPA picture contest.

Don Vogel

Our second communication arrived from the Jackson headquarters of Consumers Power Co., where Ty Cross of CP's public relations department took off enough from his chores of helping to settle the strike to chide:

Dear Tom:

In the interest of more careful research, shame on you. They are Canada geese, not Canadian.

One is a Canada goose.

It's the common wild goose of North America (Branta canadensis).

There is also a Canada jay and a Canada balsam; not the balsam fir, but the turpentine made from it. So any ex-Detroiter should know these things.

It's the sixth annual one and will be April 29, 30 and May 1 in the Products Union Hall.

Harley Slick and Jim Felton are co-chairmen, with Henry Kempf handling advertising. Gaza Kish, present commander, is helping in all departments.

Now that the 50-star flag will soon become official, what's to become of the only 48 and 49-star varieties?

Fellows in the American Legion are alert to this problem and have already begun plans to conduct an official flag-burning ceremony.

Historian Doug Maves dropped into the office to tell us that it will probably be about July 4.

Burning is the designated way of disposing of an American flag, Doug states:

The Legion will issue a call to all who would like their outdated flags destroyed sometime in June.

This ties in perfectly with the 50-star flag sale, which is being held in Tecumseh by local service clubs April 18 and 19.

Some may not want to destroy their old flags and there's no law which states that you must.

But each household should have a new 50-star job to fly on appropriate days.

CITY'S NEW MAYOR—Harold Easton was chosen by fellow councilmen as mayor of Tecumseh Monday evening. He replaces H. H. Hanna, who served in the position for six years, ever since Tecumseh became a city. After electing Mr. Easton, who operates a service station, council took its first look at the proposed 1960-'61 budget of $416,872. It will be fully discussed next Monday. City fathers also heard a complaint that people were throwing trash and garbage in the ravine between N. Evans St. and Evans Creek, near the swimming pool. Council promised prompt action to stop it.

Pedestal Specials

Retail merchants of Tecumseh will introduce a sales promotion—the Friday and Saturday Pedestal Special.

In each store window there'll be a pedestal on which will be displayed a "hot" sale item.

The drastically marked-down price will be good for the two days.

Shoppers are asked to look in merchants' windows for the various Pedstal Specials this weekend.

County Might Take More Tax Dollars

By JIM LINCOLN

How much money? How many mills?

These two questions before the Tecumseh school board may not be answered until May when the Lenawee County Board of Supervisors meets to decide how much cash it will need to repair and improve local roads.

Supt. James McDowell reported Monday night that the supervisors in some county townships have already taken action to get more tax money for roads.

If township supervisors in the Tecumseh school district follow similar action—and ask for as much as one mill — the local schools would loose approximately $30,000.

If the supervisors find sufficient money to improve the roads and the state legislature increases state equalized evaluations, the Tecumseh school board may need only two mills instead of the three already proposed.

☆

IN OTHER action, the board:

Signed a note for $100,000 on tax anticipation income with the United Savings Bank.

Approved purchase of 1.96 acres adjacent to the Ridgeway school.

Supt. McDowell presented detailed curriculum books about subjects taught in the schools, and reported the retirement of Mrs. Wyman Service and Mrs. Purnell Osburn.

Both teachers, Mrs. Service with 31 years here and Mrs. Osburn with 14 years, were honored Monday night by the local Michigan Education Association district at the high school.

Close Good Friday

All Tecumseh retail stores will be closed from 12 until 3 p.m. on Good Friday, states Don Murphy, Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Sunrise Service Will Begin at 6:30 Easter

The Easter sunrise service with Pastor Laszlo Gero of the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church as speaker will begin at 6:30 at the Hidden Lake Gardens, weather permitting.

The Presbyterian Church will be the setting for the service if the weather is inclimate. Those attending may know of a change in place if the church is fully lighted.

Transportation to Hidden Lake will be provided by buses waiting on N. Maiden Lane on the west side of the Presbyterian church at 6 a.m.

Youth from the churches of Tecumseh and the area made final arrangements for the service Sunday afternoon.

It was decided to change the location of the congregation from previous years, ushering guests to places in a valley while the speaker will be located on

Firemen Answer Siren Four Times Tuesday Afternoon

Tecumseh firemen have had a busy time of it this week.

Activity started Sunday with two calls. The Eugene Sisty family, 103 S. Democrat St., was rounted out at 4 a.m. and their home badly damaged by fire, smoke and water.

At noon, Sunday, a grass blaze at the Gun Club on Taylor Rd. was snuffed out before any serious damage occurred.

On Tuesday, the alarm rang the smoke eaters to duty four times.

At 11:15 a.m., Tecumseh Country Club called them to extinguish a fire in the deep fat fryer. The fryer was a total loss and there was smoke damage in the kitchen.

At 11:30, before they had returned from the Club, another call came in for a grass fire on Hiawatha St. There was no damage.

At 4:50 p.m., they extinguished a third grass fire at the rear of the Top Hat Restaurant. There was no damage.

Moore Lumber Is Taking Part in Experiment

Three retail lumber outlets in the Unite States and Canada have been selected to take part in a market research test.

One is R. S. Moore & Son in Tecumseh.

Being checked: buyer acceptance of pre-finished redwood paneling.

A yard in Detroit and one in Windsor round out the trio. Detroit represents the metropolitan market, Windsor the Canadian and Tecumseh the small community.

Each outlet has been provided with 2,000 square feet of the pre-finished redwood.

If the experiment is a success, the Union Lumber Co. of Ft. Bragg, Calif. will set up a complete refinishing plant to produce the paneling.

Safety Citation Goes to Tecumseh Water Department

For the first time the Tecumseh City Water Department freceived a safety citation.

John Kopka, water department superintendent, accepted an award of merit for the department's perfect five-year safety record, at the American Water Works Association Michigan District meeting which was held in Adrian recently.

Those attending from Tecumseh were city manager E. J. Nelson, water superintendent Kopka and Walter Glenn.

REPUBLICANS MEET

Republican convention for Lenawee County will be held at the Court House in Adrian, April 20, at 7:30 p.m.

Service on Good Friday

Eight Tecumseh congregations will join together for the Union Good Friday Service at the Friends Church.

"When so much is being said about inter-church fellowship and cooperation, we are happy for every occasion which let's us worship together," said the Rev. James D. Nixon, president of the Tecumseh Area Ministerial Association, sponsors of the service.

"This is one of a number of united activities on our association calendar," he added. Others include Thanksgiving and Easter Sunrise Services, and special events.

Six ministers will share in this service based on The Seven Last Words of our Lord from the cross. Music will be provided by two of the churches.

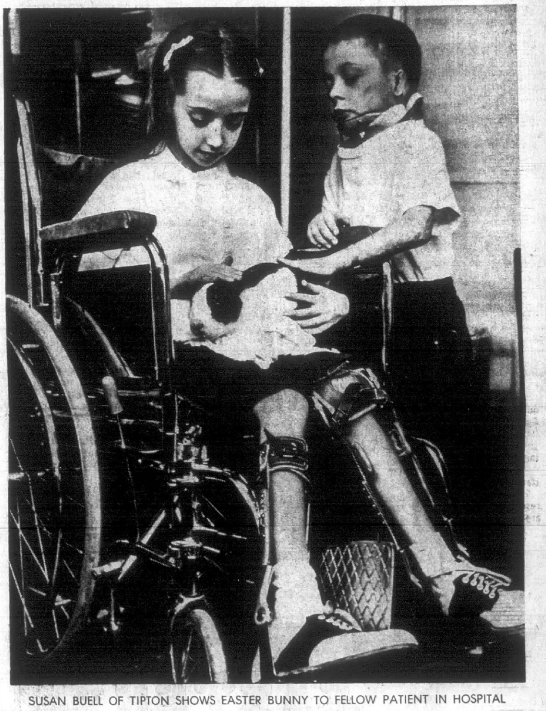
The Friends Church has been recently enlarged, remodeled and redecorated. This will be the first union service at that church since this work was completed.

The offering will be used in the Lenawee County Migrant Ministry, later in the year.

The merchants and other employers in Tecumseh have been asked to close their places of business to make possible attendance of their employees at Good Friday Services.

Last week's Herald carried the proclamation issued this year by Mayor H. H. Hanna calling upon our citizens to observe the hours from noon to three o'clock on Good Friday.

Periodic intermissions during the three-hour Union Service will make it possible for persons to come and go if they cannot be present for the entire service.



SUSAN BUELL OF TIPTON SHOWS EASTER BUNNY TO FELLOW PATIENT IN HOSPITAL

Radiation Helps Susan

This will be eight-year-old Susan Buell's first Easter since the Tipton girl was mysteriously stricken last spring.

Much of the year since early summer, Susan has spent in the University Medical Center in Ann Arbor.

Her trouble started gradually. Susan had pains in her legs. She felt tired much of the time. She didn't run and play as she had only a few weeks before.

At first the trouble was tabbed "growing pains", but as the difficulty persisted and grew, Susan was sent to Bixby Hospital in Adrian.

An X-ray revealed a spot on the second vertabrae. Either a soft cap or a tumor, the doctors said.

She was sent to Ann Arbor, where after more tests and X-rays, the trouble was diagnoised as a tumor — and it was malignant.

A three-and-a-half hour operation to remove the tumor was only partially successful. Surgeons discovered they couldn't remove a portion of it growing in the hollow of the vertabrae.

Another trip to the operating table followed and then radiation treatment.

Susan had lost the use of most of her body. For a long period she lay in a special rack, a type used for burn victims, which fit the contour of her body.

In her last stay at University Hospital, which began March 9, Susan has undergone radiation treatments, which have "melted down" the spinal malignancy. However, doctors have discovered other affected areas and are treating them.

This will continue for about 10 days.

Susan is able to get around in a wheelchair now and as the picture of her shows, hold an Easter bunny and share it with a fellow patient.

She's in the polio recovery ward now because there she can receive the type of therapy and treatment she needs.

Susan can have visitors and she would appreciate cards.

Last summer when Susan's illness became known, The Herald ran a story of her plight and told of a fund which was being started in Tipton.

It was started to help defray the tremendous financial crisis in the Buell home brought on by hospital expenses. Gifts reached $588.41 within three weeks.

But there is still a long way to go as expenses can reach up to $500 a week while Susan is hospitalized.

Mr. Buell, who works at the Hubbard Apiaries in Springville, also operates the family's 106-acre farm.

He and his wife Geraldine, have four other children — Elfie, 7, Karen, 6, Greg, 4 and Rebecca, 1.

Easter Egg Hunt Offers New Twist

This year's Easter Egg Hunt is going to offer a new twist.

Youngsters from pre-school through the sixth grade are really going to work for their prizes.

Nearly 2,000 eggs will be hidden throughout the Recreation Field area by Kiwanis Clubmen, who volunteered to do the chore for the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce, 1960 sponsors.

The Hunt starts at 10 a.m.

Children will be divided into three groups:

1. Pre-school, kindergarten and first graders.
2. Second, third and fourth graders.
3. Fifth and sixth graders.

Each division will be turned loose in separate areas, marked off with streamers, states Merle Hoag, chairman of the event.

Prizes are being offered by a variety of merchants for youngsters in all classes who collect the most eggs, special eggs, etc.

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

"Great and marvelous are Thy Works, O Lord," the words of an old anthem come into mind as I viewed the shell treasures brought back from Florida by Mrs. Sally Pope and her sons.

Sand Dollars, with their lovely surprise inside, seem to monopolize the interest of the family as they spent many hours searching the shores of Long Boat Key to find them.

Safely wrapped in white tissue, Mrs. Pope has a number of perfect Sand Dollars, as well as those she can open to release the five dainty little doves of peace, which only God could have placed inside.

It renews one's faith to see the dollars and other shells including welks, coquina and tulips, which are washed up on Florida coasts by the thousands.

The collection was made when Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heilman and the Popes spent five weeks in Sarasota and other parts of the state.

√

Others returning to Michigan after vacations in Florida are Mr. and Mrs. Leon Williamson and Mrs. Ruth Browne who spent four weeks there including a visit to her son, William, who is stationed at Pensacola.

Mrs. Pearson found a brand new red arrow in her flower bed at 206 W. Pottawatamie and will be glad to return it to the boys who were searching for it earlier there.

4-Wheel Gocarts Cannot Be Run on Streets

Parents of children operating four-wheeled motorized gocarts are being cautioned by Sgt. Carl Anderson, commanding officer of the Clinton post of the Michigan State Police, to warn them it is not only dangerous, but illegal to use the machines on streets and highways.

Now that warmer weather is here, the gocarts, or midget cars as they are otherwise called, will be wheeled out, but unless their operation is restricted they can be hazardous.

Gocarts must be operated either on private property or on parking lots or tracks specifically authorized for their use when other vehicles are not occupying these areas.

Sgt. Anderson warned that young drivers found operating gocarts on streets and highways will be ordered off and their parents contacted.

Repeat violations could bring probate court action and possibly impounding of the tiny vehicles.

Director Goes Long-Hair Friday in Band Concert

"The most outstanding concert I have heard by the Tecumseh High School Band in some time."

This was the comment of one attending the program last Friday evening in the gym.

Not only did the Don Johnson's band play well, but solo numbers by Gale Kimerer, Dorinda Winters and a trio of teachers were well received.

Several acts interspersing the band numbers added to the varied program.

Mr. Johnson delighted his students and the audience with his antics as a costumed, long-haired conductor.

LONG & SHORT

So you think your home community has problems.

If you would have been peeking over my shoulders to see what I carefully read the past month, you'd probably chuckle and say, "It's a small world."

I was judging editorials for the annual Missouri Press Association contest, weekly division.

It was a fascinating job and helped point out one thing: most towns, where there are weekly papers, have about the same problems — no matter what part of the nation.

Do you recognize these subjects:

"Our town needs more industry."

"Careless driving must be stopped."

"School consolidation."

Industry seemed to pop up with a big share of the entries (each paper submitted three editorials.)

In one community there is a shoe manufacturing plant, which employed about 700.

As the editor pointed out in print, the workers allowed a bunch of "little Cesears" to come in from St. Louis and take over their union.

The company was having financial difficulty and wanted to manufacture a different type of shoe. The union chiefs said, "no."

That was about a year ago.

The company continued down hill, dropping back to a three day week and then closing down altogether.

Pressure by the workers, via a vote, reversed the decision and employees agreed they'd make the other type of shoe.

In the paper's last report which I had (and this is probably four months old now), it looked as though that town's industry was going to be able to right itself.

Most of the other pieces on industry contained encouragement to bring in some type of plant and boost the general economy.

Checking and grading each effort was a real job and at this writing I'm down to about half a dozen finalist, all exceptionally well written.

April 15 is my deadline and between now and then I'll have to narrow them down to a winner.

Tennis, anyone?

Two faithful acolytes will be "retired" after serving in this service. Ronald Anderson and Thomas Nixon have acted in this capacity for nearly three years.

Two new acolytes will be selected and trained after Easter to serve in turn with the remaining six boys.

Easter lilies to be used in decorating the chancel of the church are being provided by many of the members and friends of the church.

These should be at the church by 2 p.m. Saturday. They may be removed after the adjournment of the second church school session, at 12:15.

Youth and Adult membership classes will meet as usual at the church school times. There will be no evenings MYF meetings on that day, however.

"BETTER USE MEDICINES AT THE OUTSET THAN AT THE LAST MOMENT"

Some people never take any medicine until they are very sick. They give a simple ailment the time to develop into a serious problem. Treatment then is more difficult, sickness is prolonged, expensive loss of working time is costly.

Besides protecting your health, you actually save money when you consult a physician quickly. He makes fewer visits, you need less medicines and most important, you prevent sickness from ravaging your body.

GLOOM turned to JOY!

Some days everything seems to go wrong. Right? There was gloom over Golgotha from twelve to three when Jesus Christ died on the cross.

Jesus' disciples knew another kind of gloom. His agonizing death seemed to contradict their belief that He was the Son of God and the Savior from sin.

But Easter changed everything. The fact that Jesus was alive ended their sorrow. The knowledge that His death was God's solution to the problem of sin made them rejoice.

What causes your gloom?—disappointment, guilt, embarrassment over a foolish mistake, loneliness? Good Friday and Easter are your answers, too! God's Son has "borne your griefs and carried your sorrows." He has removed our sins "as far as the east is from the west."

Who are you to say you are neglected, when God is your friend? Should you tremble at the memory of sins when God through Christ says, "Be of good cheer, your sins are forgiven!"?

Good Friday is God's answer to gloom. Easter's message of a living Savior will enable you to say "I can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth me." Find your Easter answer! The Lutheran church in your community is preaching the Word of God that gives the answer!

Despite apparent weaknesses in the sprints and distance events, Tecumseh's track team walloped two league opponents during the past week.

EARLY IN the meet against Grosse Ile, Tecumseh had a slight scare which could have been decisive in a close match.

The Indians, in the medley relay completely loused up the event in spite of a 25 to 30-yard lead. Two local runners jostled the baton back and forth and ended up passing it outside the prescribed mark. The disqualification gave the visitors one of their five firsts, and five points.

Tecumseh winners against GI were:

Dennis Bryan, 440, 56.5.

Season Opened with Win

Coach Duncan Lectka's baseball squad opened its season with an 11-2 win over Dundee.

Back-to-back doubles by Bob Dick and Jon Cook had Tecumseh off and running in the first inning.

Kruger was the winning hurler.

Cook Triples Twice, But THS Loses

Despite a pair of triples by Jon Cook, Tecumseh lost to Milan, 6 to 4, in baseball last week.

One of Jon's blows came after Tom Barton singled, Jim Curth got a fielder's choice, Steve Kruger a walk and Milan made an error, giving the Indians two runs.

Milan tied it up, but THS came back with two more in the fifth, again the result of a triple by Cook.

The Big Reds settled things in the bottom half of the frame, punching over four tallies.

Holsteins To Compete in '60 Show

The fairgrounds will again be the site of the annual county Black and White Show on Saturday, April 23.

The directors of the local association are sponsoring this event in cooperation with the state association. Fieldman Russ Miller will be on hand to assist with the show and present awards. Director president Don Beebe will be show manager.

A Junior judging and showmanship contest will be held with awards for the top participants. FFA and 4-H members are encouraged to exhibit as well as compete in the contest.

Cattle should be on the grounds by 10 a.m. and all entries made by 11 a.m.

HIGHWAY SPORTSMEN DONATE — Mahlon Lord (left) receives a $25 check for the March of Dimes from Raymond Morley, secretary-treasurer of the Highway Sportsmen Club. Other members of the club are Kenneth Wallace, Lanny Lewis, Larry McVay, Gordon Grieman, Howard Schmidt, Dave Holden and George Forgacs. The club is dedicated to better motoring and a better understanding between the public and the true meaning of car club.

MRS. CHARLES BIGELOW HOLDS HER BAVARIAN CREAM DESSERT.

What's Cookin'

Bavarian Cream

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Bavarian cream made by Mrs. Charles Bigelow, a life long resident of the Macon community, is featured in the cooking column this week.

She and her husband have lived in their farm home for 18 years. They spend summers at their Hill and Dale Resort at Beulah, Michigan.

They operate it as a family project and there they share the beauties of nature with hundreds of families each year who go there to spend their vacations.

The Bigelows have four children, Bill, 18, a freshman at Michigan State University; Bob, 16, and Becky, 13, both attending Britton High school and Beth, 2.

Mrs. Bigelow is an active member of the Macon Methodist Church, where the entire family attend.

She has served as a den mother, Blue Bird and Camp Fire leader, and is a member of the WSCS of her church.

When questioned about a hobby, she stated that she had no special one, except perhaps a perennial flower garden in the summer and a love for antiques.

Cooking includes preparing meals three times daily for about fifty during the summer months, and this can make for many interesting incidents.

She recalls one time, when due to some unavoidable delay, a favorite cake was not put into the oven on time and so was not ready when the time came to serve it for the dinner dessert. But the meal went on.

Dished up and covered with whipped cream, it was served by the girls with a "tongue in cheek" attitude and a watchful eye.

The comments soon came. "Old fashioned steamed pudding! Just like mother used to make!" In the kitchen it is a standing joke.

About the Bavarian Cream dessert, Mrs. Bigelow says, it is very simple to make and a family favorite and also a favorite among summer guests, where it is on the menu every Saturday night following a steak dinner.

The Recipe:

Make up two packages of red raspberry gelatine, minus ½ cup water.

When set break up with beater and fold in:

1 qt. fresh or frozen raspberries (drained) or half amount of raspberries and strawberries.

1 small can crushed pineapple.

Pour into a cold wet 2 qt. mold and let set in refrigerator for at least 3 hrs.

Unmold on large plate and circle with shredded coconut. Garnish with a little fruit, if desired.

She and the other officers will be installed April 20 following a chop suey dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Reservations are to be made with Mrs. George Downard or Mrs. Harold Meade.

President Mrs. James Felton thanked all Auxiliary members and others who assisted with the Cancer Drive on April 6 when more than $500 was turned over to the county chapter.

Donations were voted for the Irish Hills Girl Scouts Council and the VFW National Home Nursery for "treats."

Announcement was made that the Auxiliary would serve dinner for the Post installation and also several bowling dinners.

Marda Gene Duncan's

Through My Window

TWO BY TWO

In the spring a young man's fancy, and so on, and so on and so on. It doesn't just happen to humans, though, and lately, the birds have been acting very spring-like. They're not all young birds, either.

This is the time of year when the ladies come into their own. Most of the time the males may be boss, but come spring, the tables are turned.

He must court his lady and before saying yes she is going to make him pay for his high-handed, domineering bossy ways.

Most of the birds seem to do this, but the female cardinals have refined the technique until it's a thing of art. Oh, how they make the mighty fall.

All our papa cardinals are working hard trying to win the favor of their ladies.

The wooing is still in the initial phase — the gals are sitting high in the trees or way out on the fence and making their suitors bring to them the choicest and tastiest sunflower seeds.

It's fun to see the care with which the now humble males select their seed offering and then the tenderness with which it is presented.

☆

SOON, BECAUSE she knows just how far to go and will not want to play too hard to get, the cardinals will come to the feeder together.

He will still feed her the extra special seeds which he comes across but, as the courtship progresses she will let him off the hook a little at a time.

Last year we had wonderful "cardinal-courting-on-the-feeder" —hope they do as well this year.

As mentioned before, some of the other birds aren't quite as skilled in the game.

They have already progressed to the coming to the feeder together stage. Most comical of the couples are the nut-hatches.

One pair comes every day and perhaps for safety's sake, it is just as well that she does not demand many feeding tributes. Their long sword-like bills might cause trouble.

☆

TWO PAIRS of tufted titmice are also regulars. If possible, they seem even perkier and happier now that spring has come.

When the sun is bright and warm they are at their best. Sometimes all four will be at the feeder together, whistling the most joyous songs. Believe me, their happiness is contagious.

The little Downey Woodpeckers are beginning to pair off too. Nothing really definite, but usually when we see either a male or female on a nearby tree, the other one is not too far away.

They do dine together, but not close together. He eats suet from one feeder, she from the other.

Of course, the sparrows are in on the act, too — at least, I presume they are. They come to the feeders in such hordes that it is impossible to tell "who is running around with whom."

☆

JUST THE past few days we've noticed a pair of juncos. They stay on the ground, enough scratch-feed falls from the feeders so that they seldom venture up where we would like them to.

And speaking of birds reluctant to come to the feeders brings us to the best news. The cute little song-sparrow has a lady friend. We have seen the two of them hopping around the yard — most exciting.

So it is that spring is well underway, and how happy are we that most of our bird activity seems to be coming two by two.

How To Remove Paint Stains

By ROYAL WELCH

Oil Base Paints. This type of stain can be removed in most instances, if the garment is spotted and cleaned soon after staining. Within 48 to 72 hours after staining are the maximum outside limits for safety. After that period of time, the oil has "set." the dye and pigment have gone into permanent bond, and then removal becomes increasingly more and more difficult, and eventually impossible.

Water Emulsion Paints. These paints are easy to mix and apply, and have become extremely popular for interior decorating. Most manufacturers claim water fastness for these paints after a drying period of from 3 or 4 days to 30.

What all this amounts to is this:

In the majority of cases, these stains can be removed if caught early. Bring the stained garment in as soon as possible.

All you have to do — let us repeat — is not let time work on these stains and its then permanently. Time may be a wonderful healer for what ails the human soul but it works havoc on soiled or stained garments.

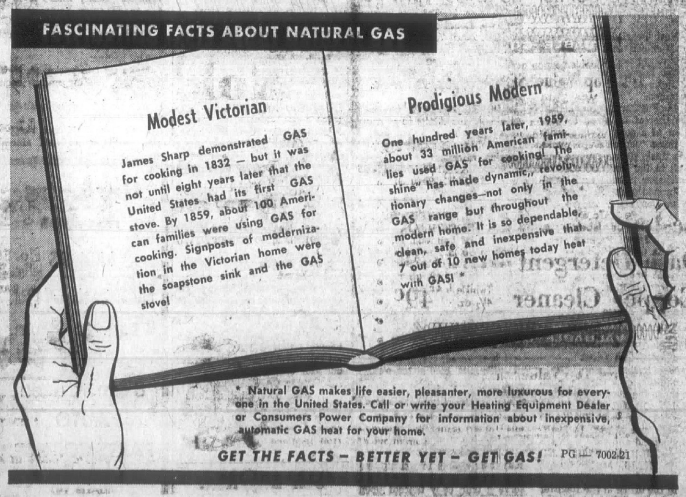
FASCINATING FACTS ABOUT NATURAL GAS

Modest Victorian

James Sharp demonstrated GAS for cooking in 1832 — but it was not until eight years later that the United States had its first GAS stove. By 1859, about 100 American families were using GAS for cooking. Signposts of modernization in the Victorian home were the soapstone sink and the GAS stove!

Prodigious Modern

One hundred years later, 1959, about 33 million American families used GAS for cooking. The shine has made dynamic, revolutionary changes—not only in the GAS range but throughout the modern home. It is so dependable, clean, safe and inexpensive that 7 out of 10 new homes today heat with GAS! *



* Natural GAS makes life easier, pleasanter, more luxurous for everyone in the United States. Call or write your Heating Equipment Dealer or Consumers Power Company for information about inexpensive, automatic GAS heat for your home.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Grateful for 'Organized Reserve'

A 10-year-old boy was missing Saturday night.

His parents discovered that he was gone shortly after dark. They called Tecumseh police, who started a search of the northeast section of town.

But chief George Kilbourn saw these efforts were not going to be enough, so he called for help from Civil Defense.

Within 15 minutes, nearly a dozen CDmen were on the scene to help broaden the search.

The boy was found — snug in a sleeping bag in a garage not far from home — so the story had a happy ending.

What struck us most was the way Civil Defense once again proved its worth. In an emergency, when the CD team is called to duty there is no hesitation. Everything had been carefully organized and worked out for just such mishaps.

A community never knows when disaster will strike and it can be grateful for its "organized reserve".

Maybe They'll Become Regulars

We have often wondered the reaction of various clergymen when they peer out at their congregations on Easter Sunday.

There are many "strange" faces in almost every church.

These folks feel that once or twice a year is just about right for them when it comes to attending religious functions.

Although this may seem like a rather twisted way of looking at Easter, Christiandom's most important feast, let us hasten to add this thought.

Possibly, of these folks who come out for church solely on Easter, some may decide that they should practice their religion more often and thus become regulars.

This, in itself, is a definite gain for Christianity.

So let's all get out to church Sunday — it may become a habit.

Congratulations and Good Luck

Tecumseh has a new mayor.

Harold Easton was chosen for the post by his fellow councilmen Monday evening.

In the city manager-council type govenment, which Tecumseh has, the citizens elect councilmen, who in turn pick the mayor.

Mr. Easton, who operates his own gasoline station, replaces H. H. (Oley) Hanna, who served in the capacity for six years.

We'd like to congratulate Mr. Hanna for the fine job he did.

At the same time, we wish His Honor Mr. Easton all good luck for the future.

Authentic Costumes, Dances Will Highlight Style Show on Wednesday, April 27

Powdered wigs, colorful shawls and beaded costumes are being readied as part of the entertainment to be held in conjunction with St. Elizabeths Altar Society style show and card party April 27.

Price is 75c.

Not to be outdone in livliness are the South American dancers Richard Duffin, Jay Osburn, Kathy Wykes and Ruth Warner.

Comic bathing suits typical of the Roaring 20's will be worn by Melessa Sage, Michael Dffin, Ned Stearns and Robert Murray.

Final number of the evening's entertainment will be a formal wedding in 1960 as envisioned by high school students. Charley Rebottaro, John Aho, Mike Osburn, Rob Koffron, Ron Dixon, errie McEnroe, Hilda Short and Audrey LeFevre.

Spanish Class Guests

Mrs. Arnim Timm of Ann Arbor and her Dundee Language Club were guests to the advanced Spanish adult class of the Tecumseh High School on March 28.

The group wanted to see how a foreign language class, taught by a native teacher, is conducted.

After the class Mrs. W. T. Claxton of Britton entertained the two groups with a party at her home in Britton. A delicious buffet-lunch was served.

Mexican and American songs, accompanied by guitar and piano, were sung by the students.

Records from Spain were played and Sharon Claxton showed her European slides giving the evening a very continental flavor.

CHEVY! YOU CAN'T BUY ANY CAR FOR LESS ...UNLESS IT'S A LOT LESS CAR!

Anyone who's looked around knows the majority of Chevrolet models—6's and V8's together—list for less than comparable models of other low-priced cars. But the price tag alone is only one of a whole raft of reasons a Chevy does better by your dollars.

Nothing near Chevy's size and price can match the Full Coil cushioning of its ride, or the fine, finished workmanship of its Body by Fisher. That even applies to some cars that cost a lot more. You're up in the higher price brackets before you find a car that moves as quietly as a Chevrolet or offers the inner space that Chevrolet does.

Or look at the extras Chevy gives you —at no extra cost—that others in its class can't offer at any price. Shock-cushioned steering. Safety Plate Glass in every window. Keyless locking of all doors. Crank-operated vent windows. Chevrolet offers the widest choice of power teams, too. Drive a Chevy just once. You'll have a tough time settling for anything less.

For a change of pace this week, let's have a guest column.

Entitle "Along the Sidelines," it is written by a western Michigan pundit, Dave Rood of the Galine River Gazette.

Dave, who owns this weekly and also serves as backshop sweeper in his off hours, came up with such an off-beat piece in his paper last week, I thought you'd greatly enjoy it.

So here's Dave.

As the tumult and the shouting dies down in Wisconsin after their recent primary election, the hue and cry is taken up down in West Virginia, where the hopefuls have gone to beat the bushes for an extra vote or two.

All of which brings us to the question, "How many of you can remember when Michigan had presidential preferential primaries?"

Our state had this system as late as 1928, and we'll bet a purty that 95 per cent of the people have forgotten the results of those tumultous years.

We'll also bet that 100 per cent of the Democrats in our state would like to forget who they picked as their hopeful in the 1920 primary in Michigan.

You may not believe it, but it was Herbert Hoover, a man they were to revile and despise just 12 short years later. How many New Deal Democrats would ever admit to voting for Herbert Hoover?

In another unusual twist, the primary vote assigned the state's convention delegates to vote for Henry Ford on two occasions.

In these cases, the Michigan delegates paid no attention. Republicans voted for Charles Evans Hughes in 1916 when they were committed to vote for Ford, and Democrats ignored Ford in 1924 after he was victorious in the Democratic primary.

The primary system in Michigan was one of the reforms sponsored by the late Gov. Chase Osborn in 1912. Osborn inaugurated the primary for various offices, hoping to abolish political conventions.

If Osborn had had his way, even laws would have been passed by direct vote of the people.

The first year of the Michigan presidential primary, 1916, Henry Ford won on the Republican ballot by 83,052 votes against 77,872 for the late U. S. Senator William Alden Smith of Grand Rapids.

Woodrow Wilson won the Democratic primary unopposed.

In 1920, Senator Hiram Johnson of California, won over Leonard Wood, Herbert Hoover, Gen. John J. Pershing and Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, on the GOP ballot. Wood was runner-up and Pershing trailed the troops.

In the same primary, the Democratic winner was Herbert Hoover!

Democrats were then claiming Hoover like they tried to claim Eisenhower in 1948, and Hoover was a candidate on both party ballots.

At the conventions that year, the Michigan delegates forgot the primary outcome. Republicans supported Wood and finally swung to Warren G. Harding.

The winner on the Democratic ballot was Henry Ford, who had won on the Republican ticket eight years earlier!

That kind of business just about ended the whole silly system. The last Michigan Presidential primary, in 1928, was a walk-away for Hoover on one ticket and Al Smith on the other.

No one objected in 1931 when the legislature repealed the law.

North Union Street Will Be Paved

By JIM LINCOLN

Plans for major improvements to one of Tecumseh's busiest streets —North Union—were approved by council Monday night.

Readied for scheduling is a section between W. Shawnee and the Evans Creek bridge for curb and gutter. Bituminous concret will be layed on Union St. from Chicago Blvd. to Brown St.

Cal Zorn, city engineer, says blacktopping the street will cover a two-year period, depending largely on the present base of the street.

Current plans call for installation of the curb and gutter this year and whatever base is needed to hold the blacktopping.

Many residents at the council meeting were told that the city probably would not have to remove any trees. They were also informed that past sewer troubles would be checked before the base and blacktopping.

IMPROVED SWIMMING FACILITIES

The present community pool is a poured concrete 80' x 40' unit, built in 1955 at a cost of approximately $90,000. This pool is open during June, July and August and in 1959 had approximately 12,500 admissions.

The City Manager reported the 1959 operating costs were $4,960. Receipts from admission charges of 15c for children and 25c for those over 16 totaled $2,245.

The remaining $2,715 in costs were paid by the recreation funds, furnished jointly by the city general fund and what is now the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation.

Swimming lessons are conducted during the morning hours and general open swimming permitted afternoons and evenings.

The demand for swimming instruction has been met only by increasing the minimum age of the students and increasing the size of the classes.

The demand for swimming lessons will increase especially if adult classes are held. Overcrowded conditions are also experienced during general swimming, particularly on hot days.

It has been roughly estimated that a second pool could be constructed to the east of the present pool for approximately $40,000 since no additional buildings would be required. Some additional staff members would be necessary.

The possibility of enclosing the present pool with some kind of a portable enclosure, which would permit swimming for about nine months of the year, is being investigated.

Swimming instruction could then be spread out through the year, possibly under the school physical education program.

A new permanent enclosed pool facility would cost approximately twice the cost of our present pool. This type of pool is not usually popular for summer recreation.

ICE SKATING RINKS

Outdoor rinks are generally of three types.

1. Artifical rinks created by flooding and spraying empty lots. This type rink is hard to maintain and is subject to the frequent weather changes in our locality.

In fact, City of Dearborn records show these rinks are suitable for skating on the average of only 15 days per year. Our local experience would tend to verify these figures.

2. Natural ice skating areas are still proving quite satisfactory and relatively economical. The ice surface is not as susceptible to weather changes as the sprayed rinks.

Under proper supervision and maintainence, a nearby park system reports an average of 45 suitable days per year over the last four year period.

3. Artificial ice rinks, made possible by refrigeration, are becoming more popular in the larger population centers.

Over 15 such rinks are now operated by parks and recreation departments in various Michigan cities.

So called "take up" portable rinks are the most practical. These consist of trailer mounted compressors, utilizing polyethylene plastic tubing to build up a two-inch ice surface.

The most economical rink of this type, a 85' x 125' size, costs $40,000 installed.

The hockey rink size costs $60,000. (Two public rinks in Michigan cities actually cost twice this amount.)

Maintenance costs for each of the smaller rinks in Dearborn totaled $35.62 per day. This included $12.90 for maintenance and operation; $11.77 for supervision; $24.95 per day for power.

During a recent February, over 25,000 skaters used four of these rinks. Dearborn makes no charge for the use of the skating facilities in the belief that city recreation is a service to the tax paying public and should be provided on the same basis as fire and police protection and other public works.

New Bridge Goes Over Raisin River

Work has started on a 126-foot bridge to carry Sutton Rd. over the north branch of the Raisin river, about four miles south of Tecumseh, the State Highway Department reports.

Sutton Rd. is being relocated to eliminate sharp turns on the existing roadway. The $80,917 project is a County Road Commission job.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. by the ladies of Cement City Chapter OES.

Spring N Rhythm

Spring N Rhythm, a program of choral music, will be presented Thursday evening, April 21, at 8 p.m. in the Junior High Auditorium.

It is being performed by the Tecumseh High School Chorus, directed by Leslie Bennett.

The concert will open with some sacred choral masterpieces having as a background, brilliantly colored church windows, which change appropriately to suit the mood and text of each anthem.

The Madrigal singers will appear in an authentic Old English setting to present a group of madrigals and part songs.

The prayer of St. Francis of Assissi, "Lord, Make Me an Instrument of Thy Peace" will be heard with appropriate sacred background in color.

A group of hand-clapping songs, reminiscent of minstrel shows will be highlighted by an actual minstrel show scene in which Mr. Interlocutor (Ralph Helzerman); Mr. Tambo (Bob Bonner); and Mr. Bones (Chuck Baird) will match wits and exchange punch lines.

The exploits of the legendary Apache Indian Chief will be the subject of the song "Geronimo".

Susan Day and Dennis Bryan combine their vocal and dramatic talents in two romantic duets to open the medley of tunes from the Broadway musical "My Fair Lady".

The closing chorus, a rhythmantic arrangement called "Open Your Heart to Spring" should send the audience out whistling a tune.

Downtown Should Be Neater

Downtown Tecumseh is bound to be neater, thanks to efforts of several civic-minded organizations.

They combined in a project to bring 10 trash containers to sidewalks in the business district.

"We trust that everyone will cooperate by using these containers and not be 'litter bugs'," chime in folks who worked on the project.

The idea for downtown rubbish receptacals was first broached a few months ago at a Monday Club open forum, at which time a civic improvement group was organized.

Members of the Business & Professional Women's Club took over the trash-container effort.

Donations came from a variety of groups and the Teen Club pitched in to help paint and letter drums.

So far, six of the 10 containers are in place.

Sizing Fabrics Good Idea

By ROYAL WELCH

"Sizing" is an excellent way to keep garments looking better—especially during the summer months. Sizing can repel stains, retard wrinkling, and delay soiling. You can look fresher longer—in sized clothes.

Many fabrics are truly enhanced in appearance and wear when sized. (The use of starch in shirts is a good example.) Sizing is only "evil" when used to make a poor fabric look like a good one.

There are five types of sizing, each doing a specific job on specific fabrics:

1. Gelatin
2. Gum arabic
3. Gum tragacanth
4. Flax seed
5. Synthetic resins

We determine what's needed before cleaning, then apply it in the amount required prior to finishing.

That way you can be sure that your clothing will have the right body and weight to look better longer. Try it today.

Bring it to Welch Cleaners.

The student council meeting of April 11 was called to order during school hour by Mike Fero, the president.

Steve Kruger read the treasurer's report. There is $748.57 in the treasury and $164.89 in the school newspaper fund.

It was also reported that the cost of the Sponge Dance was $181.55 and the amount earned was $135. Student Council medals were purchased for $47.35.

There was no secretary's report.

The rest of the meeting was devoted to the revision of the organization's constitution.

It was decided to elect student council representatives and officers in the spring of the year instead of the fall as has been done previously.

The committee for the revision also suggested cutting down the number of representatives from each class to increase efficiency and cooperation among the members.

On this recommendation, it has been tentatively decided to elect only three people from each class to serve on the council. Club representatives will not be omitted.

There was further discussion of the problem and the revision committee called a meeting for that afternoon for 3:05.

Kiwanis Clubmen Lauded

Achievements of the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club were lauded by James Fridd, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis for this district, who told local members it was one of the top clubs in this area during 1959.

The administration, especially in membership increase, and the committee on boys and girls work under direction of Dr. George Burkhard received highest honors from Mr. Fridd.

The business and public affairs committee was also commended for the projects of aiding the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce and the United Fund Campaign, city-wide safety check and intra-city projects with other clubs.

At last week's meeting, Walter Nichols, finance chairman for the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council, gave a report on the activities of the council and explained the needs for the coming year if the Tecumseh Scouts participate as planned.

Olen Merrill of the Clinton Country Markets Inc. was inducted as a new member. During the past year, membership has increased by 10%.

Announcements of participation by at least six members in the Canada-U.S. Good Will Week at a meeting in Canada next week, as well as aiding in the city-wide flag sale were made.

Arrangements for the production of the Waldo Johnson Travelogue movies on India and Orchid Island were announced for May 5 at the United Products Union Hall.

TO THE EDITORS:

When our friendly "Herald" arrived today I recalled that we received a card that our subscription would be due this month. Am enclosing check for $4.00 which I believe is the correct amount.

Many years have passed since we lived in Tecumseh but we still have our house there and enjoy reading about our acquaintances, all the activities taking place, and seeing in the splendid pictures of folks that it would be nice to know and progress in the building programs, as well as other items of interest.

Truly yours,
Oliver M. Blum

Church News

+ N. Rome Church Will Celebrate 100th Birthday

The North Rome Church, located 11 miles northwest of Adrian on US-223, will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its organization April 24 with special services all day.

The Rev. B. O. Bashore and Mrs. Bashore have served that church since 1949 in addition to their duties at the First Baptist Church of Tecumseh.

The sanctuary has been newly redecorated in preparation for the celebration, modern restrooms have been installed as well as an oil furnace.

There were 16 members when the church was organized in 1860, the present membership is 52 with an average attendance of 30.

The church was to be closed, when the Rev. Mr. Bashore offered his assistance, now services are held each Sunday morning at 9:30 a.m.

The fine progress of this church, the Sunday school and other active groups is a direct result of the effort of the Tecumseh pastor and his wife.

The Rev. John Barber, director of Evangelism of the Missionary Baptist Convention, will speak in the pulpit of the First Baptist Church here April 24 and the service will be conducted by Dr. George Burkhard.

Besides the morning service at North Rome, which will begin at 11 a.m., there will be a service at 2:30 in the afternoon when the senior choir from the Tecmseh Church will provide the anthem, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross."

+ Christian Weddings Is Sermon Topic for Methodists

"Let's Make Weddings Christian!" is the theme of the sermon for next Sunday at the Methodist Church, reports the Rev. James D. Nixon, pastor.

"This sermon is planned with several kinds of people in mind," says Mr. Nixon. "One group of people is made up of those who are planning weddings, or parents who are thinking about the weddings of their children in the future."

Another group of people is attending weddings. Somehow, they are not quite certain what a wedding is and why some things are allowed or not allowed."

Mr. Nixon concluded, "I believe this is an important subject for a sermon, for it involves all that we believe as Christians."

In the service this Sunday two groups will be received into the church.

The Lenten coin folders will also be received and dedicated in this service.

+ Seven Children, Adult Baptized at Ridgeway Church

They were:

Gary Alan, Michael Lewis and Sandra Lee Walters, children of Mr. and Mrs. William Walters.

Steven Paul Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bishop.

Kenneth LeRoy Plank, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth LeRoy Plank.

Cynthia Sue, Thomas Tompkins and Linda Lee, children of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Dean.

Seven youth and one adult were received by profession of faith into the membership of the Ridgeway Methodist Church on Easter.

They were Carol and Nancy Bird, Sandra Bailey, William Bailey, Lee Wagner, Eric and Karen Robison, and Mrs. Kenneth LeRoy Plank.

Twelve youth and adults of the Ridgeway Methodist Church attended the Easter Sunrise Service held at the Presbyterian Church of Tecumseh, after which they returned to Ridgeway for the Easter breakfast sponsored by the youth.

After the breakfast, the youth presented a short program eliminaxed by the presentation of their pledges to the Methodist Youth Fund.

The United Workers Class will meet on Thursday evening, April 21, at the parsonage.

The Father and Daughter Banquet will be held on Saturday, April 23, 6:30 p.m.

Plans are also being completed for the Mother and Son Banquet to be held on Friday, April 29 at 6:30 p.m.

+ Children Bringing Mite Boxes Sunday to St. Peter's

The children's Lenten mite boxes will be received Sunday morning at the 11 a.m. family service in St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

"The children will bring a spring flower with their mite boxes to decorate the 'mite box cross' as the offering is made", said the Rev. Frank Hawthorne, rector of the church.

In the afternoon children from the parish will attend the annual mite box ingathering of the parishes and missions of the Southwest Convocation at St. Michael and All Angels Episcopal Church at Cambridge Junction.

This service will begin at 4 p.m. when 10 parishes and missions will participate. Junior choirs of each church will march in the procession.

The Lenten offering of the children will aid in the establishment of a church girls school in Mexico and for the work of the seminary for training men for the priesthood in the Caribbean area.

The Rev. Jack Warner is Diocesan-in-Charge of St. Michaels Church and will be host pastor for the mite box service.

+ These Beliefs Make No Difference

For the past six weeks, sermons at the First Presbyterian Church on the Apostles' Creed have dealt with beliefs that make a difference. This Sunday's sermon, "The Providence of God", deals with beliefs that make no difference.

With Romans 8:31-39 as the Scripture, the sermon analyzes modern belief and considers those experiences in life which are within the providence of God.

The Rev. and Mrs. Gresham will meet with the following Fellowship Groups this coming week:

April 21—Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Van Winkle.

April 25—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ries.

There will be a meeting of the Christian Education Committee Adult Department next Wednesday, April 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Center.

Dear Easter Bunny

Here's an intercepted letter that arrived.

Dear Mr. Easter Bunny,

Please bring me a pumper engine for Easter. I'll leave you a carrot.

He "Auto" Know Better

Should have seen the crowd come running when Cap Edwards dressed up to the Post Office in his brand-new buggy. It's one of those pint-size foreign cars with the motor in back and the trunk up front.

While folks opened doors, poked upholstery and peeked under the hood, Cap went in to pick up his mail. A minute later a fellow came up to him, all out of breath.

"Say, mister," he said to Cap, "better get back to your car. Somebody's opened the hood and swiped your whole darn engine!"

From where I sit, most of us are people of habit—new things take some getting used to. And, too, most of us have "favorites" for which there'll never be a substitute. For instance, my summer Saturday nights are spent on the porch with a refreshing glass of beer and close friends. Now maybe you have a "newer, better" way to spend Saturday. Fine! You do it your way, I'll do it mine. That's American—isn't it!

Tecumseh Track Squad Tops Adrian

By JIM LINCOLN

A victory in the final event in the 880 relay, climaxed a two-point win for Coach Don Bratee's Tecumseh track team over Adrian last Thursday afternoon.

The relay team of Roger Mead, Dennis Bryan, Bob Koffron and Jon Aho brought the Indians from a three-point deficit to a 55½ to 53½ victory.

After the Maples took an early lead, the score changed leads four times. The win kept the Indian's victory streak intact and indicated a rough time for their opponents in the Huron League.

Mead, besides being on the meet-winning relay team, also copped first places in the 100-yard dash and pole vault.

Bryan took first in the 440, and Aho romped home ahead in the 220. Adrian won seven firsts in the 13-event dual meet but lacked depth to score consistently in the second and third slots.

Box score of the meet is:

Shot Put—Brian (A), Brendle (A), Koffron (T), 44'9".

Broad Jump — Dunbar (A), Poley (T), Walters (T). 20'1¾".

WELL, THEY LIKE IT—Someone unceremoniously dumped an old sofa next to the Recreation Field baseball diamond last week, apparently feeling this was as good a place as any to abandon it. Four young baseball fans were happy about the whole thing, making use of the couch, in upside down fashion, as they watched coach Dunc Lectka send his Tecumseh High School charges through a workout Monday morning in chilly 60-degree weather.

Indians Swamp Dundee

Tecumseh completely swamped Dundee on the local track Wednesday of last week, 84-25.

The Indians captured 11 firsts in the 13-event meet and nine seconds.

Tecumseh first place winners were Bob Koffron, Terry Hendricks, Jim Poley, Roger Mead, Tom Walters, Dennis Bryan and Jon Aho.

THS Baseball Teams Wins One, Loses Another

Tecumseh split in two baseball games during the past week, downing Dundee, 8-3 and bowing to Blissfield here Tuesday, 9-4.

The split gives Coach Dunc Lectka's nine a 2-3 record in the Huron League.

Dennis Harrison notched his first pitching win against Dundee when the local team crossed the plate five times in the seventh inning.

Blissfield outclassed the local club and scored in every inning except the seventh.

In the final frame, Tecumseh tallied two runs to narrow the gap, but then ended the game with the sacks loaded.

HE WON TWO FIRSTS—Tom Walter snatched two firsts as Tecumseh dumped Dundee, 84-25, last week. Tom took the 120-yard high hurdles and the 180-yard lows.

Gale Fisher Chosen by Business Group

Gale H. Fisher of Fisher Pontiac Motors, Inc. was named chairman of the National Federation of Independent Business for Tecumseh.

He succeeds Dick Eggleston, who served for the past year.

Each members of this organization maintains a voting membership, and is polled regularly by ballots throughout the year on bills and issues that affect independent enterprise at the national and state levels.

Businessmen in Tecumseh express their own personal opinion on the ballots and turn them over to Mr. Fisher, who will make tabulations of the total.

These tabulations are sent, with the underlying signed ballots, directly to the desk of Congressman George Meader, at Washington, D. C., and to State Senator Elmer R. Porter.

By this means, independent business and professional people can keep in continuing, organized, personal, direct contact with their national and state legislators on measures that affect, locally and nationally, free enterprise opportunities.

"Tecumseh businessmen wish to thank Mr. Eggleston for handling these ballots and appreciate Mr. Fisher's acceptance of this public service job for which he donates his time."

Michigan's Factories, Farms and Stores Depend on Trucks

Manufacturing, farming, the retail business — all have one thing in common: each needs transportation facilities.

And, since the motor truck provides fast, flexible, direct service unequalled by any other form of transportation, more tonnage is shipped by truck in Michigan each year. (Nationally, trucks haul more than 3 times as much tonnage as all other systems combined!).

Every truck you see on the road is working — working to help keep Michigan's economy humming, to help keep employment and sales high. There isn't a corner of the State that isn't served daily by trucks. And factories and shopping centers can be located anywhere and be assured of efficient truck service as long as they're on a road.

You see how vital trucks are to Michigan.

Youths See Harlem

"We were overwhelmed with the gracious reception we received," said Mrs. John Hamilton, one of the adults who accompanied Presbyterian young people from Tecumseh to New York City recently.

Twelve youth from the local church were guests of the Ionia Fellowship of the Church of the Master in the west Harlem area of the city.

While there, they were housed in the homes of the young people of that church.

They were given a conducted tour of Harlem. They lunched at International House and toured the United Nations Building.

They also visited Greenwich Village, China Town and a rescue mission.

☆

IN THE evening they were entertained at a party in one of the homes, where they met several exchange students, one from Bermuda and one from China.

On Sunday after communion service they were interviewed by Dr. James H. Robinson.

Enroute to New York they visited Valley Forge and the Hershey factory at Hershey, Pa. They came home by way of Niagra Falls.

Those going were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. James Barton and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hyatt.

Among the youngsters were Mary Ray Ries, Alice Titley, Bruce Parrett, Bruce King, Karen Hall, Janice Saling and Patricia Knight.

Janice Hall, Ralph Helzerman, Tom Barton, Carl Wilt and Tom Dickinson were others.

☆

THE BARTON family entertained the group on a Sunday evening after the trip at a pot-luck supper when pictures that had been taken were shown.

Two Nigerian students from Michigan State University attended this event.

An audio visual report of the trip will be made to the congregation at a family night meeting at the church May 4 with pot-luck supper at 6:30 p.m.

One ton of books has been sent to Alma for the church in the young peoples "Books for Africa" campaign.

Gail Lynn Rehkopf Baptized Easter

Kindergarteners To Be Registered for Coming Year

BRITTON—Kindergarten preregistration will be held in the kindergarten room here Thursday, May 5 from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The children that are ready for Kindergarten must have reached the age of five by December 1, 1960.

Parents should consider seriously registering those children whose birthdays are later than September 1, 1960.

"Many children that are three months younger are slow to adjust to school," says Supt. Russ Spaulding. "Therefore your child does better if they have reached the age of five by September 1.

"It is also important that you bring your child's birth certificate with you when you register your child.

"We wish to extend an invitation to the parents to bring your child to pre-registration with you. Feel free to contact the school for further details," he added.

This registration is important at this time because of scheduling transportation and organizing the kindergarten program for the coming year.

CORN FIELDS AT THE WEST END OF LOGAN STREET

Never in my memory have there been any, but they say there is a first time for everything and this just might be the year. At least, if a certain squirrel has his way, instead of green grassy lawns, there will be corn fields here on the west end of Logan Street.

Until he started "planting", the squirrel had been just one of the crowd.

In appearance his little-smaller-than-normal size was more than made up for by an extremely soft silky looking fur coat and his tail, neither too long nor too short, was full and bushy.

Oh, he was a handsome fellow It was a pretty sight as he bounded across the yard, jumped the fence and headed straight for the corn tree.

Up into the tree he scrambled, but instead of selecting a comfortable spot and settling down for a meal, he sniffed several ears of corn, finally found one to his liking, bit off just one kernel and jumped back down to the ground.

☆

There he stood — little front paws clutched close to his body, back held rigidly straight and in his mouth, the kernel of corn showed just enough so that he looked for all the world as if he were sticking out a little yellow tongue.

Apparently everything was all right and so, dropping down to all four again, he hurried to the creek bank where, fortunately for me, he did not go out of sight.

Scratch, scrath, scratch — dig, dig, dig, and we could hardly believe our eyes, but the squirrel actually buried the kernel of corn.

AFTER THE last bit of dirt was patted down, back to the corn tree he came. Another kernel was pulled off, he jumped to the ground, ran a few steps, straightened up to look around and then started running again.

This time, however, instead of taking his prize to the creek bank, he buried it out by the fence. By the time we had to stop watching, this character had kernels of corn buried not only on the creek bank and out by the fence, but all over our yard as well, and had even made several trips over to the neighbors.

To watch squirrels burying nuts—and yes, sometimes corn, too—in the fall is something we quite look forward to. It's fun to see them caching away their winter supplies.

Why, though, was this little squirrel burying corn now? He certainly had some purpose in mind and, whatever it was, he worked all afternoon with a true dedication.

☆

ALTHOUGH the squirrel's motivation was puzzling, his actions were certainly cute and great fun to see.

It was amazing how fast those agile front paws flew at their digging, and it was also quite amazing how deep a hole he thought necessary.

When the hole was right, instead of just dropping the kernel, his whole head disappeared —apparently he pushed and shoved with his nose.

The final step was done with great care, not only did he scratch the dirt back into place, but just like two little hands those front feet patted and packed. Certainly each kernel was planted well.

☆

SEVERAL DAYS later we noticed a squirrel, lugging a whole ear of corn, come struggling across Doctor's yard. At that distance it was impossible to tell if it were "our planter", but if it weren't, there are two squirrels with strange ideas in our neighborhood.

Straight for the creek bank he headed and really, it was terribly hard work. It was a large ear of corn he was wrestling along.

Whether he was completely tired out or just getting a little careless, we of course, don't know, but when he reached the creek bank, instead of carefully burying the corn, he merely shoved it under a pile of leaves.

So it is that the squirrel, or squirrels, seem to be entertaining ambitious thoughts about raising their own corn. Fortunately, I think the lawnmowers will have the final say.

ECONOMY PROVED IN MOBILGAS RUN!
CORVAIR BY CHEVROLET
DRIVE IT! GET OUR DEAL!!!!
A pair of Corvairs recently recorded 27.03 and 26.21 miles per gallon in the 2,061.4-mile Mobilgas Economy Run. That's certified proof that Corvair skimps on gas costs. It saves other ways, too. Corvair is the only U. S. compact car that never needs antifreeze or costly radiator repairs. Come in and drive the compact car that outdoes them all.
Practically flat floor... real foot room for the man in the middle. Fold-down rear seat gives 17.6 cu. ft. of extra storage space.
Four-wheel independent suspension for a smoother, flatter ride.
Rear-engine traction... that comes with the engine's weight bearing down on the rear wheels.
You probably realize already that the mileage figures Corvairs recorded in the Mobilgas Run are higher than the average driver can expect. But because the cars met every kind of driving condition—rugged mountain grades, long country straightaways, congested city traffic—those mileage figures prove Corvair's inherent ability to save. As you know, we're open hours after most other stores are closed.
This makes it convenient for you to pick up many nondrug items. But think how often it's evening when you discover you need a thermometer...or a hot-water bottle . . . or aspirin . . . not to mention prescription medication.
This is the important reason for our extra hours. It's a traditional service we provide because illness doesn't keep bankers' hours either.

VOICE of THE HERALD

At Last, Premanent Streets

With spring comes rutted streets. But take heart, citizens, there have been provisions made for something more than the patch-type jobs.

City manager Ed Nelson tells us that $25,000 has been allocated for bituminous concrete on three major city roadways.

That means about 20 years without need of repair.

Streets affected are N. Union from Chicago to Brown; Maumee, south of Chicago for two blocks; and Brown, from Union to Evans.

A good base is required and if all these have them, the bituminous goes down this year, Mr. Nelson tells us.

This permanent pavement costs about two-thirds more than the seal-coat, which has been the most-used type of Tecumseh street resurfacing. But it's money well spent

We're glad this road program has been adopted and although it costs much more, it eventually will give Tecumseh many good streets, not the kind which must be patched every year.

Adams Park Is Logical Site

Sentiment, rather than sound objective thinking, appears to be the basis of opposition to the elimination of Adams Park for a new post office building.

Several local organizations have written council concerning the park and the need for Tecumseh to keep it intact.

Monday night another letter was received and read, saying the park was necessary and that the best location for the post office building was the original site on S. Pearl St., behind Easton's service station.

We feel that most of the people want the new postal building in Adams Park, across from city hall, on W. Chicago Blvd.

The downtown district needs the site on S. Pearl St. for parking. The lot is also more valuable real estate than the park, and the trade, foot for foot, was a good one made by Council.

The area in which the park now lies is zoned commercial, and in the near future, undoubtedly will be surrounded by businesses. The downtown business district is moving east with expansion zoned to Maumee St.

All, we believe, realize the need to relocate the post office. Council has approved the exchange of sites and now awaiting the final approval from Washington, D.C.

In the future, we are sure that those who are now opposing a postal building across from city hall will change their minds, especially if plans now under study materialize into fine community parks.

Squirrel Shorts Out Power Line

One of the many squirrels on W. Logan St. came to an untimely end on Good Friday morning about 6:30 when he fell on the power line.

In the words of one of Consumers employees, "he was fried to a crisp."

This is the answer to the mystery of why all the lights in the west end of the city, including the traffic light, suddenly ceased functioning that morning.

LENAWEE COUNTY'S LARGEST WEEKLY

VOL. 109 — ONE HUNDRED TENTH YEAR — NUMBER 28 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, APRIL 28, 1960 16 PAGES — TEN CENTS A COPY

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Mac Powell recently brought some unusual pails and buckets he had fashioned from wood into Jesse Sluyter's electric store.

Jesse was impressed and an idea suddenly popped into her mind.

There must be dozens of folks around the area who are similarly talented at woodworking, knitting, crocheting, metalworking, etc.

Jesse's thought: why not stage a Handicraft Week in Tecumseh, with displays in various store windows?

It sounds fascinating.

Let's start the ball rolling and have folks interested in taking part contact Jesse. When things start falling into place, a week can be chosen.

☆

☆

What added luster was the fact that coach Don Brazee's hard-going 880-yard relay team was made up for four varsity football backs.

And of the four, three will be on top for gridiron duty next fall, Roger Mead is the lone senior, while Jon Aho, Bob Koffron and Dennis Bryan will be around come autumn.

Can hardly wait for that opening kickoff.

☆

Folks along Seminole Dr., in the north end, are solidly behind the effort to make Tecumseh "The City of Flags."

There are 17 homes on the street and of this number 17 purchased new 50-star flags during last week's sales effort by local service clubs.

Complete reports are still being tabulated, but at this writing Seminole gets the nod for the first 100% street in town.

Do we hear any challengers?

If for some reason you were missed in the door-to-door effort, call 1027 and a representative will be out.

☆

While in the door-to-door vein the census is just about complete.

Mrs. H. H. Hanna, who has covered an area with 200 homes, tells us this was the hardest and most fatiguing job she has ever tackled.

Most of the trouble came from people not being home. In some instances she had to call back three and four times.

At one place—if she hadn't been so foot sore she might have chuckled—she returned for the umpteenth attempt to find some one in.

"Couldn't you come back another time," the housewife said, "We're just eating."

Mrs. Hanna patiently explained that she had already been there numerous times and please couldn't it be taken care of then. The woman agreed.

☆

The class had a shooting session Saturday. This Friday evening we will take a look at the results.

Folks who haven't attended the first two classes are welcome to drop in on this one. Bring your camera. Starting at 7:30, it will be at the H. H. Hanna home on S. Adrian St.

☆

From the comment made by Mrs. Barnard Fero in this week's census story, it would certainly seem the FACT committee should consider a Senior Citizens Club, maybe as part of a civic center.

Many of the older folks are alone and lonely. Think how much fun they could have with a gathering place of their own.

Night Shirt Will Float

The Hospital Auxiliary's night shirt will be floating in the breeze once more on May 12, 13, and 14 at the old Gamble store.

"So, gals save your things for us," says Marie Morehouse, chairman.

Plastic Beverage Cooler Holds 200-Pound Man

Bill Davis has come up with a new twist.

Bill owns the Jiffy Co. on N. Evans St., which primarily is in the roller skate toe-stop business. These are the tiny rubber stops, which are bolted to the front of skates used at indoor rinks.

He got into the mechanized roller skate last spring, but the market didn't seem to open up.

While visiting Meyers Aircraft's boat division recently Bill noted a strange material, called Dylite, being used to pack parts in.

Discovering that it could be formed and molded easily, he dreamed of some way which he could use Dylite.

Several months ago he found out—food and beverage coolers.

The featherweight Dylite has tremendous insulating qualities and is used for that purpose by many air conditioning and refrigerator manufacturers.

It seemed ideal to keep soda pop and other beverages cool. Thus was born the Jiffy cooler.

Capable of holding 15 quarts, the unit weighs only one pound. Yet, it is sturdy enough to hold a 200-pound man.

Bill's samples and advertising literature found their way into many places, eventually bringing several orders.

Last week, the Davis company shipped 200 to a St. Louis, Mo. soda pop company and is getting ready to manufacture 1,000 for Cunningham-Kinsel Drugs in Detroit.

If the Jiffy cooler catches on, Davis would like to start molding operations in Tecumseh. He figures it would require about 5,000 square feet of space and he'd need about 50 men to operate the plant.

An abundance of water to cool the molds is the major requirement.

From coolers, the company could move into dozens of differsun hats, minnow buckets, rafts. sun hats, minnow puckets, rafts.

Dylite, developed by the Koopers Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa., is a foamed plastic, which already is used to package typewriters, electron tubes, sensitive magnetrons, nitric acid bottles as well as for insulation.

FR. MICHAEL COLLINS

Priest Who Built Catholic Church Here Dies at 53

The Rev. Fr. Michael Collins, 53, one-time pastor of St. Elizabeth's Church in Tecumseh, died at 2:15 a.m. at his parish in Harper Woods.

Well known here as "Father Mike" during his pastorate from 1947 through 1953, he had been ordained 27 years at the time of his death.

When assigned to Tecumseh, he was the local church's first full-time priest.

In his initial annual report to the Chancery in Detroit, he wrote:

"Separated as a mission of St. Dominic Church in Clinton and established as a canonical parish June 27, 1947."

Fr. Collins went on to say that he lived temporarily at rectories in both Clinton and Blissfield "until house was rented at 313 E. Pottawatamie as rectory Oct. 1, 1947. Took up residence Nov. 12, 1947."

Father Mike's initial job was to build a new church and he lost no time, reporting.

"Negotiation began Dec. 12, 1947 with approval of the cardinal for purchase of new parish site located at Union St. and Brown St."

☆

AFTER SIX YEARS here in June of 1953, when he turned St. Elizabeth's parish over to the Rev. Thomas J. Collins, great strides had been made.

The present church, which cost $82,000, was constructed. Arrangements had been made for Dominican Sisters to teach at a parish elementary school, which was to cost $110,000 and he erected shortly after Father Mike left for his next assignment.

That was to Harper Woods, where he founded another new parish, St. Peter's. He had been there seven years at the time of his death.

At Harper Woods, he erected an elementary school, temporary church, convent and rectory.

Insect Control Booklet Topic

A newly-revised, comprehensive bulletin on controlling insects and diseases on commercial vegetables and truck crops has just been received in the Lenawee county extension office, announces Louis G. Hall.

Census Showing 30% Growth Within County

Outside of an unruly pig who chased one census taker, counting noses in northern Lenawee County came off without incident.

So reports John Saling of Tecumseh, who headed up a team of 21 enumerators making the tally of this area.

Early tabulations indicate that Lenawee County will show an increase of about 30%. That means a jump from the 52,000 residents of 1950 to about 70,000.

In the City of Tecumseh, population will run between 6,500 and 6,900, Mr. Saling states.

This compares with the 1950 total of 4,014 and the one in 1954 of 5,464, when Tecumseh had a special count in preparation to becoming a city.

The semi-official University of Michigan medical survey in 1957 reported 6,158.

The present census is divided into two stages.

Initially, Mr. Saling's team of 21 covered every household in the upper half of the county.

Another crew leader, Mrs. Lois Silberhorn, organized the City of Adrian and Howard Yost of Blissfield "crewed" the lower half of Lenawee.

In the second stage, Mr. Saling is transcribing the questionnaire which went to one of every four homes, seeking additional information to determine the American standard of living.

Speaking of the first stage—house-to-house nose counting Mr. Saling said, "Most people were very cooperative. We only had one case where a man made a complete refusal to our enumerator. She reported to me and I went out. Within 10 minutes I had the information."

Main problem was the call-back, folks never seeming to be home.

One enumerator, Mrs. Barnard Fero, said she was impressed with the number of older residents who seemed to be lonely and happy for a visit from anyone.

Beef Tour Friday

More than 600 Michigan and Ohio cattlemen, buyers and ranchers from the west are expected to take the 31st annual Lenawee County Beef Tour, beginning at 10 a.m. Friday.

This year's event will open at the Kitty Kurtiss farm on Hendershot Hwy., just north of M-50 and operated by Bill Brown, who is serving on the 1960 Tour committee.

To be viewed there will be 691 choice Hereford steers and heifers.

Instead of moving on to another farm, as in previous tours, the guests will remain at the Brown layout until noon, where lunch will be served.

During the two-hour session, experts from Michigan State University, Dr. Hugh Henderson and Dr. Clifford Beck, will discuss research work on this herd in protein supplements, hay versus silage and antibotics.

They'll also talk about materials handling costs from large diameter silos and cattle handling facilites.

Following lunch, three other farms will be visited:

1. Melbourne Smith & Sons, 12 miles west on M-50 to Pentecost Hwy. and one mile south. There are 124 mixed Virginia and Kentucky steers close to market.

Being considered at the Smith farm will be supplement and grain metering devices used with auger feeder.

2. Mark Gilbert, one and one-one and one-quarter mile south. On view: 72 Hereford heifers from Oklahoma, average weight 434 pounds; 49 Hereford steers from Colorado, 545 pounds.

Hand feeding corn silage, hay and corn and cob meal will be topics talked about.

3. Tom Hartland, south to Shepherd Rd., one-half mile east. Unique outdoor bunk-type feed handling is featured, along with 66 mixed steers, 94 Hereford steers averaging about 416 pounds.

The banquet is planned for 6:30 p.m., at the 4-H Project building on the Lenawee County fairgrounds, sponsored by the 4-H Project Mothers' organization.

The main speaker of the evening will be Dr. T. K. Cowden, dean of agriculture, Michigan State University. Also on the program will be L. P. McCann, director of research of the American Hereford Association.

The Lenawee County beef tour is planned and carried out in cooperation with the Extension Service, by the county cattle feeders' organization, represented by the directors including Mr. Brown and Walter Miller, of rural Britton.

1,600 Books Collected

Members of the Westminster Fellowship of the First Presbyterian Church here have concluded their "Books for Africa" project according to Mary Roberts.

Over 14 members of the local Westminster Fellowship group have taken an active part in the work of collecting and screening hundreds of books here.

The committee included Miss Roberts, Karen Hall, Carl Wilt, Tom Barton, Bruce Parrett. They estimate that 1,600 books were collected here.

These books were taken to the campus of Alma College, the Presbyterian college in Michigan, April 14. Alma is the central receiving depot for books from all over the state.

The project began last summer at one of the youth conferences held at Alma where the Rev. Dr. James H. Robinson of New York City challenged the young people to undertake it.

A great dedication occasion is being planned for Sunday, May 15, on the Alma campus at which Dr. Robinson and many leaders of the Presbyterian Church will be on hand to pay tribute to the service of high school people in Michigan.

The Tecumseh group is planning to attend.

Information from FACT

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT OUR TEEN-AGE CENTER AND THE NEED FOR A NEW ONE?

Here are some facts.

Three-hundred of our 600 high school students enjoy the benefits of our well-organized Teen Club. Membership is $1 per person per year.

On a questionaire circulated by the Teen Club, all members unanimously agreed that there is a real need for such an organization in our community. The students have already earned $1,000 toward new rooms.

The Club rooms are situated on the third story of the Sage Building and are donated by the generosity of the owner. The members have decorated it and have made the rooms as attractive as possible.

It is used on the average of one night a week usually for Teen dances.

A representative from each of Tecumseh's four service clubs sponsor the group by acting in an advisory capacity and by providing chaperons for the dances.

The business-like manner in which the Club is managed by the students is most commendable.

A president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer and representatives from the ninth-through-twelfth grades form the governing body.

(In June, the Teen Club officials guided by Dale Tuckey, the president, have invited representatives from Teen Clubs in nearby communities, to meet with the Tecumseh group to exchange ideas on how to successfully operate a Teen Center.

Needed: Candidates

Wanted: candidates.

School boards in Michigan increase in size this spring from five to seven-member units.

Besides the two new positions on the Tecumseh board, there will be two jobs of incumbents up for grabs.

A lively campaign, with a good cross-section of candidates has its good effects. So if you're interested you should file a petition. If there is someone who you feel would make a good school boardman, urge him or her to run.

Candidates must file by mid-June. The voting will take place the second Monday in July.

Service Honors Nazarene College

Special services in honor of Olivet Nazarene College, Kankakee, Ill. will be held during the observance of National Christian College Day at the Tecumseh Church of the Nazarene next Sunday according to an announcement by the Rev. D. R. Harvey pastor.

The college has recently launched a ten-year development campaign to add facilities for an additional 500 students. It plans to add two dormitories, a science building, a fine arts building, and a student union building at an approximate cost of $3,000,000.

The cost of living today is very low. Many people will disagree with this statement. The average person would argue that the cost of living is high and going higher.

Economically this is true. The cost of living is high. But spiritually, the cost of living today is rather low.

This Sunday's sermon is concerned with the low cost of spiritual living today, and how this is in contrast to the Biblical understanding Christian Discipleship.

There will be a Family Night Supper at the Presbyterian Church on Wednesday, May 4th at 6:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Center.

The beverages will be furnished and those attending are asked to bring a dish to pass and their own table service.

Infinite Mercy

God's infinite mercy and goodness will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

FACT

(This meeting should prove to be of great value in the future planning and organizing of our local group.)

A NEW TEE NCLUB HEADQUARTERS IS NEEDED BECAUSE:

1. The present club site, built in the late 1800's is mainly of wooden construction and the danger of fire is a constant possibility. In addition, the front exit from third to second floor is down a narrow, dark stairway and there is only one exterior fire escape in the rear.

2. During the summer months when the young people most need a social center, the rooms are too hot to be used.

A NEW TEEN CLUB HEADBEEN MADE:

1. Buy a centrally-located building downtown. (Such a building is available for about $80,000, but some remodeling would be necessary before it would satisfy the needs of a Teen Club.)

2. Use the cafeteria area in the high school. This was designed with this purpose in mind and — includes a large room for dancing, a kitchen, game rooms and rest rooms. This area can be made separate from the rest of the school by a gate. Fifteen dollars a night would cover all maintenance costs. (Note: In the beautiful Civic Center in Sturgis, a like fee is required to cover operating costs of their basement Teen Club. The Fenton Teen Club operates successfully with its rooms located in the High School.)

3. Rent other rooms downtown if safer, more suitable ones can be found.

A program conducted by a recreation director would provide more use for present available facilities and would be more important than the actual building.

More information on the need for such a director will appear soon, under the title "Recreation Program."

WHAT IS YOUR SUGGESTION (S) FOR PROVIDING SAFER SURROUNDINGS FOR OUR TEEN AGERS?

PRIEST

The school now takes care of 1,000 pupils and during the past year Father Mike spearheaded a school expansion program.

FR. COLLINS was born in Detroit Sept. 16, 1906, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Collins, both of whom preceded him in death.

He graduated from Sacred Heart Seminary there and took theological studies at Mt. St. Mary of the West in Cincinnati.

Following ordination on May 22, 1932, he served as an assistant pastor in several Detroit parishes. He spent three years during World War II as an army chaplain.

His first assignment after getting out of uniform was as administrator of Alexis Mission in Willow Run, followed shortly by his appointment to Tecumseh.

Services will be held Thursday morning at 11 in the Harper Woods church with Archbishop John Dearden saying the Pontifical Mass. Burial will be in Holy Sepulcher Cemetery in Detroit.

Survivors include Fr. Collins' brother, Joseph; two sisters, Mrs. Robert Erminger and Mrs. Madeline Rayles, all of the Detroit area.

Fishing seems to be the major occupation of several little men these pretty spring days. With pail and bait they head straight for Evans Creek expecting to cut a pole from the many trees that line the bank.

Their Dads aren't far behind. They are hoping to catch a big pike from the pond, but so far the pike have managed to elude the anglers we have seen.

Sitting still and wishing
Made no person great.
The good Lord sends the fishing,
But you must dig the bait.

There were 242 persons in attendance.

Following the invocation, the presentation of the flags was given by Fairfield Chapter.

Mrs. Helen Gundry of Grand Blanc, Worthy Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of Michigan, was escorted to and presented in the East.

At this time, the members of the Katharine Hunt Club, formed a circle with each wearing hats made by Mrs. Hunt topped with roses and violets to form a nosegay, Grand Matrons flowers for the year.

This formation so impressed Mrs. Gundry that it was repeated for her at the evening session.

At the Memorial service presented by Ruth Chapter of Dundee, Harold Koch of Detroit, past grand patron, sang, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked."

Cost Per Year Is What Counts

First cost is important, of course. But add all your repair and maintenance costs and divide by the number of years you use a mower. That tells the real story — that an Eclipse simply costs less to own — year after year. Ask any one that has an Eclipse.

Tecumseh Baseball Nine Slugs Out 16-2 Victory

Coach Dunc Leckta's baseball nine evened its record in the Huron League last Thursday with a 16-2 romp over the visiting Airport club.

A five-run first inning followed by another five runs in the fourth inning completely swamped the visitors.

Although the Indians tallied five times in the first on only two hits, Tecumseh really belted the ball in the fourth, rapping six straight hits before the first out was made.

John Robison was top slugger with three safeties in five trips to the plate.

He scored three times as did Jim Curth. Curth, Walt Girbach, Tom Barton and Dave Brooks had two hits each.

Steve Kruger was the winning pitcher.

Flying Career Begins When Gal Is Two-Years-Old

When Virginia Rice was two-years-old her father took her for an airplane ride in an old-fashioned open cockpit ship at a Hillsdale County carnival.

That started it.

Virginia, now Mrs. L. F. Converse, has been up in the air ever since, first figuratively, then literally.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rice have made their home in Tecumseh at 310 W. Logan St. since 1948.

That was about the time Virginia joined Trans World Air Lines as a hostess.

But first she had to attain a degree as a registered nurse, since this was then a requirement to becoming a stewardess.

Virginia soon yet and became interested in a TWA flight captain named L. F. Converse. Wedding bells followed and the air was assigned the same flights.

At present this is TWA jet flight 74, Los Angeles to Willow Run, with one stop at St. Louis. They make the run twice a week.

Most folks think that stewardesses cannot be married, but this a common misconception, explains Mr. Rice.

The Rices are happy about the new schedule because it allows them to visit their daughter and son-in-law much more often since their home is in S. Pasadena, Calif.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

More Than Color Blind When It Comes to "Red"

"Red" Dolan has been going to painting class at night at the high school. They had an exhibition and we all went to see what Red had done.

Red's painting was one of the most beautiful there. We stared at it for the longest time, then all agreed it was a painting of a field close to town, and that it showed a woman in the distance who looked a lot like Red's wife. We congratulated our artist on his work. Red smiled, thanked us all, and was quite happy.

From where I sit, there are often occasions when we don't see what we're really supposed to see. Why sometimes we can't even recognize intolerance when it comes along. For instance, it bugs me the right to an occasional glass of beer, that's as intolerant as if I denied you a glass of iced tea. Why don't we step back and take another look at intolerance and see it for what it is?

FASCINATING FACTS ABOUT NATURAL GAS

From Rags To Riches

At one time, women cooked their food over flames that shot from holes in the ground — fantastic but true!

Thousands of years ago travelers, returning from China, told of villages built around Natural GAS seepages and of Chinese women cooking their food over these Natural GAS flames.

Amazing things have happened to Natural GAS — it is no longer an outdoor flame to cook food — but a wonder-fuel that furnishes energy for cooking, refrigeration, laundry, water heating, house heating and indoor disposal of trash and garbage — Natural GAS has made the "livin' easy" and housework fun!

This "stored sunshine" is one of America's favorite fuels — s... out of ten homes built today use Natural GAS for heating. Call or write your Heating Equipment Dealer or Consumers Power Company for information about inexpensive, automatic GAS heat.

Dollars Well Spent

BRITTON — Mrs. Barbara Watts, superintendent of the Adrian Girls' School, spoke Wednesday night at the regular monthly meeting of the Duets Class of the Congregational Christian Church.

Emphasizing the purpose, the need and the value of the rehabilitation program carried out by the school, she left no doubts in the minds of those present, that the tax dollars spent here are used effectively.

The question period revealed an intense interest in the services performed by the workers in this state school.

An invitation to individuals or groups to visit the school Mondays through Fridays was extended by Mrs. Watts.

Accompanying her was her mother, Mrs. Hall, also of Adrian. Fourteen members of the Dundee Congregators were also guests at the meeting.

Words of appreciation to the speaker were expressed by Roger Gillespie, chairman of the Class, who also presided at a brief business session.

Michigan Chorale Sings Mother's Day from Burton Tower

The Rev. John A. Barker, director of church extension and evangelism of the Michigan Baptist Convention, spoke at the First Baptist Church Sunday in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Blair Bashore.

The Bashores were conducting services at the North Rome Baptist Church to honor the 100th anniversary of the founding of that church. More than 150 people attended services there during the day.

The Michigan Chorale, of which Dennis is a member, is currently preparing for a South American tour this summer.

They are scheduled to sing from Burton Bell Tower in Ann Arbor on Mother's Day, May 8.

A concert at the Walled Lake High School at 2 p.m. on May 15 will assist the members in paying for the costumes to be used on the trip.

Soft Drinks and Alcoholic Beverage Stains

By ROYAL WELCH

There's hardly a family in the land that doesn't drink either soft drinks or alcoholic drinks of some kind.

From the standpoint of clothes, and the inevitable spilling and staining a few words to the wise can help avoid serious consequences.

SOFT DRINKS. Most of the common soft drinks — such as the colas, root-beer, ginger ale, and "pop" remain invisible on fabric until heat is applied. Then a characteristic brown stain appears—often fixed for good.

Here's a suggestion: On washable garments, sponge out with clear water only. NEVER USE SOAP. And don't iron until absolutely sure all of the soft drink is out.

If the garment is a dry cleanable one, DO NOTHING. No rubbing or wiping. And if you'll tell us where the stain is when you bring it in, we'll give it the special treatment such stains require. No extra charge. And don't let the garment sit around in the closet. Moths just love stains.

ALCOHOLIC DRINKS. In general, the same precautions as with soft drinks. The one exception is that alcohol may loosen dyes. There is, unfortunately, no real remedy for this.

With dry cleanable garments —whatever the stain—it's wise to have them cleaned immediately.

The reason for quick action is that the longer the stains stay on the fabric the more deeply imbedded they become — and through aging, the more permanently fixed. Why not avoid this? Why not, instead, bring them to Welch Cleaners.

CHEVROLET
OVER BACK-COUNTRY ROADS AT 45 WITH A SKY-HIGH LOAD OF TIMBER

That's a 6303 medium-duty Chevrolet powered by a 283-cu.-in. V8. But there's sure nothing medium-duty about the load. Mr. J. E. Blankinship, Arkansas logging contractor, says both of his torsion-spring 6303's "move along at 40 to 50 miles per hour with 55,000 pounds gross weight and maintain a 5-trip-a-day schedule with no trouble at all." Figure the money you save when you've got a medium-duty truck that can cover 30,000 back-country miles a year with a high-tonnage load!

We've never seen anything like the amount of praise truck owners are heaping on Chevy's new torsion spring suspension. Owners like the fact the truck handles a whole lot easier, can move faster off the road without beating the driver to death and shaking loose all the sheet metal. They like the idea of extra thousands of miles before trade-in! . . . Drive a '60 Chevy just once. It's a whole new experience.

Chevy middleweight averages 200 miles of back roads a day dogging timber out of the woods and delivering it to the mill at Crossett, Arkansas.

Comes a Long Way

A Sunday school teacher was heard to say in the early 1800's, "I thought that the Sunday school was getting dead, but now I don't think its getting dead very fast."

The quaint understatement of this pioneer Sunday school teacher was a forecast of events to come—such as a meeting on the banks of Monroe County's Raisin River 100 years ago.

It was a fine September day in 1860 when some 3,000 children and teachers gathered in a verdant elm grove just outside the village of Raisinville.

The group was the Monroe County Sabbath School Association before the year ended.

Centennial observance of this first state-wide cooperative organization will be held April 23 in Lansing when the Michigan Council of Churches' Division of Christian Education (an outgrowth of the 1860 association) will celebrate "Adventure in Cooperation."

All work is now incorporated under the Michigan Council of Churches, with the Division of Christian Education carrying on the work of the early Sunday school movement.

Dr. G. Merrill Lenox is the Executive Director of the Council, and the Rev. Paul H. King, Director of Christian Education with headquarters in Lansing.

"Now with a membership of 2,700 churches, representing 17 denominations, the Centennial Observance will be marked by a dramatic review of the past, a look at the present and plans for the task ahead," reports Dr. Lenox.

"We have come a long way through dedicated vision, aspiration and pioneer struggles in the face of opposition," Rev. Mr. King said, "but, in our unity and dependance upon one another we face now the magnificient challenge of tomorrow."

Caution Children

Now is the time to warn your children about talking with strangers advises Sgt. Carl Anderson commanding officer of the Clinton post of the Michigan State Police.

"The safest rule for children to follow," Sgt. Anderson said, "is to have nothing to do with strangers and to tell their parents immediately if any strangers approach them and offer them candy or other things if they will go with them."

Because depraved men and women are often successful in enticing children to become victims of their immoral and criminal sex behavior, Sgt. Anderson suggests several "don'ts" and "do's" for parents to tell their children to protect them:

1. When you meet strangers walking or in cars, do not stop to talk with them.
2. Always know the person you are with. If you don't, do not accept rides or go for walks with them.
3. Don't let strangers join you during play hours at school or around home.
4. Don't play or walk alone in alleys, deserted buildings and other secluded places. Always arrange to be with one or more playmates.
5. If strangers offer you money, a gift, candy or ice cream, do not accept them.
6. If a stranger offers to give you a job to earn some spending money, do not accept or go with him until you have talked with your parents and they have given their consent.
7. When you go to a movie, always take a pal along. Do not let a stranger sitting next to you touch your clothes or body. If one attempts to report it to the theater manager immediately.
8. Do not play or walk too close to the road. Keep a safe distance away to prevent strangers touching or grabbing you.

1. Either write down or memorize the stranger's description, approximate height, weight, color of eyes and an estimate of his age. Remember particularly any special things like a mustache, scars, blemishes on his face, tatoos, or physical defects like a limp or glasses with thick lens, and peculiar actions.
2. Make a note of the color, type and style of clothing worn, particularly any jewelry or other unusual thing which might help identify the person.
3. If possible get the license number of the stranger's car. Write it down with a pencil or, if you don't have one, scratch it on the sidewalk with a stone or in the sand with a stick.
4. Whenever you can, keep together in a group during outside activities at school or away from your home.
5. If a stranger or suspicious acting person is hanging around school, a playground or other place where children congregate, promptly report the fact to your parents, the police or teacher. Police investigation will reveal whether the person has a legitimate reason for being there and if he does, he will not be offended by being contacted.

"IT TAKES VISION AND COURAGE TO CREATE"

The large pharmaceutical firms who supply the medicines we dispense in your prescriptions spend up to 10% of their income on research. No sooner do they perfect a new drug for a particular ailment, then they immediately start to find a still better one to replace it.

It takes courage to invest such vast sums in research. If no important discovery develops profits can vanish. Yet, medicines that originally cost millions of research dollars to create, when perfected cost only a few cents per treatment.

THE LINCOLN LORDS by Cameron Hawley — The reader finds himself an on-the-spot participant in the dramatic world of business, particularly that of Lincoln Lord, the handsome, likeable, prepossessing career man. But this is also the penetrating, compassionate story of a marriage.

ABIGAIL by Mary Aswell — The heroine of this sweeping novel, a dynamic, provocative, witty, and rebellious woman, lives in these pages from her birth in the year 1700 to her death seventy-five years later. The story of her life-long revolt is skillfully told in this exciting tale set against the panorama of Quaker life in Philadelphia during the pre-Revolutionary period.

GENERATION WITHOUT FAREWELL by Kay Boyle — This moving novel is set in a small Hessian town during the American military occupation of Germany. Its characters confront one another across the chasm of national differences between the conquered and the conquerors.

THE MEN FROM THE BUSH by Ronald Hardy — Mr. Hardy has re-created the problems and people of a complex and changing land. The rumor that four natives would arrive in the capital of Ukari in search of a victim to sacrifice to the rain gods swept through the restless city with the speed and fury of a brush fire. This saga tells of a young boy's desperate search, its climactic ending, and the tense, event-filled days before.

Kiwanis Presents 2 Films

Tecumseh's Kiwanis Club is presenting a program of Waldo Johnson's travelogues at the United Products Workers Union Hall Thursday, May 5 at 8 p.m.

Being shown are two films, "Riding High in India" and "Orchid Island."

The hall is being donated by the Products Union.

Tickets are $1 for adults and 50c for children.

"Riding High In India" is a one hour and forty minutes movie in color revealing the people and customs of India.

The camera lens incorporates Banaras, the sacred city with its temples on the Holy Ganges river where thousands come from all over India to worship.

There is hunting and bagging of much wild game, even to the rare gaur (Indian bison) weighing a ton or more.

Also photographed are elephant families in the deep jungle, hunting with the Maharaja and the rare Coorg wedding with General Cariappa.

"Orchid Island" is in color and runs 30 minutes, was taken on Orchid Island, the farthest north island of the Philippines, but not belonging to the United States.

Twelve hours by ship from the southeast coast of Taiwan, 1,700 people are living in a civilization 1,000 years before Christ's time, on a tiny mountainous island you could walk around in eight hours.

No wheels, no meat animals or draft animals, these people live on fish, lily roots and wild sweet potatoes. They are a small brown race of aboriginal heritage, friendly and healthy.

Through My Window

THE BLACK THIEVES HAVE RETURNED

Just looked out the window and ugh. Not only have the black thieves returned in full force, but all their henchmen and side-kicks are here as well. Grackles, starlings and cow-birds are everywhere — they monopolize the feeders, cover the ground and flock through the trees.

About starlings, nothing, absolutely nothing, pleasant can be said. They are dirty, unattractive birds with most reprehensible habits and the sad thing is that they are not native birds.

Were it not for the misguided meddler, who in about 1890 imported 100 pair and then released them, we would not now be bothered with the pests.

Bad as it is this time of year, with them squabbling at the feeders and waddling about the yard, I hate to think of the summer when huge flocks will, each night, invade us.

About the cow-birds—interesting, but we would never-the-less be much happier were they not so plentiful. Actually they rate an article in themselves and so let's pass on to the big-wigs themselves.

Oh yes, the grackles, the black thieves.

☆

APPEARANCE-WISE it must be admitted that they are pretty, even beautiful. However, theirs is a cold cruel beauty. Big, black birds, they can be very sleek looking and when in bright sunlight, their heads and shoulders shine blue, purple or even a dark green.

Striking birds except for their heavy wicked bills and mean evil-looking yellow eyes. Their color may be lovely, but the last mentioned characteristics show their true nature.

As early returnees, the first few grackles to be spotted each spring are quite exciting. They don't know when to stop a good thing though and in a very short time their welcome is worn out.

They feed everywhere—at the feeders, in the corn-tree, in the lawns, along the creek-bank, etc. and, of course, thus compete with many of the more desirable birds.

Still and all, I think they are not the complete villians as far as displacing other birds as are the starlings who vie with the much preferred bluebirds, flickers, woodpeckers, wrens, etc for nesting sites.

☆

THERE IS A certain dignity about a grackle as he struts and swaggers across a bright spring green lawn, but the minute he opens his mouth, the illusion is shattered.

They have ridiculous voices and it is such an effort for them to force out their raucous choking croaks that one wonders why they bother.

A typical scene: three or four grackles on the feeder and as one starts to wheeze, all follow suit.

They blow themselves up, ruff out their feathers, extend their wings slightly and let them droop, tails fan out wide, necks stretch out, heads tilt up and those big bills open wide.

The bodies shudder and tremble the birds push up on their tip-toes and finally, after all this work, what kind of a sound is brought forth?

Well, it's almost a cross between the protesting squeak of a rusty hinge and the asthmatic wheezing of a creaking wheelbarrow. Some racket.

Well, just looked out again and the scene is the same. The black thieves are really back and along with their ill-chosen friends are over-running everything.

What other two? Falcon and Corvair, that's who. Every time they try to compete with Valiant they end up talking to themselves. Economy, performance, room, looks, value, Valiant's got them both beat six ways from Sunday. Check the comparisons below. You'll see what we mean.

Valiant beat the carburetors off both Falcon and Corvair in the Mobilgas Economy Run.	Valiant walked off with the first seven places in the Daytona Trials. Corvair and Falcon? Still mumbling.	Valiant's got room for a well-fed family of six. Plenty of room for legs, hips, heads and hats. And look how the trunks stack up:	The New York Couture Group gave Valiant their Design Supremacy Award, said it was the best looking car in America.	Below are the manufacturers suggested retail price of the lowest cost 4-door sedan of each make.

We're offering immediate delivery on all models (sedans & wagons), all colors (eight spritely ones), low bank rates, no payments 'til June. If you're going to buy a low price car ...be sure you get the better one!

Many people figure that since the car they are considering has historically had a "low-price" name it must be, in fact, a low-price car.

This, at one time, was true. But today the names of cars, as you may know, have very little to do with their prices. Many cars with traditional low-price names cost more than Mercury—a name you have always associated with higher price cars.

Our point is this:

A Mercury Monterey, with de luxe appointments, is now priced $31 to $66 less* than any of the best selling Fords, Chevrolets, and Plymouths (the V-8 powered Galaxies, Impalas, and Furys). Yet Mercury offers you far more of everything you want in a car.

Some new-car buyers are skeptical when we tell them this price story. Here are some of the questions they ask—and our answers:

Q. "Do you mean to say that Mercury is now a low-price car? How come? Did you reduce prices?"

A. "Yes, Mercury now is a low-price car. We reduced prices on every Mercury model for 1960. Monterey prices are now $174 lower, including extras that are now standard equipment."

Q. "But in your price comparison, aren't you talking about a 'stripped' Mercury—with rubber mats, plain interiors, no glamour?"

A. "No, we're talking about a de luxe-appointed Monterey with beautiful nylon interior and deep, thick carpeting. Instead of cutting corners to meet a price, we actually added $150 worth of extra value to this year's car. Our price comparison is absolutely fair."

Q. "Okay, I'll concede the point. But do dealers actually have this car in stock, or is it just a special model for advertising purposes?"

A. "No. It is a standard Mercury model—a 2-door Mercury Monterey. Dealers either have it in stock or can get it fast."

Q. "Do all Mercury Monterey models have as good a price story?"

A. "Yes, model for model they are now priced below—or within a few dollars of—the Galaxie, Impala, and Fury."

Q. "All right. Now just what does Mercury offer me that I can't get in other low-price cars?"

A. "The most amazing value ever offered. Just read below!"

MERCURY ADDS UP TO A BETTER LOW-PRICE CAR

7 to 8 inches longer wheelbase than Galaxie, Impala, and Fury + 289 to 394 pounds heavier + larger tires + bigger rear springs + unique 3-phase shock absorbers + up to 23% more insulation = A smoother, quieter ride.

More spacious passenger compartment, particularly in the front seat + more shoulder room and front leg room + more center passenger room (up to 692 cubic inches more foot room for center-seat passengers) = Greater comfort.

Self-adjusting brakes that require no periodic adjustment + new center-spot defrosters that clear eye-level areas first + overlapping 2-speed windshield wiper blades that clear even the center + front doors that are up to 5 inches wider for easier entrance = Greater convenience.

Larger brakes (up to 26% larger, with as much as 49 square inches more brake lining) + greater visibility (up to 28% more glass) + front-hinged hood + heavier frame = Greater safety.

Superior testing (every single Mercury is road-tested by a certified test driver before it is approved for shipment—not just spot-checked as all other low-price and medium-price cars) + stronger, heavier bumpers + stronger, die-cast grille = Finer quality.

Why settle for less? See your Mercury dealer today.

Pets Should Be Vaccinated Against Rabies

A sharp increase in rabies among both domestic and wild animals in the first quarter of the year, with 14 of 18 cases reported occurring in March, has prompted the Lenawee County Health Department to remind people to be sure their pets are vaccinated.

Eighteen cases in the first three months were reported.

In order to help keep rabies from continuing its unusually high incidence, the health department recommends:

1. Rabies vaccination of dogs and cats.
2. Increased control over stray dogs and cats in communities.
3. Keeping pets from running at large.
4. Leaving alone wild animals, particularly skunks.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Others Made No Charge

How do other communities, about the size of Tecumseh, handle the pesky city dump problem. The Herald surveyed several towns and here are the results.

Dowagiac (population 8,000) — Its 20-acre site is open to all city residents for 46½ hours each week. There is no charge.

The city pays $20 per week to a dump attendant, who is allowed to scavenge and sell what he can.

Dowagiac mayor, Eugene Jamison, said, "We have to pay $185 to a contractor for digging a ditch 600 feet long for the refuse. We have this done three times yearly. Just purchased a used tractor for backfilling the dump also."

Alma (population 9,500) — Has a land-fill, approximately 15 acres and a burning site, about three acres.

The landfill is open 49 hours weekly, the burning site 24 hours a day. There is no charge to use these facilities and they are open to anyone.

The city pays $1,200 a year to maintain the pair.

Hastings (population 6,700)—Provides a 22-acre dump with no restrictions on use. It is open "practically at all times" and there is a resident operator. There is no fee.

Hastings pays a dump operator $1,780 and furnishes him with a small home. Work by city employees comes to about $250 yearly.

Grand Haven (population 11,000) — Dump covers about two acres on low land. Dump is being controlled to form fill for a needed road. It's 100 feet wide to permit cars to make U-turns.

Open all hours, there is no charge.

"At one time garbage was allowed, which provided a breeding place for rats," explains Grand Haven city manager R. V. Temill. "This was eliminated. Attendant burns combustible materials and remaining refuse makes fairly solid fill. This is covered with a light layer of cheap waste gravel obtainable nearby, which eliminates nail and wire trouble for tires. Our garbage is handled by contract to a sanitary landfill in a rural area."

Charlotte (population 8,000) — A five-acre dump is shared by the city and two townships, which each pay the city $15 per month for use.

Open about 50 hours a week, no charge is made.

An attendant is paid $15 per week. The dump is covered regularly although Charlotte city Clerk Bernadine Vaughn, who filled out The Herald questionnaire, did not say how often.

This gives an idea of what several Michigan cities are doing. In each instance, no charge is made, which is an interesting comparison to Tecumseh, where between 25c to $1 is assessed to users, based on the size of loads they bring.

Nothing But Good

When seven persons accepted appointment to a special committee last January named by the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation, they may or may not have known what lay ahead.

In a word: toil.

These are the folks making up FACT—the Foundation Advisory Committee of Tecumseh.

To outsiders, FACT had what looked like a simple problem: find out how citizens wanted surplus money from the annual fund drives spent.

But it is proving a most rugged assignment — and not one member of FACT has dragged his or her feet.

The group is responsible for the concise report each week in The Herald, explaining present community facilities and reporting on new possibilities.

Behind these summaries is thorough investigations, including trips to other cities and long weekly gatherings.

A twice-a-week meeting schedule begins next week, meaning more time devoted to FACT.

We certainly admire folks who assume their civic responsibilities with such gusto and we know that nothing but good for our city will come of their efforts.

Post Office Can Ask What's In Packages for Mail

Are you one of the few who take offense at being asked what your parcels contain when they are presented at the post office for mailing?

"If so, please believe that the receiving clerk is not prying into your private affairs," says Postmaster Jack G Metcalf. "He is only doing his duty."

Some of the things that people would like to transport through the mails pose a natural hazard to postal personnel and to other mail matter.

For example, firearms, explosives, radio-active materials, reptiles, chemicals and liquor are capable of inflicting serious damage, and so are unmailable except where special permission is granted.

Packages of items that are unquestionably mailable sometimes contain written matter without its presence being shown through proper endorsement. "This can cause delay in delivery, unnecessary inconvenience and expense, or even confiscation of the parcel," says Postmaster Metcalf.

Hat Features Glove Holding Deck of Cards

High bridge score was won by Mrs. Louis S. Schneider and Mrs. Bert Ousterhout.

Hostesses were Mrs. Roger Linger and Mrs. George French.

Children Should Have Physicals

Dr. John S. Wisely, director of the Lenawee County Health Department, urges that all children entering school for the first time next fall have physical and dental examinations and receive protection against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and polio before they start school.

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

In 1937, shortly after Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Mohr moved to Tecumseh, a friend told him,

"Say, I was just talking with your brother Roland."

Mr. Mohr blinked and replied, "I don't have a brother by that name."

That was the first time Waldo heard of Roland Mohr, who was a long-time resident of our city.

And this was the start of a lot of good-natured confusion, which created all sorts of fun, especially during World War II.

To start with:

The Waldo Mohrs live at 214 W. Logan St.

The Roland Mohrs live at 214 E. Logan St.

Each family has a son named Robert. Waldo's offspring works at Tecumseh Lumber Co. Roland's lad is Dr. Mohr, the dentist.

During the war, both Roberts were Air Force mechanics, both in the Pacific theatre.

They passed within a few miles of one another in the last stages, although they never saw one another.

The Robert of W. Logan was based on Ie Shima Island, the same one on which Ernie Pyle was killed.

The Robert of E. Logan touched briefly in nearly Okinawa and steamed by Ie Shima on his way to Japan.

Surprisingly, the military post office in those days never missed a correct delivery, but at home it was a different story.

Mrs. Waldo Mohr said that her opposite number on E. Logan and she "were forever running back and forth exchanging letters."

In the daughter department, there wasn't so much mixup — although it was close.

The Roland Mohrs named their girl Ellen. She's now Mrs. Robert Purkey.

When the Waldo Mohrs girl arrived, they liked the name Ellen, too, but finally decided on this for a middle name and christened their daughter, Lenore Ellen. (She's now Mrs. Jack Curtiss.)

Incidentally, Mohr is the German spelling.

287 Delegates Attend Session of Presbyterial

The Rev. Julian Gresham and Mrs. Wilbur Boyce, Women's Association president, extended greetings to these assembled from Jackson, Lansing, Battle Creek, Hillsdale, Adrian and smaller towns.

Mrs. John Hamilton conducted the worship. Yearly reports were given and officers elected for the ensuing year.

Mary Turrentine, commission representative of commission on ecumenical mission and relation, was the speaker. Her subject was to Declare — To Demonstrate."

Mrs. Al Merz sang, "He Smiled On Me," accompanied by Mrs. Fred C. Dickinson.

New officers were installed by Mrs Luther Berhanke, the synodical president.

The meeting closed with reading "A Litany of Life Commitment."

VFW Commander Names Chairman for Poppy Sale

Improved Off-Street Parking Comes Closer

By JIM LINCOLN

Council indicated Monday night that improved downtown parking lots were in the offing.

Don Murphy, Chamber of Commerce Secretary, told councilmen that the group's parking committee had obtained costs on most of the property behind businesses in the northeast block and most of the costs were in line with the city assessor's estimates.

The proposed parking lot, behind Baldwin's Hardware, would handle over 60 cars. A larger lot is planned there for the future.

The estimated cost to procure land there now is $26,000. One or two property owners have either held out or asked for nearly twice the assessed value.

Council intimated that condemnation procedures could be instigated unless owners agreed to sell and at a fair price.

☆

A GROUP of residents protested council's plans to change the dog ordinance, which would prohibit dogs running at large, off the owner's property.

The present ordinance allows dogs the freedom of 1,000 feet from home, unless they are a nuisance.

Karl Schneider presented a petition for the group, saying that it was unfair to penalize all dogs and owners simply because a few dogs run at large and are a nuisance.

Several councilmen explained that there had been many complaints and dogs were destructive in many neighborhoods.

☆

THE CITY DUMP again became a subject after council questioned city manager Ed Nelson about its condition.

Nelson admitted that he was not completely satisfied with the dump, although at times it was in excellent condition.

Council suggested that the city investigate the possibilities that it handle the dump, including pickup of trash and garbage.

☆

IN OTHER action, council:

1. Requested the city manager to survey residents in Tecumseh Acres about installing sidewalks.

2. Approved a public hearing for May 17 on installation of curb and gutter on Herirck Park Dr., between Evans and Maumee.

3. Refused water service to a new service station, outside city limits on the south side of Russell Rd.

4. Reappointed Walter Nichols, William Frownfelder and Mrs. Gale Fisher to the Planning Commission.

5. Appointed Carson House as marshal of the day for Memorial Day parade.

6. Approved summer recreation program, presented by Duncan Leckta, and which included a bigger adult program.

7. Renewed a sidewalk contractor's license with Wes Haeussler.

8. Adopted 1960-'61 budget.

9. Approved an aerial survey

600 Make Tour

They came from as far as Virginia (see cut below) to take part in the 31st annual Lenawee County Beef Tour Friday. All told, more than 600 cattlemen, feeders, buyers, ranchers and just plain farmers were on hand. Starting in the morning at the Curtiss M. Brown spread, just east of Tecumseh, the guests heard Michigan State University experts talk about feeding experiments at the Brown farm. At noon they had a lunch of beef sandwiches. Then in a caravan of about 250 cars, trucks and buses, they moved on to three other cattle layouts in the county. It was a busy day.

Information from FACT

(Editor's note — The Foundation Advisory Committee of Tecumseh — FACT — a citizen's Committee appointed by the Tecumseh Community Foundation Board, is gathering information concerning various possible civic projects. This article is part of a series and presents basic information. It is not intended to be a recommendation for or against any particular project. Please address correspondence to FACT, Box 421, Tecumseh.)

RECREATION PROGRAM

What is the present Tecumseh recreation program?

It is principally a summer setup for children using the parks, the swimming pool and the library for a story hour.

There are some adult softball teams as well.

It is supported half by the city and half by the Community Fund Foundation. Total budget of the current year is $7,000.

Last year's budget was $6,500.

What could the community recreation program be with more planning and adequate funds?

☆

A COMPLETE recreation program should serve every age group and every interest group in the community.

The program should be year-round, it should utilize fully the school facilities and parks for not only children, but adults in special classes for handicraft, ceramics, sewing, dancing, etc.

There could be social gatherings for elderly citizens too.

A complete recreation program includes the activities for junior and senior high young people usually associated with a Teen Club program.

All of these should be under the supervision of a trained professional recreation leader.

There is great need for adequate recreation in this changing world with more and more time available to citizens apart from their daily work.

☆

THE GENERAL makeup of the guiding body for a recreation program may differ with size and location of a city but there are certain basic factors which seem to be common to most.

The governing board is usually made up of five or more members who operate as an advisory group reporting to the chief city executive or governing body (council or commission).

This board may be elected or appointed. It usually has legal status due to enabling legislation.

The powers exercised by such boards usually extend to borrowing money, issuing bonds against voted tax millage, and annexing additional property for recreational purposes.

The person directly in charge of successful recreation programs is almost always a professional, experienced person

ADDITION TO TEENS

This is an addition to last week's article on teenage facilities. The Sage building, which contains the Teen Club, is not condemned. The state fire marshall has approved the building as it is at present and thus it is safe for public gatherings.

Boosters Net Profit of $543

Keith Barron, treasurer of the Band Boosters Club, reported a profit of $543.59 from the sale of calendars at the meeting last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Curtis Wright, president, awarded pen and pencil sets to Mrs. George Meads for the highest individual sales and to Mrs. Howard Wilson, Jr. as block chairman with highest sales.

"The officers and committee are grateful to the residents and organizations for their cooperation in making the sale a success," said Mrs. Don Beevers, vice-president.

A project discussed for the fall season was the offer of Romaine Wilhelmson to present a lecture and pictures.

Investigates Television Set

Last Wednesday the fire department was called to the city dump at 3:15 p.m. to put out a fire and prevent it from spreading to the adjoining properties.

On Thursday, the smoke eaters were called to 315 N. Union St. at 4:50 p.m. when a deep well on a stove, in the apartment of Lyman Cleveland, had caught fire.

The damage was minor as the deep well had been removed by the time the fire department arrived.

Tuesday at 12:40 p.m., the fire chief investigated a television set which was shoting out at the home of John Kopka of 8 Water St.

See New School

Four members of Child Study Group 1 attended the spring planning meeting held recently at the new high school in Chelsea, designed by a Japanese architect. They were Mrs. Al Merz, Mrs. Carson House, Mrs. Orrie Gilbert and Mrs. Leslie Bennett.

Mrs. Stanley Cook and Mrs. George Halberstadt attended from Group 2.

Church Addition Is Dedicated

The occasion was the dedication of the recently-completed addition to the church.

As 250 members and friends were seated, an organ prelude was played by Mrs. Amos Wilson, the church organist.

Following the call to worship by the pastor, the Rev. Paul Brantingham, and a congregational song, the scripture was read by Mrs. Perry Hayden, Sunday School Superintendent.

Directed by Mrs. Paul Brantingham, the choir sang "Sing Aloud Unto God".

The monthly meeting clerk, Marvin Johnson, recognized some special guests in the audience and read greetings from several who could not attend, including a former pastor, the Rev. Lawrence Linton of Alliance, Ohio.

After the offering was received by Ralph Comfort, treasurer of the Trustees, the Rev. Lawrence Cox, Friends pastor at Raisin Valley, brought greetings as a "neighbor", as Adrian quarterly meeting superintendent and as an officer of Ohio yearly meeting.

The dedication message was delivered by the Rev. Edward Escolme of Damascus, pastor of the Tecumseh church for 39 years. The dedicatory prayer was offered by Mr. Brantingham.

Mrs. Martin Halley sang "Bless This House."

The color scheme for the reception was pink and green. Centering the serving table was an arrangement of sweet peas, on either side of which were lighted matching tapers.

Cake squares decorated with pink roses were made and served by Mrs. Clarence Randolph, assisted by Marjorie Martin, with Mrs. Perry Hayden and Mrs. Marvin Johnson pouring. Ardys Drewyor presided at the punch bowl.

Clean-Up Week

Keep Water Available for Canines

This week marks the 46th annual Animal Week.

The American Humane Society would like to stress the need of a human attitude, not only to our animals, but to our fellow men as well, as this is their purpose.

Animals, like humans, should have water available at all times, regular feedings, warm shelters in the winter and shady shelters in the summer with the opening of the dog house facing the east as this is the direction of the least wind.

Dogs tied outside should have at least six feet of chain for a run or a pen equal to 6' by 6'.

The Lenawee County Humane Society Shelter is located two miles east of Adrian on Academy Rd. The visiting hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., daily except Sunday which is from 11a.m. to 3 p.m.

Complaints of inhuman treatment are welcomed and investigated, donations cheerfully accepted.

More than 20,000 patients are admitted to University Hospital at The University of Michigan each year.

Kitchen Tour Offers Variety of Settings

It's the merry month of May and time again for the annual St. Peter's Church Kitchen Tour, which this year will be held Thursday, May 19, from 2 to 5 in the afternoon.

The homes this year provide a variety of settings and decors to whet the viewers interests.

The Thomas Jacoby home at 703 Ternes Road has a completely modern kitchen amidst an early American setting.

The Robert Murray home at 5818 Green Highway was originally built about 1885.

It has been completely remodeled by the Murray family and furnished throughout with antiques—with the exception of the kitchen working section which is completely modern.

The W. N. Winfield home at 703 W. Pottawatamie would be described as a typical comfortable, lived-in American home. The kitchen is decorated in shades of red, gray and white.

The Frank Purcell home at 5200 E. Monroe Rd. is of modern architecture giving a feeling of space running from one room to another with a modern built-in kitchen.

The furnishings are contemporary modern.

Climaxing the tour a tea will be held in the church parish house.

Available at the homes again this year will be pies, cookies bread and rolls. At the parish house casseroles, beans, rice pudding and salads may be purchased.

Murph Reports

By DONALD MURPHY
Executive Secretary, Chamber of Commerce

Several weeks ago, a rumor made the round that "a potential industry for Tecumseh had been badly handled and ended up being established in Wisconsin."

Inference was that the gentleman founding the firm was not given information he wanted.

The contrary is true. He was provided everything he desired, given extensive tours and, in fact, arrangements were made to rent a small engineering office, which would be used until the plant was established.

Several townspeople preferred to believe otherwise and circulated a story that "Tecumseh goofed."

In defense of the Chamber's industrial committee — Karl Schneider chairman, Jack Osburn, Rr. Robert Murray, Dr. Robert Laidlaw, Bill Powell, Del King and Royal Welch — as well as myself, I would like to make the following statements:

It is utterly ridiculous for anyone to say that the above named persons would do anything to discourage the growth of existing industries or not to do anything to help new industries locate in Tecumseh.

This committee spends its valuable time, as well as its dollars, looking for additional business that would benefit all of us and to have someone come along and say otherwise sorta galls me.

Being a newcomer to Tecumseh — and I admit I have made mistakes — it isn't hard for me to understand that certain things could be said about me, but I would like to say that stopping business from moving here isn't one of them.

I would ask that when you hear a rumor concerning my activities in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, that you contact any of the following board members:

Dick Eggleston, president; Gale Fisher, vice-president; Dr. Murray, treasurer, Tom Corkery, Royal Welch, Bill Powell, Dr. Richard Coak, Harvey Carpenter or Jim Lincoln.

The best way to stop a rumor is to contact the people involved.

When the rumor concerns the Chamber of Commerce, contact any of the board or myself and we will be happy to give our side of it.

Pvt. James Covell, son of Mrs. Ruth Covell of 502 S. Adrian St., has been transferred from Fort Knox, Ky, to the Panama Canal Zone. Pvt. Covell is with the personnel department.

FACTS ADDITION

who carries the title "Supervisor of Recreation" or other suitable title.

☆

IT SHOULD be emphasized that the success of any recreation program is dependent upon adequate experienced supervision. It is the concensus of opinion that the success of any recreational program depends much more on good supervision than on facilities.

It is true that a choice must be made, then first-class supervision should be favored.

This is all meant to say that just building fine facilities will not necessarily give you a good recreation program. Recreation must be presented in such a manner that it sells itself.

Year-round recreation pays dividends. It is relatively less expensive and more efficient than a seasonal program. We get greater per capita participation in a year-round offering.

Good recreation supervisors cannot be hired except on a yearly basis. The successful reation program must be on a year-round basis.

The cost of a recreation program can vary widely. This is because a great variety of things can be offered. It is generally agreed that a year-round program can be started in a city, such as Tecumseh, for from $4 to $5 per capita.

This means that the cost at start will be from $25,000 to $30,000 per year. The cost for subsequet years will depend upon how extensive a program is offered and will increase or decrease according to the interest shown by the citizens.

Out-of-town guests present were the Rev. and Mrs. Martin Brantingham, father and mother of the pastor, of Winona, Ohio; David Brantingham, son of the pastor, from Canton, Ohio; Rev. and Mrs. Edward Escolme from Damascus, and their daughter and family of Berea, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Don Johnson and daughters Sandra and Debbie of Nevada, Ohio; Mrs. Ralph Oswalt of Alliance, Ohio; Allen Bordine and friend and Lois Brugger from Malone College in Canton; and Friends from Raisin Center, Raisin Valley and Rollin, Michigan.

Arrangements were made by Mrs. Naomi Sallows, Mrs. Ralph Comfort, Mabel Lockwood, John Kelley, Mrs. Richard Butler, Ardys Drewyor, Mrs. Marvin Johnson, Mrs. Perry Hayden, Mrs. Ronald VanValkenburg, Mrs. John Kelly and Mrs. Wayne Selders.

THE CLARE HANDY FAMILY

Clare Handy Family One of 3 Finalists in Michigan Contest

The Clare E. Handy family of 4391 Comfort Rd. have been selected as one of the three finalists in the state All-American Family contest.

The Orin Small family of Lawrence and the Stanley Bauman family of Elkton are the other two finalists.

The Monday Club, with Mrs. Paul Hadsell as chairman, sponsored the contest in Tecumseh.

A new electric home by Westinghouse is the prize that will be awarded to the Michigan All-American family.

Mr. and Mrs. Handy have three children — Diane 13; Arch 8 and Lynn 2 years.

Mr. Handy was born and raised in Tecumseh. He has been employed for 20 years with the Tecumseh Products Co. and also raises Angora rabbits and cultivates Christmas trees.

The entire family are collectors of rare stones, minerals and fossils, which Mr. Handy cuts and polishes. He also makes jewelry from precious and semi-precious stones.

He teaches lapidary arts to those interested.

Mrs. Handy writes articles for a hobby magazine entitled, "Swapper's Paradise", which has a circulation in all of the states and some foreign countries.

She is the librarian for the Mineral Club of Southern Michigan and publicity chairman for the Rockrama, which is sponsored by the Midwest Mineral Society composed of 5,000 members in 90 clubs in 13 states.

In 1954, Mrs. Handy wrote and published a book of poems with proceeds donated to the polio fund.

She also writes religious items for the St. Peter's Keys, a church bulletin.

Diane received second prize in the American Federation Junior Essay contest and first place in the junior division in minerals at Saginaw Fair last year.

Arts Club Sees New Hair Styles

About 25 members and guests of the Milan Home Arts Club were in Tecumseh last Monday evening for a demonstration program at the House of Glamour.

Joseph Markel, assisted by Daisy Humphrey, presented the newest hair styles from the little miss with a pixie through high school and college age with a bouffant to the smart matron with dashing streaks of gray for accent.

To compliment the lovely hairstyles, Mrs. Harold Pickard of the Pickard Floral Shop made floral hair pieces, using arrangements of Frenched chrysanthemums, mums, roses, orchids, carnations and glamellias.

Hair styles shown were:

French twist modeled by Shirley Van Camp

Pixie—Miss Valedea

Bubble—Mrs. Bernard Fero

Severe Bubble—Mrs. John Ipsen

Puff Page—Linda Easton

Jet Jewel—Jewel Lewis

Following the demonstration the group toured the flower shop and then held a short business meeting at the home of Mrs. Fero where refreshments were served by the hostess and committee.

Cathy Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis B. Brown, entertained Becky Harvill of Adrian as her house guest Thursday and Friday. Miss Harvill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harvill.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown attended the opening game in Detroit Friday between Detroit and Chicago.

A Cappella Singers Perform

The A Cappella Motet Singers from the St. Paul Methodist Church in Louisville, Ky. presented a concert of sacred music at the First Baptist Church last Tuesday evening.

Their visit was under sponsorship of the Tecumseh Ministerial Association.

Following the invocation by the Rev. Blair Bashore, the young voices filled the sanctuary with "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee", Heavenly Light", "Oh Hear These, Our Words" and then the spiritual, "Daniel, Daniel, Servant of the Lord."

Other spirituals and several solos were well received by a well filled church.

Of special interest was one, "The Little Drummer Boy", which the Tecumseh High School chorus has made a favorite here and also the benediction, "The Lord Bless and Keep You."

Airman 3/c Robert O'Neill, son of Mrs. Ruth O'Neill of 205 W. Bidwell Street, is spending a 20 days furlough at his home here. Airman O'Neill is being transferred from Biloxi, Mississippi to Grand Rapids, Minnesota.

'Project of Year' Is Maumee Bridge

Tecumseh's "Project of the year" — the north Maumee St. bridge—will get under way within a few months.

Bids already have been submitted, according to city manager Edward Nelson, who spoke to the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club.

Of the nearly $500,000 required to operate the city, each year by careful planning, it is possible to set aside sufficient monies to start a "project of the year," such as this bridge.

The N. Evans St. bridge now is nearly paid for, he explained.

One-half of the funds for the new bridge come from this year's budget, one-half from the revolving fund.

Budget demands, as well as city planning were further explained by Mr. Nelson, who stated that each year 12,000 to 19,000 feet of city curb and gutter are being built, as well as a planned program for recovering of many of the city's streets with bituminous concrete.

In the past six years, more than six acres of gravel have been removed from the city-owned pit and spread on Tecumseh's streets.

Street repair in 1959 totalled $27,000 and this year will probably increase, for Mr. Nelson stated that many cities in this area have already found themselves deep in repair bills as a result of winter weather.

Mr. Nelson congratulated the Kiwanis Club for it's recent "Get Out the Vote" campaign for the city election, yet bemoaned the fact that so few votes were actually cast.

He said that the cost of the election was nearly $700, thus each vote cost slightly less than $1.

He also told of the key city personnel attending courses to become better qualified to handle their jobs within rapidly-growing Tecumseh.

Food and Gravey Stains

By ROYAL WELCH

Generally, these types of stains should be treated in the same manner as other stains we've told you about. That is to say, on washable garments, wipe off with moist cloth DAMPENED WITH WATER ONLY. Do not use soap, and do not iron until absolutely sure all of the stain has been washed out. The sooner you can clean out the stain, the better.

On "dry-cleanable" garments, LEAVE THE STAINS ALONE. DO NOT RUB OR WIPE. This only causes the stains to penetrate the fabric fibers deeper, which makes them more difficult to remove. Above all, have the garment cleaned as soon as possible. Aged stains frequently become fixed permanently.

And, finally, tell us when you bring your garment in that it has been stained. We'll employ our special spot digesting techniques and in almost every case — remove the stains entirely.

These precautions are especially recommended when it comes to food and gravy stains as both of these substances are chemically so complex.

The same is true of salad dressing stains. Except they're even more complex!

Of course, after removing the stain by means of special processes, we then proceed with the standard cleaning procedures, until the garment is pressed neatly and hung, ready for you. So— BRING THEM TO Welch Cleaners.

+ Sit-Down Strikes by Negro People Is Meeting Topic

Plans are being made by the Men's Group of the Presbyterian Church for a program of current interest and concern for Wednesday, May 25, at 8.

At that time the men and any guests they may invite will have the opportunity to hear William Thomas, a Presbyterian layman and member of the Calvary Presbyterian Church of Detroit, speak on the current program of sit-down strikes being staged by the Negro people in the north, south, and mid-west.

Mr. Thomas has been actively involved in organizing such demonstrations in the Detroit area and will talk about the purpose and the hopes of the negro people in planning and promoting such demonstrations.

Race relations, current sit-down strikes, and demonstrations are of timely interest and will offer those attending the opportunity to acquaint themselves with this situation and will afford them the opportunity to ask any questions they may have on the subject.

The question of how much choice we have is the subject for the sermon at the Church this Sunday, May 8. It deals with the two extremes of choice, free-will and predestination and is entitled, "What! A Choice?"

Charles Brian O'Neill, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Neill, was baptized at the First Presbyterian Church last Sunday morning during the regular morning worship service.

The Rev. and Mrs. Gresham will meet with the following Fellowship Groups this coming week:

Thursday, May 5 — at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Boyce.

Wednesday, May 11 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carson House.

The Session will meet on Thursday evening, May 12 at 8 p.m. in the Fellowship Center.

+ 25 Congregations Meet in Albion

Twenty-five congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses will convene in Albion May 27 through 29 for the semi-annual Circuit Assembly announced Kenneth Ball, presiding minister of the Tecumseh congregation.

"The theme of this meet", said Mr. Ball, "will be 'Seek Peace and Pursue It'. With nations talking disarmament and world leaders seeking a formula for peace this Bible approach to the problem is very timely", he declared.

The convention will feature Peter D'Mura, overseer of Witness' activity in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois, whose lecture "Finding Peace in a Troubled World", will highlight the affair.

+ Temptation

Ability to resist and overcome temptation is available to all mankind today. This is the theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Adam and Fallen Man" which will be heard Sunday at Christian Science services.

+ College Choir Singing Here Sunday, May 15

"We have invited the Adrian College Choir to help us observe Cantate Sunday on May 15," reports the Rev. James D. Nixon, pastor of the Methodist Church in Tecumseh.

Under the direction of Professor James Spencer, the choir will present a concert of sacred music in the sanctuary of the Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. Sunday evening, May 15.

"We use Cantate Sunday in the liturgical calendar for Music Appreciation Sunday," said Mr. Nixon.

"The Sunday morning service will feature special music, and a sermon by the pastor citing the importance of music by choir and congregation in worship."

"In the Sunday evening event the Adrian College singers will continue this emphasis. The free-will offering will be used for new choir robes for the Asbury (adult) Choir of the Methodist Church," he added.

This special program has been on the church schedule since last August. The college group was unable to fill this date a year ago because of their tour schedule.

"We have been looking forward to this for some time," said Mr. Nixon. "We hope that our many friends in the community will join us for this program."

Women of the church will serve a luncheon to the choir at 6 p.m. Youth group members will assist in the serving.

+ How Is Your Faith in Morning? Methodists Asked

"How's Your Faith in the Morning?" will be the theme of the sermon by the Rev. James D. Nixon at the Methodist Church Sunday.

The church will be observing The Festival of the Christian Home. The combined Luther and Wesley Choirs will sing the offertory anthem.

The Asbury Choir will sing an anthem in keeping with the attention given mothers on this day.

"We are known best in our homes and we are shown for what we are by how we greet the morning", says Mr. Nixon. "This Sunday we propose to ask how Christians ought to begin the day—as families, and as individuals."

The Adrian Methodist Youth Fellowship is being entertained at the church at 8 p.m. Sunday. Intermediate MYF will elect officers in their 5:30 meeting.

On Sunday morning, May 15, the local congregation will present the Adrian College Choir in sacred concert at 7:30. "The offering will be used to purchase robes for our Asbury Choir," says Leslie M. Bennett, choir director.

+ Revival Service at Church of God

Special revival services will be held next week beginning Sunday evening at the Church of God, announced the pastor, the Rev. T. L. Cruse.

The evangelist will be Tulley McCoy. The meetings will begin each evening at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Mr. Cruse invites the public to attend. The church at 605 S. Pearl St.

Minister Speaks on Church Music

Mrs. C. B. Brock entertained members of St. Peter's Guild of the Episcopal Church at her home Thursday afternoon.

As program chairman, Mrs. Brock presented the Rev. Frank Hawthorne, who spoke on church music and played several recordings of the various types of music.

Mr. Hawthorne led the group in prayer. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. H. H. Hammel, Mrs. Loyd Rhein and Mrs. M. W. Wilson.

The meeting May 12 will be held at the Parish House with Mrs. Wilson as program chairman.

THS Wins Jaycee Relays

By JIM LINCOLN

Depth proved to be a winning factor Saturday for Tecumseh's undefeated track team which swept — or waded — to the Class B laurals in the annual Tecumseh Jaycee Relays.

Two firsts, three seconds and three third places gave Coach Don Brazee's team a seven and a half-point margin over second place Milan.

In the Class C division, University High of Ann Arbor nipped Saline, 53 to 51½.

Although the tracksters escaped rain in the morning trials, they were less fortunate in the afternoon. Wind-driven rain swamped the track for the final four events, sending all but the runners and Jaycee officials to cover.

Terry Hendricks, who set a school record Tuesday against Milan, won the Indians' only individual first with a 5'6½" mark in the high jump.

Tecumseh's other win was in the shuttle hurdles in a meet record time of 1:04.5. Tom Walter, Bob French, Bob Koffron and Bill Radant copped the event.

Koffron was Tecumseh's top pointer with seconds in the shot put and the 120-yard high hurdles, nosing out Walter in the hurdles.

Roger Mead placed second in the pole vault, and after turning in the fastest time in the morning 100-yard dash trials, he ran fifth in the afternoon event. Gene Tuckey tied for fourth in the pole vault.

Coach Brazee's 880-yard relay team finished second, the 440 relay foursome was fourth, and the mile relay team, fifth.

The final event, the 880 relay, won the meet for the Indians since a finish by Milan ahead of Tecumseh would have given the Big Reds the trophy.

Kruger Notches Third

Tecumseh moved into a three-way tie for second place in the Huron League with a seven-inning victory over visiting Ypsilanti Lincoln Friday, 6-3.

Steve Kruger notched his third win with an eight-hitter, striking out seven and walking only two.

Curth opened the third with a walk, stole second and romped home on Tim Whitney's single for Tecumseh third score.

John Robison blasted a home run in the fifth to tally the first of three runs in the inning. Curth followed with his second straight walk.

Fried Chicken and Homemade Bread

BRITTON—Connie Kahle of Britton, a freshman at Eastern Michigan University, is the 1960 Lenawee County Dairy Princess.

The new princess was crowned during a banquet honoring the candidates at the Michigan Producers Dairy Co. auditorium in Adrian.

Connie was selected over 11 other girls.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kahle.

Their farm is located on Gibson Road, six miles northeast of Britton, where she has lived all of her 18 years.

Miss Kahle was sponsored by the Adrian Kiwanis Club.

Connie was first alternate in the 1959 contest.

The new princess, accompanied by her mother, will compete for State Dairy Princess honors May 17 and 18 in Kellogg Center at East Lansing.

Expenses will be paid by the Michigan Dairy Princess committee.

For winning county honors, Connie received several gifts, included a wardrobe consisting of a dress, hat, gloves, purse, hose, jewelry, Shoes and two hair stylings.

The Adrian Area Chamber of Commerce presented her with a plaque which read "Fairest of the Fair, Lenawee Dairy Princess, 1960."

The new princess was crowned by Mrs. Boyd Rice of Lansing, assisted by Sharon Burleson of Macon, the 1959 Lenawee County Dairy Princess.

The following is Connie's prizening speech:

"Good Afternoon. It was nearly a year ago when I received my diploma as co-salutatorian of my graduating class at Britton-Macon Area High School. During my senior year, I served as art editor of our school paper and our school annual.

"It was my privilege to be class president and hold the leading female role in our senior play. My club membership included Math Club and Future Homemakers of America. I was the only girl trombonest in our high school band for 6 years.

"At the age of 13 I joined the Congregational Christian Church. For three years I was active in Youth Fellowship; from there I was a Sunday School teacher for fourth, fifth and sixth grades. This past Easter I was honored to give the sermon for our sunrise service.

"Last summer I undertook the task of tutoring three neighboring children, who had failed their grades.

"Presently I am a second semester Freshman at Eastern Michigan University. My main activity consists of maintaining my 3.4 average which I earned the first semester.

"Also the first semester I did voluntary work two hours a week with handicapped children on the early elementary level at Rackham.

"That in itself was an educational and beneficial experience. Officially I am an art major.

"I've purposely left my farm activities until last.

"As my Mother has been teaching for five years, I've cooked and planned and done my share of the dishes for many meals. Just recently I've attained hearty recognition for my fried chicken and homemade bread; even from my 12-year-old brother, Bill.

"We've always been a dairying family. Dairying brings in over 60% of our income, but it seems that it makes 90% of our work.

"We've used artificial insemination in our herd for 12 years and we've never bought a replacement.

"These cows are now making my college education possible. As we own 90 acres and work a total of 195, I've been called upon several times for such things as disking, raking, unloading grain, pulling weeds, sweeping cob webs, moving electric fences, chasing cows, and doing chores.

"There is one important thing left to say that I have just recently learned.

"When I entered college as a farm girl graduated from a class D school with 22 class members, I thought I would be at a great disadvantage when meeting university competition.

"After meeting the variety of people that you are bound to encounter in the dorm and in classes, I've realized just how much this small school at Britton has done for me.

"And when my city friends wince at the smell of the barn I have to laugh, for then is when I realize what a country girl I am—because I like the smell of our barn. Yes. I'm proud to be a country girl."

The Kahles have a herd of 27 cows with 15 producing over 11,000 pounds of milk each annually.

EVEN A PRINCESS MUST BE ABLE TO CLEAN UP THE MILKING MACHINES.

Vets Advised To Convert GI Insurance

Some 145,000 Michigan veterans holding GI terms life insurance should consider converting to permanent plans, Gene A. Robens, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Detroit, advised today.

Only 90,000 Michigan veterans have thus far converted to permanent insurance, he said.

Premium rates for permanent plans of insurance are higher than those for term policies issued at the same age, but the premium rate on the permanent plan remains the same throughout the lifetime of policy. The rate on term policies increases every five years.

These increases are small at the younger ages, but get progressively higher at the older ages.

As an example, an annual premium on divided participating term insurance leaps from $30.78 per $1,000 insurance at age 60 to $47 at age 65, and to $73.16 at age 70.

As the average life expectancy increases and veterans grow older, more and more policyholders will be faced with the rising cost of term insurance if they plan lifetime protection, he added.

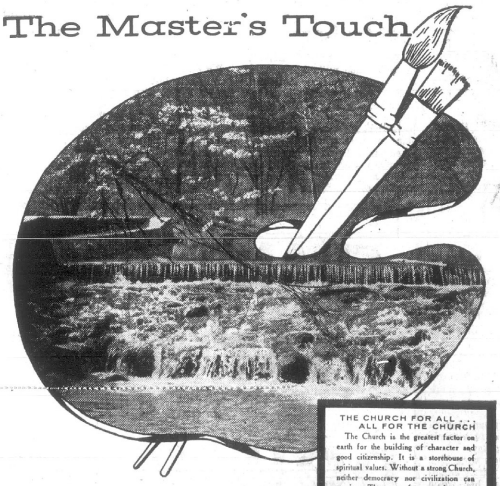
FOR ALL WE HOLD SACRED . . . ATTEND CHURCH!

The Master's Touch



God must love beauty, to use it so lavishly. The Master Artist dapples the soft green leaves with golden sunshine, turns the brook to flowing crystal, and puts a song into Spring itself.

There is beauty in us, too . . . because He put it there. In His sight, none of us are ugly, none of us are forsaken, none of us are "lost."

But sometimes, in the busy process of day-to-day living, we turn blind eyes upon the world's loveliness, and take for granted the gifts which should brighten the hours and years. We need a faith that gives us vision to find again the inner beauty He gave us in the beginning . . . a gift which He never takes away. Let us go, then, to His Church, Let us "enter into His gates with thanksgiving . . . for the Lord is good; His mercy is everlasting; and His Truth endureth forever."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

State Police To Hold Open House

Michigan Week will be observed by the state police with open house at all posts on "Hospitality Day" Tuesday, May 17.

The state flag will fly all week, according to Sgt. Carl Anderson, commanding officer of the Clinton post.

"Hospitality Day" is part of the Michigan Week program each year, and visiting hours at the Clinton post will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Officers will escort the visitors to explain department operations and there will be a display of equipment.

"Visitors are always welcome at the post but 'Hospitality Day' offers a special opportunity to look us over," said Sgt. Anderson. "They will see how the post functions and learn about the services we perform."

The open house programs at the posts during Michigan Week in past years have been well received and have attracted thousands of visitors.

Through My Window

PLEASE PASS THE RASPBERRY JAM

There was just no mistaking the identity of the little bird who came hopping up over the creek bank and busied himself, for far, far too short a time, at the scratch-feed scattered on the ground beneath the feeder.

He looked exactly as the books said he would—a slight sparraw dipped in raspberry jam—a purple finch.

We were most excited because, although having heard about purple finches and listened to others tell of them, this was our first experience.

The purple one hopped into our window picture, ate a few bites and hopped away. Now, thinking back on his visit, it is still surprising how aptly the description of dunking in raspberry jam fits.

After the little bird went out of sight we, of course, kept watching and hoping against hope that he would come back. Finally, convinced that this was not to be, we went to the bird books.

It turned out that not only are the purple finches pretty to see, but they are interesting to read about as well.

☆

Example:

"The songs of the males . . . are often given with so many energy and enthusiasm that the bird is carried right up into the air with his continuous bubbling warble."

"The courtship performance (the dance of the straw), begins with the males picking up a straw ends, after an elaborate display, with his falling over as if dead until a peck from the female rouses him."

Bird books affect me just as dictionaries and encyclopedias do—I look up one thing and find myself reading this, that and what have you. So it was with the purple finches.

I had just finished an article about them in a marvelous old National Geographic Bird Book and was flipping back a few pages, when I noticed that the chapter was introduced with some random comments about finches, evening grosbeaks, cardinals, etc. That did it, I had to read farther.

☆

THE AUTHOR Arthur A. Allen, was telling of a particularly interesting winter at their feeder and how excited they were to have, for the first time, a cardinal.

The filock of evening grosbeaks who were also wintering with them were not half the treat the cardinals was. Week after week they tried to get a picture of the two birds dining together but with no success.

Their eating hours just did not coincide. Once Mr. A. almost got his desired shot of the southeast, the cardinal, meeting the northwest, the grosbeaks, but just as a member of the latter group lit on the already occupied feeder, the cardinal drove him off.

☆

HERE IN Tecumseh, where we usually have cardinals and so think the scarcer evening grosbeaks are more exciting, the birds are more co-operative.

A year ago, when the evening grosbeaks spent a brief time with us, we too worked for a combination gros b e a k-cardinal picture.

Obligingly a female cardinal and a female grosbeak shared the feeder one afternoon and although it was a short meeting, one good picture resulted from it.

Imagine—I am one up on Mr. Allen and The National Geographic Society!

Wins Two Awards

Two awards have been given the Lenawee County Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Herbert Murphy told 150 members attending last week's gathering in the Baptist Church.

The certificates came from the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs.

One was for the Lenawee group's interest in and contributions to CARE, the overseas agency aiding people in need.

The Lenawee chapter was also cited for assistance to the scholarship project to Michigan Indians.

Among those on hand last week was Mrs. S. L. Wyman of Ann Arbor, a past president, who has not attended in many years.

☆

THE REV. PAUL BRANTINGHAM, pastor of the Friends Church, gave the invocation.

Mrs. Wilfred Waldron, president of the Monday Club, welcomed the guests and Mrs. Paul Ahleman of Adrian responded.

Mrs. Murphy announced that the county federation had received two awards from the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs.

One certificate is for Lenawee's contribution to CARE and the other for its interest and money contributed in the state's Indian scholarship project.

Mrs. Evert Netcher of Onsted was unanimously elected president to succeed Mrs. Murphy.

She announced the appointment of Mrs. Leo Marr of Onsted as corresponding secretary and Mrs. Russell Collins of Macon as parlimentarian.

☆

Two high school pupils who won the Interlochen Scholarships contest conducted by the federation presented their winning numbers. Larry Benner, accompanied by Shirley Perkins, played a trumpet solo. Florence Uguccioni presented a piano solo.

The Tecumseh Monday Club and the Tecumseh Business and Professional Women's Club were the hostess clubs and arranged a spring, luncheon served in the church Youth House.

Prof. Guy H. Hill, professor of education at Michigan State University the last 23 years, was the speaker.

On his theme "Learn How To Live As Long As You Live" he said he was inclined to think our moral standards have been destroyed in our pursuit of happiness.

He cited the constantly changing code of ethics and emphasized the importance of tecahers and parents creating an atmosphere and environment in which the young men and women can become themselves.

Pages for the day were Mrs. Duane Service, Mrs. Clifford Knudson and Mrs. John Quigley.

The ushers were Mrs. James Artman, Mrs. Kenneth Hunter and Mrs. Lee Purkey.

Drench Sheep Before They Go to Pasture

Right now is the best time to drench sheep—just before turning them out to pasture.

Graydon Blank, extension sheep specialist, and David Clark, veterinary parasitologist, both of Michigan State University, remind Michigan sheep growers that they can get a new finely-ground type of phenothiazine for use this year.

Fineness of the phenothiazine in this new drench makes it more effective against several species of parasites than the more coarsely ground materials.

Drenching adult sheep before they go on pasture cuts down on the number of worm eggs that will be deposited on the ground during the spring and summer.

This means that lambs will pick up fewer eggs as they feed, cutting chances of their becoming infected later on, Blank and Clark point out.

If ewes have not finished lambing before turning them out to pasture, delay the drench until all the lamb crop has arrived.

Another good practice in internal parasite control for the sheep flock is including phenothiazine to each 4 pounds of it is kept before the flock all the time. Mix the two ingredients at the rate of one pound of phenothiazine to eah c14 pounds of trace mineralized salt.

why Mercury is the better low-price car!
MORE VALUE. Just look at these Mercury advantages, over other low-price cars:
You ride smoother because Mercury has up to 8 inches more wheelbase . . . and is up to 494 pounds heavier.
You're more comfortable because of Mercury's extra shoulder room, leg room, and foot room. You feel safer because Mercury's brakes are bigger (up to 26%), and visibility is better (up to 21% more).
Mercury has at least two dozen extra values. Why not enjoy them all, and save a little money, too!
PRICES START $63 TO $66* BELOW EVEN THE LOWEST-PRICED V-8 POWERED PLYMOUTH FURY OR CHEVROLET IMPALA.
And we're not talking about a 'stripped' Mercury. This price comparison is based on a de luxe-appointed Monterey with luxurious nylon interior and deep, soft wall-to-wall carpeting.
This amazing price story is the result of Mercury's dramatic 1960 price reductions (as much as $174 lower than last year, including extras that are now standard equipment).
Every Mercury is lower priced than last year. All Montereys are now low-price cars. They are priced below, or within a few dollars of, the other de luxe V-8 series in the low-price field. Come in. See for yourself.

TEEN NEWS

Students at the University of Michigan have numerous fads and fashions.

Here are some.

Madras—a plaid material imported from India at great cost. It is used for shirts, Bermuda shorts, dresses, hats, shoes, belts and cummerbunds, and now even, raincoats.

Batik — (rhymes with "ick" or "eek", depending on which part of Southeast Asia you're from) a print material used for the same things as madras is.

"Mono"—an abbreviation for the longer more difficult medical term infectious mononucleosis. All college students have it sometime during their collegiate life.

It is the most collegiate of all diseases and when anyone feels the least bit ill, he says he thinks he has "mono"

"Garg"—the now-defunct U of M humor magazine, which before its demise had collapsed into dirty jokes about the administration and other aspects of student life.

The Daily — the student-run daily newspaper. It reports all important world, national, local and campus news with sharp editorial comment on all. One of the best daily papers in the state, Michigan's elite group of students runs it.

Paper—a word used to describe any piece of written work for a class from 100 words to thesis length.

Bluebook — the name for any examination. This term comes from the form in which the test is taken. All students supply themselves with notebook paper bound in a beautiful shade of baby blue for all examinations. They are graded by the professor and returned to wincing students.

"Fishbowl" — the glassed in area between the Mason-Haven Hall complex and Angell Hall. Here the sweethearts and people watchers gather between classes to study and sometimes listen to the music from the nearby auditoriums.

"P-Bell" — the proverbial pub where they hold birthday parties when students turn 21.

"Promethean" — a coffeehouse run from two in the afternoon until late at night for those too "beat" to attend classes.

They serve coffee and often have folksingers in attendance.

Class outside — This is a spring thing for nature-loving professors who have classrooms on the humid upper-stories of Angell Hall. Nothing much is accomplished because everyone is too busy watching ants pull twigs along the ground and the passersby pass by on the street.

Free will and determinism — popular phrase used by those trying to impress the English professor. They say, "Well, what position on free will is the author trying to maintain in this work?"

This impresses the man no end. This phrase has unlimited possibilities for a clever word twister.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

LENAWEE COUNTY'S LARGEST WEEKLY

VOICE of THE HERALD

Questions and Answers

Over in Montello, Wis., the local weekly editor came up with a crazy question-and-answer column after constantly being bombarded with pointed queries himself.

Here's what Bob Wright of The Montello Tribune spoofed his readers with:

Q: Why don't you have funny papers?

A: We think we have the funniest paper in Wisconsin right now.

Q: Why don't you have an "Advice to the Lovelern" column, like Abby Lane?

A: None of our readers have any such problems.

Q: Why do you have all those misprints?

Q: Why do you always say "we" when referring to yourself in the paper?

A: We want our readers to think they're outnumbered.

Q: Why didn't you publish that poem I sent you?

A: It was a lousy poem.

A: We plan on it as soon as the population of Montello equals that of Milwaukee.

Q: Why don't you print weekly sermons?

A: Why doesn't the preacher run the newspaper.

Q: What would you give me for writing a weekly column of moral homespun philosophy?

A: A poke in the eye with a sharp stick.

Q: Why don't you write an editorial and tell those guys on the city council what they can do to improve the town?

A: Why don't you go down to the next meeting and tell 'em yourself?

Q: Why don't you print more letters to the editor?

A: Why don't you write me one? And sign it with your name—please—don't be chicken.

Time To Dig In

Tecumseh is a clean, neat, well-cared for city. Oh, we know there are a few eyesores, but in the main, folks here do an outstanding job in maintaining their property.

As early as February some were poking around outside, lining up their annual spring chores and yard work. The rakers and mowers and trimmers have really been busy the past few weeks.

There's still lots to be done and that's why Clean-up Week for Tecumseh comes at such an opportune time. It opens Monday.

Everyone is encouraged to dig in, dig out unused items from attics, basements and garages, thus helping to lessen fire hazards.

Citizens are asked to place all junk and refuse in front of their homes, next to the curb, during Clean-up Week. City trucks will be in action eight hours each day, Monday through Saturday, making pickups.

Incidentally, the city got a slight jump on the annual "week" by starting to set out 50 maples trees. Fifteen were planted along Kilbuck St. Saturday and the balance go out this week and next. They'll be planted on Pottawatamie, Chicago, Pine and Willow.

Show Our Appreciation

Most of us know that Sunday, May 8, is Mother's Day. But Sunday is also important here and nationally as the beginning of National Hospital Week.

As we salute our mothers on Mother's Day, let us give a special salute to Herrick Memorial Hospital and other similar institutions.

Locally, hospital officials, the Auxiliary and the Future Nurses' Club have planned events commemorating National Hospital Week.

Next week, May 13-14, hospital equipment demonstrations and free movies will be conducted at the old Gambles store in downtown Tecumseh. The Auxiliary also will stage a rummage sale there, May 12-13-14, to raise money for another food cart.

Your patronage and special interest in these functions are deserving. It is a small way in which we can show our appreciation for the work and medical facilites offered to Tecumseh and area citizens.

THS Chorus Scores Hit with Show

Susan Day and Dennis Bryan presented the duet, "With a Little Bit of Luck," highlighting the program of choral music April 21 by the high school chorus at the Junior High School building.

Another duet, "Last Night the Nightingale Woke Me", sung by Sharon Lawhead and Leslie Bennett, was well received by the audience which nearly filled the auditorium.

The Madrigal Singers presented a group of five numbers in appropriate setting, following an explanation of this type of music by the director, Mr. Bennett.

This group presented fine close harmony unaccompanied. They were seated around a table beautifully appointed with a floral arrangement and hurricane lamps holding lighted tapers.

Interspersing the concert a minstrel scene was produced with Ralph Helzerman as interlocutor; Robert Bonner, Jr. as Tambo and Charles Baird as the inevitable Mister Bones.

This most amusing bit was followed by two accordian solos by Jan Kachur, entitled "Beautiful Dreamer" and "Camptown Races."

The chorus sang many interesting selections including sacred numbers, folk songs and a spiritual, "Set Down Servant," with Carol Owens and Dan Harvey singing solo parts.

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

My two kids were in a school program last week and you would have thought it was opening night at the Met.

What a ratrace.

There had been the usual rehearsals and by a happy quirk of fate, both youngsters remembered the songs they were to sing.

On the big day, mother spent most of it in school, helping with an assortment of last-minute items.

Our girl, a third grader, had a costume change. One included a white blouse.

Good wife had put five into the automatic washer that afternoon, but apparently the machine had staged its own temperamental outburst, just like actors on opening night, and did not rinse out all the soap.

Mom got a swell case of St. Vitus dance, jogging from the washer in the basement to the upstairs ironing board, each time, after a few swipes with the iron, moaning, "Oh, no\ not again!"

By the time blouse No. 5 had succumbed, she was in an advanced stage of hysteria. The old man wasn't doing so bad himself, since this was capping a fun-packed 10-hour press day.

A hurry-up call to a neighbor produced a blouse and his emergency was over. Although its owner was a seventh grader and the garment a mite roomy, it was cherished beyond compare.

"I'd be right on schedule," mom grinned at this point, "if I just didn't have to fix supper."

That went over like a lead balloon and dad made his exit in favor of a hot bath.

Cooking is fun, but that wasn't my day to play Chef Boy-ar-dee.

Now the scene shifts to the "theatre".

The show was about to start and I was completely unlimbered in my fifth-row seat, when a jab in the tummy with a Brownie flash camera brought me to rigid attention.

"Here," said a voice in the darkened auditorium, "Sister Anne wants you to take pictures of the program."

With this, I was back at work, snapping shots of the little performers.

But, I'll have to admit, the evening was fun, however, I'd just as soon have a few months rest before the next one.

Kroger has been running a promotion where store managers call at the homes of folks in the community in which they serve.

Tecumseh's head man, John Cavas, and his co-manager Lyman Hall, rang doorbells of 200 places here.

John tells us it was a most rewarding experience and the public relations affects should be most valuable to Kroger.

One thing which tickled John was a sign, which he saw at several places.

It read:

"We shoot every third salesman and the second one just left."

Tecumseh Sailor Decorated

TECUMSEH'S RUSSELL McKENZIE IS DECORATED

PORT LYAUTEY, Morocco — Russell P. McKenzie, utilities man second class, USN, son of James McKenzie and Mrs. Naomi Martin of Tecumseh, won the Navy-Marine Corps Medal for heroic conduct as a member of the initial rescue unit of the U. S. Naval Air Station, Port Lyautey, Morocco, during the Agadir disaster.

The award was presented by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Richard Jackson.

His citation read in part: "For voluntary acts of heroism while serving as a member of the initial rescue unit from the Air Station, Port Lyautey, on 1 and 2 March 1960, in the Agadir, Morocco, earthquake disaster.

"During the hours of darkness with additional earth tremors reported imminent, he tunnelled into the torn and twisted masonry completely out of sight of his fellow workers.

"These buildings in the city of Agadir, once three to five stories high were now reduced to piles of rubble about 18 feet in height.

"With the aid of a flashlight in a space barely large enough for one man, he chiselled the reinforced concrete with a wrecking bar and removed the debris barehanded in order to follow the sound of the human voice entombed within.

"After two and one half hours of labor, despite the danger of cave-in, and with due disregard for his own personal safety, he effected the safe removal of a human being who had been entombed for approximately 24 hours.

"His conduct, personal bravery and devotion to duty were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Wins National Prize

NEW YORK—Mary Seager, 17, Tecumseh High School senior, has won a first prize in America's biggest creative-writing competition for high school students.

Entries were received from approximately 150,000 young writers in 49 states, Canada, Mexico and the Philippines.

They were judged for writing skill, originality and quality of expressions by 30 prominent U. S. authors, educators and literary critics, including Stanley Kunitz, Tad Mosel, Eudora Welty, J. Frank Dobie, Phyllis McGinley and Leo Rosten.

The Writing Awards competition was established in 1924 to encourage creative writing by high school students.

Cash prizes totaling $3,675 are awarded in short story, poetry, essay, drama and other writing categories.

Some of the prize-winning entries will be published in Literary Cavalcade and four national classroom weeklies published by Scholastic Magazines.

Michigan — Opportunity

The people of Michigan will blow their own horn louder than ever during the 1960 Michigan Week, which opens Sunday.

This seventh annual state celebration will reach a new peak in activities and attract more national attention to Michigan and its unlimited advantages than any previous event.

With an estimated 8,000 people serving on committees and in organizations from the smallest crossroads community to the state level, the seven-day observance is certain to reach the state's millions of citizens in all corners of the two peninsulas.

The first Michigan Week was held in 1954.

It originated with the Michigan Economic Development commission and has been advanced through the years under sponsorship of Greater Michigan, Inc., a non-profit organization of business and civic leaders.

Michigan Week is unique in that no other state has such a program. It has grown in stature through the years and people today are planning ahead for bigger and better celebrations in future years.

☆

OBJECTIVES of Michigan Week are:

1. To advance the economic and social progress of Michigan through every practical means.

2. To promote among Michigan residents and the people of the United States a better understanding of the advantages Michigan offers as a place for living, working, recreation and business.

3. To get all Michigan residents working together to make the state an even better place in which to live, work and enjoy life.

This year the special emphasis theme of the week is "The People of Michigan". Last year it was "The Products of Michigan", which will even get more attention this year.

In previous years such special attention has been focused on water resources and education.

"Michigan — Your Opportunity", is the slogan of the 1960 observance. It was suggested by a 15-year-old Lansing newspaper carrier, and was adopted by the Michigan Week executive board.

Each day of the week is set aside for recognition of an important phase of the state's economic and cultural life.

Sunday is Spiritual Foundations day.

Other special days are:

Monday—Government Day.

Tuesday—Hospitality Day.

Wednesday — Our Livelihood Day.

Thursday—Education Day.

Friday—Our Heritage Day.

Saturday—New Frontiers Day.

Banquet for Mayors Is May 19

A mayors exchange banquet, as part of Michigan Week, will be held in Tecumseh Country Club Thursday, May 19 at 6:30 p.m.

Honored will be Mayor and Mrs. Jack Hewett of Hastings and Mayor and Mrs. Harold Easton of Tecumseh.

This year, mayors will not visit in the other communities on the same day as they have in the past.

The Eastons go to Hastings Monday and the Hewetts will be here the day of the banquet.

The Hasting guest list will also include Mr. and Mrs. Russ Hankins, Jack Langthorn, Warren Williams and Bill Pierce.

Accompanying the Eastons to Hastings will be Don Murphy and Dick Eggleston.

For the banquet here, all four city service clubs will consider it a regular meeting. Members of Kiwanis, Rotary, Exchange and the Jaycees will be joined by city and church officials at the affair.

Speaker is Dr. Daniel McHargue, professor of political science at the University of Michigan.

Tecumseh Population Is 7,008

That's quite a jump in 10 years from the 4,020 of 1950. This puts Tecumseh way out front as the "growingest" community in Lenawee County.

The increase in the past decade parallels the success of Tecumseh Products Co., which has climbed to nearly 4,000 employees at peak production periods in recent years.

Products officials have long encouraged their workers to make Tecumseh their homes, offering them free building lots here.

Well over 1,500 families in this city are now connected with the Products.

County population has climbed 12,649 since 1950.

In the complete breakdown, which follows, the reader should note that in '50, Tecumseh's population was also included in the township figure. This is not the case in the 1960 total.

Bus Order for Schools Is $42,000

By JIM LINCOLN

Probably the largest school bus order in the history of the Tecumseh schools was approved Monday night by the school board.

Seven busses, expected to cost approximately $42,000, were approved. Six of the new busses are scheduled to replace six now in use.

Those in operation now have total mileage averaging over 94,000.

Separate bids will be taken with local dealers bidding on the chassis. The state will subsudize the purchase over a period of years.

☆

THE BOARD recommended adopting an improved education program for local handicapped children.

The program, which also includes special help to the mentally retarded, will necessitate employment of at least one new teacher.

It also means opening of two classrooms at the Sutton school and the frame school building at Macon.

☆

SUPT. JAMES McDOWELL reported that the schools could continue meeting expenses despite the state's withholding of 20% payment in state aid.

The state money amounts to $91,962.

Improvement of the Ridgeway school driveway was authorized, and the superintendent was requested to secure prices and estimates on a new washer and dryer for the school's laundry.

Information from FACT

(Editor's note — The Foundation Advisory Committee of Tecumseh — FACT — A citizen's Committee appointed by the Tecumseh Community Foundation Board, is gathering information concerning various possible civic projects. This article is part of a series and presents basic information. It is not intended to be a recommendation for or against any particular project. Please address correspondence to FACT, Box 421, Tecumseh.)

This week, a series of questions and answers pertaining to a civic center and auditorium is presented.

Q. Does Tecumseh need these facilities?

A. Two buildings in Tecumseh, the Strand Theatre and the Products Union hall, will seat 600. However, both of these, as well as city churches and schools are inadequate for large affairs and the high school gymnasium has poor acoustics.

Our community now has a population of 7,000 and a civic center and auditorium would be valuable.

The school board left off an auditorium in its high school planning, due to cost.

Q. Can we afford to maintain a civic center and auditorium without increasing taxes?

This thought must be kept in mind at all times. An auditorium with a seating capacity of 4,000 would cost between $500,000 and $750,000, depending on other rooms necessary to combine with this facility.

If built close to a school, perhaps janitor and heating service could be provided.

Taxes cannot be increased without harmful results, although one-quarter of a mill would probably take care of maintenance. The community chest fund could be stretched to maintain this institution.

Q. Will usage of a civic center and auditorium warrant the capital expenditure?

Estimated use by schools: 12 times for evening functions and 12 times for daytime programs.

Service clubs and churches would probably use the auditorium about 24 times a year, making total usage about 48 times per year, or approximately once a week.

A band practice room, greatly needed by the schools, could be economically included. This has worked out well in the Sturgis Center.

Q. How have other communities acquired their auditoriums and civic centers?

A. Mainly from gifts left by large estates and foundations. Cities receiving such buildings include Sturgis (visited by FACT members), Port Huron, Clinton and Fenton.

Q. Where would such facilities be located in Tecumseh?

A. Economical operation and multiple usage of the facilities would probably indicate a location close to schools.

Q. Is it necessary to have cooperation of all civic bodies?

A. Schools and city officials, service clubs, etc. would have to cooperate to the fullest to make this program work. Good management is a must.

Q. Would cultural, musical and other recreational activities be increased by the addition of an auditorium?

A. With cooperation of all groups, citizens certainly can improve their cultural and recreational background. The manager of the Sturgis civic center has programs scheduled every day—art exhibits, craft programs, folk dancing, amatuer shows, "Golden Years Club", etc.

His total budget for 1959, including administration, maintenance and operating expenses was $24,755.

Income came from:

Rents	$8,000
Food	4,500
Miscellaneous	300
Taxes (.075 mill)	13,000
TOTAL	25,880

This left a net operating balance of $1,045.

Such programs, as made available in Sturgis, can be carried on with a minimum of cost and a maximum of service to Tecumseh.

Q. Could this auditorium be managed by a full-time recreation director?

A. Yes. In Sturgis this is done by a good director and with no duplication of expense.

BRITTON—Sunday morning's the Methodist Church speaker will be John McKay, a senior at Adrian College studying for the ministry. He has had a year's preaching and speaking training through a small country charge near Kalamazoo. Worship Services is at 10 with Sunday School directly following.

Four Children Are Baptized

At the Sunday morning service at the Gloria Del Lutheran Church the following children were baptized: Martha Grace, Cassandra Carol and Stephanie Jennifer, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kureth and Georgia Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Baughey.

At this service, four adults were accepted as members into the church. They are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kureth and Mr. and Mrs. George Baughey.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Tune-in on the Pastime?

The electronic age continues to amaze me. Just read in a farm journal that cows can now be wired for sound . . . so that you can tell if they've been overeating!

Seems that before you turn a cow out to pasture, you can feed her a small transmitter powered by a flashlight battery.

Then all you do is sit comfortably at home and wait for a signal to show up on a recorder. Soon as you get a "bleep," you go out and fetch "Bossie"—that signal means she's had enough.

From where I sit, I'd need a lot of "proving" before I would buy an idea like this one. But I'll listen! A closed mind on any subject—even to whether a cup of tea or a glass of beer is the best "refresher"—is not a tolerant mind. The American way is to never "short-circuit" what the other fellow has to say.

Joe Marsh

CHER PAPA By Frederick Kohner—Here again is Gidget, with her unique blend of naivete and experience, her irrepressible joy of life, and her incredible teen-age jargon embellished with scraps of French.

IF IT MOVES, SALUTE IT By Bob Duncan—The tale of an army with no war to fight and nothing, really, to do. This hilarious novel is for all public-spirited citizens who want to know what, exactly, our boys were doing over there.

ADA DALLAS By Wirt Williams—The central character of this novel of politics in Louisiana is a beautiful, ambitious, sharply intelligent woman who would stop at nothing—even murder—to achieve her ends.

ONE HOUR By Lillian Smith—A gifted research scientist in a Southern city is accused of an attempted attack on a girl of eight. For Mark Channing himself, for his wife, and for the strong and dedicated young clergyman who loves them both, the effects are immediate and terrifying.

A BREATH OF FRENCH AIR By H. E. Bates—When a rainy July makes life on their beautiful junkyard and farm less "perfick" than it should be, the ten Larkins pile into their second hand, monogrammed Rolls Royce and set out for the sun and gaity of the French coast. But when they find instead a dismal hotel, a raging storm, and a chill welcome, it is clear that something has got to give—and it won't be the English tourists.

Plan Building Program for Farm by 'Checker Game

Phillip Mielock, agricultural engineer at Michigan State University, suggests the method. Here's how it works:

1. Draw a sketch of the farmstead area to scale. Put in all existing structures. Also note livestock feeding areas and other features that might affect building location.

2. Fix up a scaled cut-out of the proposed structure. Then move it around the sketch until you're sure you have the right location.

"The point", says Hielock, "is to be sure you've picked the right spot before construction begins. Moving buildings after they're completed is usually very expensive."

Keep materials handling in mind, the engineer urges. Don't put feed storage buildings far from where the feed will be used. And keep the overall system simple.

Surface drainage is also important. Mielock has frequently found buildings right in the path of drainage from feedlots and other parts of the farmstead.

Day Camp Opens June 27

Day camping for Tecumseh area boys and girls, seven years of age and older, will again be available this year through the Adrian YMCA.

Arnet J. Cole, youth work secretary, said campers will travel by 'Y' bus to the camp site each day, and return home each evening.

The camp site, located in Jackson County near Liberty, comprises 80 acres of hilly, wooded land.

The YMCA progressive aquatic program is followed in swimming, with emphasis in learning to swim or improving swimming skills.

Boating and canoeing are also closely supervised, with instruction being given before campers go out on the lake.

Other features of the program include camperaft, archery, riflery, nature lore and handicrafts. Highlights of each period are the cookouts and overnight campouts in tents.

D. Duncan Paterson, an Adrian High School biology teacher, will again be camp director.

Mr. Paterson will be assisted by a senior staff of college and adult instructors. In addition, a carefully selected number of high school students assist the senior staff members.

Registration for the camp are now open.

Camp dates are:

First period—June 27—July 8.

Second period—July 11—July 22.

Third period—July 25—August 5.

Fourth period—August 8—August 19.

Special transportation arrangements for Tecumseh boys and girls will be made during the first and fourth period, although boys and girls may attend any period.

Rates for the camp remain the same as last year, $15.75 per period.

Red Rose for Mothers of Present

Forty-seven members and guests were seated at long tables May 3 when the Daughters of St. Peter's Church entertained their daughters and grandaughters.

May baskets and candles were used to ornament the tables and a pastel colored hand crochet'd hankie marked each place setting.

Mrs. Cecile Smith gave the invocation and Mrs. Glen Driscoll led in the group singing of hymns while the tables were cleared.

Mrs. Lynn Hubbard, program chairman, presented the program.

Mrs. Louis S. Schneider welcomed the guests.

Mrs. Cecile Smith gave the tribute to mothers, reading original verse as she placed a white rose in a vase for mothers of the past, a red rose for mothers of today and a pink rose for mothers of tomorrow.

She then presented the vase of roses to Mrs. Clyde Barber.

Girls of the Junior Choir sang three selections including "M-O-T-H-E-R."

Mrs. John Damon gave two readings from the book, "Women of the Bible."

The committee in charge of dinner arrangements were Mrs. Driscoll, Mrs. Orville Laidlaw and Mrs. Sydney Wilson.

During the short business session plans were completed for participation in the kitchen tour May 19.

What To Do About Blood Stains

By ROYAL WELCH

In the process of living, nearly all of us—man, woman or child—at one time or another have "little" accidents. A scratch, a hasty or careless slip of the knife. Gardening, working around the house, or on the car, in the kitchen . . . whatever the circumstances or the place, accidents happen, and when they do, a blood stain on the garment worn at the moment is the result.

Blood is albuminous and saline. To be removed, it has to be "digested". Blood is a living substance and very complex. It contains oxygen, salt, iron, manganese and an entire host of minerals and salts. At the same time, blood from a vein also contains carbon dioxide. CO2 is a fixative, and when venous blood stains a garment, the carbon dioxide immediately begins fixing the stain. So you see how it is. And here's what to do:

If the garment's washable, sponge or rinse out in CLEAR COOL WATER. Nothing else.

If the garment is a cleanable one, LEAVE IT COMPLETELY ALONE.

Let us employ "spot-digesting" techniques to make sure it's completely and safely removed.

Above all, try to bring a blood stained garment in as soon as possible after staining. The reason for this is that the sooner the garment is spotted and cleaned after the staining has occurred, the better the odds for getting the stain out completely.

Remember, for good cleaning and better spot removal, always BRING IT TO Welch Cleaners.

25 Years Experience

It's wonderful to feel cared for

What's a doctor? He's many things. To Jimmy he's a cold stethoscope, a polio shot and a lollipop. To his wife he's three hours' sleep and a telephone that always rings the moment he goes to bed. To you he's a comfort . . . a man you can count on whenever he's needed. Your Blue Cross-Blue Shield protection is like that, too. It's there when you need it, to pay most of the bills and to ease the worry. Doctors, hospitals and Blue Cross-Blue Shield just naturally go together. Maybe that's why so many people choose Blue Cross-Blue Shield. But whatever your reason . . . be glad you belong.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

LENAWEE COUNTY'S LARGEST WEEKLY

VOICE of THE HERALD

You May Be One of Them

One of the most important governing bodies, in our opinion, is the school board.

Its responsibilities are vital to the future of a community and its decisions touch the lives of nearly every family within its jurisdiction.

A new state stature has increased most Michigan school boards from five to seven members.

This means that come July, two brand-new members will be elected in Tecumseh. In addition, terms of two present boardmen will expire, so voters will ballot to name four persons here.

July seems a long way off, but there's much to be done between now and then. Prime job is to see that qualified persons file petitions to have their names placed on the ballot.

You may be one of them, or you may know of someone who would make a good school boardman. If so, the place to get a petition is Jim McDowell's office, which is just north of the high school.

Cultural Understanding

An interesting letter was received Monday by Neville Hart. It came from the principal of Ypsilanti Lincoln High School.

It expressed pleasure of the student body and faculty for the presentation of a program by the Tecumseh High School Chorus. Lincoln had appeared here several week ago and Tecumseh returned the visit last week.

The letter read in part , "The fine appearance of your chorus here reflected credit upon you and their faculty. Their conduct on stage and in the cafeteria (they lunched there) was indeed a good example for our own student body. Thank you for allowing them to come."

These are the sort of things we hear too little about.

Our congratulations go to both schools for their exemplary personal conduct and for their talented performances.

Les Bennett, who directs the Tecumseh Chorus, told The Herald:

"These exchange programs are enthusiastically received by the students. Chorus members find them educational and a lot of fun. They also enjoy singing their well-rehearsed songs for a new audience.

"The schools involved establish a cultural understanding, as well as the competitive spirit developed by sports. New exchange assembly agreements with other schools may be explored in the future."

Like the well-conducted athletic competition, the interchange on artistic and other scholastic levels is something which can greatly broaden the scope of modern education — and at nominal expenditure.

'Spy' Plane Creates Quandary

This international "spying" crisis leaves us in a quandary.

How serious is it? What will the affect be on us, the folks in the small midwestern city of Tecumseh?

Maybe the whole thing will ease over, as have other sticky situations in the past. Could be just another chapter in the cold war.

But we must admit, this still can have its serious repercussions and we might as well realize this.

Somewhere in the recent past, Uncle Sam started to lose a lot of respect from the rest of the world. Much was a direct result of cunning communistic capers.

However, for a lot we can take credit ourselves, the results of poor judgment and just plain stupidity on the part of government officials.

We often have the feeling that our government gets into too many foreign situation because "we're so fast with a buck" as well with advice to folks on how they should run their country.

Then, when it really counts, we often don't say enough or stand firm — like the mess in Korea. That's a major example.

The "Ugly American", although fiction, spotlight some of the minor-type problems we make for ourselves.

Now we send a plane over Russia to photograph installations.

Did someone goof?

The nation needs information and this is probably one of the ways we get it, so we can't say this is wrong. Quite obviously, the Russians and other nations are giving us the fine-tooth comb treatment as far as our military might is concerned.

Now we know that the Reds have a good defense against "visiting" planes, even when they fly a dozen miles high. That, in itself is valuable information.

We regret that Mr. K. is such a ham and is going to play this thing to the hilt, much to the embarassment of our president.

Lets hope that the consequence is nothing greater than having to sit through this performance by the Soviet dictator. TAR

WHAT'S COOKING?

Homemade Ice Cream

The Rev. and Mrs. Alvin Brazee, a much-beloved twosome in Tecumseh, are featured making ice cream in the cooking column this week.

Since this couple works hand in hand with nearly everything they do, it really isn't surprising that Mrs. Brazee's husband sneaked into the column.

Ice cream made by Mrs. Brazee and frozen in the two old-fashioned hand crank and one, new electric freezers, manned by the pastor, is a favorite dessert, not only of their family but of members of the Wit and Wisdom Club which annually holds its June picnic at the Iron Creek church, which the Rev. Brazee has served as pastor for 32 years.

Mr. Brazee went there as a supply minister in 1928 and has remained as pastor ever since.

The Brazees are parents of four children; Mrs. Emmett Nogle of Manchester, who has one son, David, six years; Edward who was killed in India in June 1944; Neal who has two children, Edward and Jill, and Donald who has three children, Linda, Arthur and Jean.

The two sons with their wives and families are Tecumseh residents, but are members and attend services at the Iron Creek Church.

When asked about hobbies, Mrs. Brazee told of the work as foster parents to infants from the Michigan Childrens Institute at Ann Arbor which they did shortly after Edward was lost to them.

☆

BOTH SHE AND her husband love to work with children and in caring for the little ones ranging in age from three weeks to four months they found solace for their grief.

Mrs. Brazee said this experience stood out among the many activities they have had a part in and they only wish they had started this work sooner.

During about eight years they prepared 12 children for adoption and cared for one little boy from a broken home.

The Brazees spend their winters in Florida now and come back to the city refreshed each spring to "get back in harness" Mrs. B. says.

The ice cream recipe printed below is one that belonged to the pastor's mother and he said "We didn't have much in our family, but all summer there would be ice cream. Mother could make a gallon for 35c."

☆

4 eggs beaten until light
1 cup sugar
4 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt

Mix and blend together until free of lumps. Have ready one quart of scalded milk, add egg mixture slowly into milk, cook until thickened. When cool put through fine sieve; add one teaspoon lemon extract, two tablespoons vanilla, 2½ or 3 cups sugar; ½ pint whipping cream; one pint Half and Half and enough milk to make a gallon. Freeze.

THE REV. AND MRS. ALVIN BRAZEE

They Are Not in Sales Line Just Getting Data

Mrs. Don Brazee and Mrs. Victor Lawson, school census takers, are again encountering those who believe them to be in the sales line.

They aren't selling a thing. Their business is to determine the number of school age children that are living in the city.

It would help if residents would just invite them in for a moment so that call-backs will not be necessary.

Which Proposal Does Your Family Favor?

Every family in the city will receive a special questionnaire Saturday from the FACT committee. (See a copy of it on page three.)

FACT is the group appointed by the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation to determine what a majority of Tecumseh folks want in the way of public improvements.

The Foundation has assets for these projects of nearly $80,000. This is money over and above the city's yearly $20,000 charity budget. Almost all of this $100,000 was collected in last fall's drive.

The questionnaire will find reaction of citizens towards the eight projects already discussed in Herald articles—a community center, year-around recreation program, library, teen-age building, more parks, additional swimming facilities, artificial ice rink.

Citizens will also be asked to mention any other ideas which they feel should also be considered. Their reaction to a town-hall-type meeting will also be sought.

Tecumseh Boy Scouts will deliver the questionnaires Saturday. On Monday evening, starting at 5:30 o'clock, representatives of the Hospital Auxiliary will pick them up from each home.

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

One of this area's most loyal Republicans is Mrs. Charles Howe.

When she had to miss last week's GOP state convention in Grand Rapids, due to illness of her husband, it was the first she'd passed up in years.

Mrs. Howe manages the local Bancroft Cleaner outlet and the Republicans always meet there before taking off to such functions.

Florence just couldn't bring herself to wave goodbye to her fellow GOP's so had Mrs. George Meads, her assistant, open up that morning.

That's real devotion.

Milking area of a local dairy farm—which goes unnamed — was recently being inspected.

Twenty cows is supposed to be the limit in the setup, but there were 23.

Inspector: "Say, I counted 23 cows."

Dairyman (with straight face): "Why, didn't you notice, two of them were bulls."

Inspector, (slowly), "Oh, well then there can't be 23 cows.

Fact: there were no bulls.

What bothers me: was the inspector so green he couldn't tell a bull from a cow or was he so sharp he went along with their gag.

Who are all these "students" creating riots in San Francisco?

It seems to me they'd be better classified as a mob of trouble makers—and treated as such.

Quite obviously, they represent the lunatic fringe.

The west coast activities bring to mind a familiar pattern in Michigan following World War II. At the time I was on the student daily newspaper at Michigan State.

The State News did a detailed job of reporting the activities of ruhbarbs taking place on campus, all inspired by would-be communistic youth.

When the whole mess was washed out into the open, it turned out that four young men from New York had enrolled at MSU. They came not to partake of the scholastic opportunities offered, but simply to organize student groups by infiltration.

President John Hannah had the situation tabbed from the outset and he predicted privated exactly what would happen.

Thanks to a quick crackdown by him, aided by The State News and the student government, the plot was quickly squashed.

Not so at Wayne State University, where the imports must have been a little more save and experienced. Many of you will probably remember all the antics there and difficulty the school had in ridding itself of the trouble makers.

Now the west coast has its problems, indicating that the communists never give up.

The same tired old cliches are used . . . civil liberties . . . attack without provocation . . . witch hunt . . . etc, etc.

And people seem to swallow a lot of them.

I wonder how long such a demonstration, as went on last week, would last in Moscow?

Democrats Party Night

Lenawee County Democrats will join party members across the nation in celebrating Democratic Party Night, May 25.

"In past years virtually all the states have participated in Party Night", said Mrs. Madalyn Armstrong, acting chairman of the county committee, "but we expect an even greater celebration this year because of the enthusiasm and excitement produced by the 1960 presidential election."

Expecting over 500 people, a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. is planned with fried chicken being served along with refreshments, entertainments, games and prizes.

Families attending will bring a dish to pass and their table service. The party will be held on the Fred Groth farm on Crockett Hwy., two miles south of Palmyra. Crockett is an extension of Rogers Hwy., south of US223.

Tickets at $1 per adult (children under 14 are free) can be obtained from Robert MacLean, 401 W. Brown St. in Tecumseh.

Council Says 'No'

By JIM LINCOLN

Two "yesses" and two "no's" resulted from four public hearings at the council meeting Tuesday night.

Opposition to proposed multiple dwelling construction west of N. Evans St. was one of the proposals turned down.

Other "no" was given a request for spot zoning in Tecumseh Small Farms, a subdivision started in the 40's and running down S. Union and along Russell Rd.

The "yesses" went to:

POPPIES ARE A SERIOUS BUSINESS — Laura Sue, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Downard, is prepared to assist her mommy and dad, chairmen of VFW Poppy sale, this Friday and Saturday. Mayor Harold Easton has signed a proclamation urging citizens of this community to contribute generously to this campaign, which aids veterans and their families, who are disabled and needy.

1. Installation of sewer on Adrian St. and Shady Lane.
2. Curb and gutter on the first block of Herrick Park Dr.

Council approved the work measures and ordered city manager Ed Nelson to proceed.

Paul Clauda's plan to build multiple dwellings just west of N. Evans St. and south of Brown St. was denied when several residents of the area protested.

James Frecklelton, Robert D. Moore, Neville Hart and Dale Carpenter volced opposition, while Delbert King spoke favorably of the plan.

Most of the opposition consisted of degrading adjoining property and dropping property value.

Architect Jim Smith said considerable planning must be done on N. Evans and questioned allowing multiple dwelling construction be a buffer between the commercial and residential areas. He cited lack of control over construction of the dwellings.

Mr. Clauda showed sketches of the dwellings, explaining that they would be no more degrading than any house. He said that high rent for the dwellings would assure good renters.

☆

COUNCIL requested the city manager to check his finances for $5,000 for the securing options of properties in the northeast downtown business block for an off-street parking lot.

Bill Powell, realty agent and chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee which is procuring lots, said immediate money was necessary.

He said the cash could be borrowed locally if the city was unable to spare it from the budget.

☆

IN OTHER action, council:

Authorized bids for a new police car to replace the 1958 Chevrolet.

Awarded the city's scheduled curb and gutter installations to William Klotte, Pleasant Ridge, who bid $21,209.

Tabled sidewalk construction in Tecumseh Acres.

Gave amendment to the dog ordinance its second reading and accepted a petition from residents asking the city conform with the state dog statute.

Adopted a resolution for the Jaycee homecoming banner over M-50, June 15-26.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Tecumseh Public Library is a vital part of the educational services of the community. Although it has served well in its present facility the library is clearly at a turning point.

The library board, the librarian and most all citizens familiar with the problem agree that a program of library improvement, principally of its physical facilities, must be found if the library is to be an important continuing influence on the area citizens.

The major questions that must be answered are: What physical facilities are required? How should such improved facilities be financed?

The present building was constructed in 1904 and consists of about 2,000 sq. ft. of functional area. The collection consists of about 17,000 books.

The library is under the control of the board of education of the Tecumseh School District, which appoints a five-member library board.

Reporting to this board is the chief librarian, presently Mrs. Conrad Fosbender, who is in direct charge of all library operations.

The library serves the entire school district and not just the city proper. This means serving a total population of almost 15,000 persons over an 86 sq.-mile area.

this year on a budget of about $24,000 and will derive about half of these funds from book fines and half from local school district taxes, earmarked for the library and levied with the school taxes.

Only $800 was received in 1959 from state aid or sources other than mentioned above.

Recently, two professional public library consultants W. H. Kaiser and Arthur Yabroff, conducted an extensive survey of the Tecumseh public library for the purpose of determining if the present building should be retained, enlarged or replaced and what size building would be required to provide adequate library service for Tecumseh.

The consultant's report does not necessarily represent the opinions of the library board, the FACT Committee or the Tecumseh Foundation. It is summarized here only as general information from an outside source.

Highlights of the report by Mr. Kaiser and Mr. Yabroff are:

1. "Circulation of books and other materials has increased 400% since 1954."

2. "The alertness and efficiency displayed by the city librarian, coping with an extremely inadequate building, suggests that, given suitable quarters, Tecumseh would be able to provide library service for reasonably high quality."

3. "The following approximate space allocations, based on present need and estimates of future requirements, are recommended.

Public areas for adults—5,000 sq. ft.

Areas for children—2,800 sq. ft.

Multipurpose use, films, meetings, exhibits 900 sq. ft.

Administrative areas, work rooms, etc.—2,100 sq. ft.

Building maintenance areas—1,200 sq. ft.

Grand total — 12,000 sq. ft."

4. "A book collection of 30,000 adult and 15,000 juvenile books required to meet the American Library Associations recommendation of a minimum of three books per person served."

5. "The present site is satisfactory and prudence dictates its use."

6. "There appears to be no practical way to enlarge the present building. The building does not lend itself to adaptation for the provision of modern library services. We therefore recommend that the present building be razed and a modern, functional building be erected in its place."

7. "A total cost of approximately $300,000 would be anticipated for a structure of the recommended superior size and quality. This would include furnishings, architectural fees, and necessary site development.

"The consultants recognize that the cost of the proposed structure may possibly extend the economic resources of the Tecumseh School District unless other than tax funds become available.

"If private funds are not available, it may be necessary to build in two stages, and further reduce costs by omitting desirable, but not absolutely necessary, features."

This concludes the consultants report.

☆

THE LIBRARY BOARD has also recently thoroughly investigated the possibilty of remodeling the present structure.

This would include: drop ceilings, new windows, doors, new entrance, new steel shelving.

A new heating system that would replace radiators and large boilers which have wasted space.

All new wiring and fixtures, modernizing other areas in basement, new lavatories, decorating inside and out plus black top parking area in the rear.

Estimate cost would be approximately $35,000. This would undoubtably help relieve the critical need for space, also provide possibly 20 to 25% shelf space.

The question that still remains: Is this a practical thing to do if the results will still be inadequate to meet the demands of a good library service?

Other questions might well be asked such as: Are there any other adequate locations? Could the present building have any other civic use if a new library were constructed in another location?

The solution to the problem of library facilities must someday be found. It is the hope of FACT committee that the information published in this series of articles may help in the solution of problems.

You can help by filling out the questionaire which will be delivered to your home this weekend.

Colors Represent People

May baskets filled with floral arrangements were featured at the May Fellowship luncheon of the United Church Women recently held at the First Baptist Church with 21 churches represented.

Hands of various colors, to represent the races of people, were placed on the programs at each individual setting.

Floral arrangements adorned the windows and the grand piano for this event, which was held in Tecumseh for the first time.

Those attending were given miniature ballot boxes to be used as name cards as they entered the church.

Mary Murray, trailer missionary from the Detroit area, was the speaker weaving the theme of the day, "Citizenship — Free and Responsible" through her talk about her work with the trailer folk.

Miss Murray is working from her third trailer chapel and stated that it is the only church that many children, many homeless and many strangers to the vicinity have ever known.

The Rev. B. O. Bashore, host pastor, welcomed the group. Members of the Methodist Church presented devotions.

They were Mrs. James Nixon, Mrs. Robert Bonner and Mrs. Lenore West.

Mrs. Perry Hayden gave the invocation.

Dennis Bryan sang two solos, "I Walk With God" and "The Road to Mandalay" accompanied by Mrs. Fred Oberlin.

The meeting was closed with the salute to the flag and the mizpah benediction.

Children Need To Know Parents Have 'Limits'

Norman Tolman, supervisor of psychological services at the Girls' Training School in Adrian recently spoke here to a group of parents whose children are attending nursery school.

He talked about the things necessary in a home environment for the growth of happy, confident, secure children.

Children need to know they are loved, but this does not mean that there should be no limit to undesirable behavior.

Knowing that there are limits to his actions builds security within a child.

It is most important that parents agree on disciplinary methods and are consistent in what they do.

Mrs. Les Bennett spoke briefly on the "subject matter" of nursery school, illustrating with some of the art work.

The group met at the Harold A. Wilson residence and were served cake and coffee, following a question and answer period, which was led by Mr. Tolman.

Those assisting on program planning and refreshments were Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Fred Feight, Mrs. Warren Puffer, Mrs. Charles Cottle and Mrs. Earl Baldwin.

Removing Grease Stains

By ROYAL WELCH

From the standpoint of cleaning and clothes, there are three major types of grease stains. Each of them has to be handled differently for best results.

AUTO GREASE. One of the commonest of all stains. Contains hydracarbons, sulphurs, metallic salts in solution, solvents, and tars and carbons (which are insoluble). These stains are not too difficult to remove, when they're FRESH. Don't let 'em get old—set with age. If a grease stain stays in a garment too long, it can't be removed. The component chemicals of the grease will hygrogenate — become "fixed" — in the fibers of the fabric.

COOKING OILS AND FATS. Because of the complex processes which commercial shortenings now undergo, cooking oils and fats are often extremely difficult to remove. This is especially so if the oil or fat which has stained the garment was hot at the time of staining. Point out such stains to us. We'll use every technique known to the cleaning industry to get it out.

COSMETICS. They are really tough. Because of "special Formulas" — ingredients which make the specific cosmetic fragrant or otherwise effective, these stains can be either extremely difficult to remove or damaging to the fabric, or both. We'd appreciate your telling us about such stains and if they can be removed we'll do so.

For good cleaning and most competent spot-removal, always BRING IT TO Welch Cleaners.

Regional Meet Won by Indians

Tecumseh High School's track squad won the Class B regional meet Saturday in Ann Arbor and six of its members qualified for the state finals.

Next project: winning the Huron League affair in Ypsilanti on Eastern Michigan University's track Thursday afternoon and evening.

Tecumseh is unbeaten in league competition and will hold the favored role Thursday.

Saturday will be a big day for coach Don Brazee and half a dozen of his stars — Jon Aho, Roger Mead, Bob Koffron, Dale Tuckey, Frank Betzold and Tom Simmons.

Aho, Simmons, Betzoldt and Koffron will run in the medley relay. Koffron will also toss the shot and go in the 120-yard high hurdles.

Mead's events will be the pole vault, 120 highs and 180-yards low hurdles.

Tuckey will be in the pole vault.

In the regional triumph, initial one in the history of Tecumseh High, the medley foursome won Tecumseh's only first place with 2:36.8.

Koffron had a second in the shot, with a 47'4" toss, and a third in the high hurdles. Tom Walter finished next to Bob in the highs and was fifth in the broad jump. Terry Hendricks got a tie for fourth in the high jump.

Mead ran second in the low hurdles turning in a time of 22.3 Dennis Bryan added a third in the 440-yard dash.

The 880-yard relay team — Mead, Betzoldt, Koffron and Aho — came in third, posting a 1:37.4.

Willow Run amassed 27½ points to take the regional runner-up spot. Milan and Ypsilanti Lincoln were tied for third with 25 points each.

If Boys Missed Tryouts, He Still Has Opportunity

All boys, who did not take part in Cub League tryouts and wish to play baseball this summer, must be at the field Saturday at 9 a.m.

In order to take part, youths must go through the tryout system, explains Joe Dziachan.

Age limits for Cub League play are 9 through 12. This is as of July 31, 1960.

REGIONAL CHAMPS — That's the 1960 Tecumseh High track squad. Back row from left, coach Don Brazee, Tom Simmons, Dale Tuckey, Phil Hendershot, Robert Koffron, Fred Bedzoldt, Dick Golat, Bruce Antrobus and Jerome Kemp, manager. Middle row: Phil Radant, Dean Eddy, Roger Mead, Tom Walters, Jon Aho, Dick Solarski, Dan Greene and Bill Wallace. State Hospital Director Speaks at Exchange Club

Director of the division of family care and industrial placement, he did undergraduate work at Western Michigan in sociology and holds a master's degree in social work from Atlanta University.

Mr. Brown described the care given at the state hospital and outlined many aspects of therapy.

He appealed for understanding of the nature of mental illness, and for assistance in rehabilitation.

He commended industry in this area, including Tecumseh Products Co., for cooperation in returning former patients to productive use in the community.

Two publications were distributed to members of the Exchange Club. They were "Basic Facts About Mental Illness", and "A New Chapter" concerning the return of a patient to the community.

Other groups interested in securing Mr. Brown as a speaker can address him at Box A at the Ypsilanti State Hospital.
